The Dream Najīb Maḥfūz, 2004 In this new collection of his shortest short stories the Egyptian Nobel laureate has reduced fictional form to its most essential level while retaining his justifiably famous mastery of the storytelling art A man finds that all the streets in this neighborhood have turned into a circus but his joy at the sight changes to anger when he sees he cannot escape it anywhere even in his own home A group of lifelong friends meet to trade jokes in a familiar alley only to face a sudden deadly flood that echoes the revenge taken by an ancient Egyptian queen upon the men who murdered her husband A girl from the dreamer's childhood flies with him from his native lane on a cart drawn by a winged horse to become a star in the firmament above the Great Pyramid Such is the stuff of Naguib Mahfouz's The Dreams his first major work since a knife attack by a religious fanatic in 1994 left him unable to write for several years First serialized in a Cairo magazine The Dreams is a unique and haunting mixture of the deceptively quotidian the seductively lyrical and the savagely nightmarish the richly condensed sum of more than nine decades of artistic genius and everyday experience

The Search Naguib Mahfouz, 2016-06-15 A powerful story of lust greed and murder Unflinching tough and dramatic The Search was most certainly intended to be a harsh criticism of Post Revolution morality but on its most elemental level it is a lurid and compelling tale

Cairo Modern Najīb Maḥfūz, 2008 The novelist's camera pans from the dome of King Fuad University now Cairo University to students streaming out of the campus focusing on four students in their twenties each representing a different trend in Egypt in the 1930s Finally the camera comes to rest on Mahgub Abd al Da im A scamp he fancies himself a nihilist a hedonist an egotist but his personal vulnerability is soon revealed by a family crisis back home in al Qanatir a dusty provincial town on the Nile that is also a popular destination for Cairene day trippers Mahgub like many characters in works by Naguib Mahfouz has a hard time finding the correct setting on his ambition gauge His emotional life also fluctuates between the extremes of a street girl who makes her living gathering cigarette butts and his wealthy cousin Tahiya Since he thinks that virtue is merely a social construct how far will our would be nihilist go in trying to fulfill his unbridled ambitions What if he discovers that high society is more corrupt and cynical than he is With a wink back at Goethe s Faust and Henry Fielding s Joseph Andrews Mahgub becomes a willing collaborator in his own corruption Published in Arabic in the 1940s this cautionary morality tale about self defeating egoism and ill digested foreign philosophies comes from the same period as one of the writer s best known works Midaq Alley Both novels are comic and heart felt indictments not so much of Egyptian society between the world wars as of human nature and our paltry attempts to establish just societies
