Heft S. Yin, 2012-12-06 The author has spent upwards of ten years in working on this book His objective is to clarify the military aspect of the Moscow Peking dialogue which has not yet received its deserved treatment The apogee of that dialogue seems to have been passed toward the end of the rule of Khrushchev Yet the Vietnam war spawns fresh contention Our coverage will span the development from 1956 to the present The beginning of the dispute with regard to the origins of war in general is taken up in the first two chapters The next three chapters discuss the several types of war with the frame of reference set in what now appears to be a quondam era But the principle differences between the disputants are just as outstanding today as they were then The penultimate chapter is somewhat wide in scope in order to deal with the larger and more intensely bitter polemics evolving after Khrushchev left office There have been many new and startling views held by both sides since then views splitting them poles apart Ominously at issue now is the question of Sino Soviet peaceful coexistence Our work obviously cannot wait until that question is answered to be finished The final chapter

Chinese of Africa Stefan Asemota, 2025-01-17 As the plane took off I was leaving more than just my father I was leaving behind the last bit of hope I had When the grief of losing a loved one hijacks his life Stefan finds himself on a raw unfiltered journey home with a father he barely knew armed with nothing but questions and a desperate need to understand The Chinese of Africa is a personal and sociopolitical memoir that explores Stefan's transformative journey through grief cultural identity and a critical examination of Nigeria's socioeconomic structure Following the loss of his Swiss mother Stefan accompanies his Nigerian father on a poignant return to his native land seeking to bridge the emotional distance between them and understand the complex challenges facing contemporary Nigeria His mother's death becomes the emotional catalyst propelling his journey of reconnection both with his father and his father's homeland Grief is portrayed not as a debilitating force but as a transformative experience that opens pathways to deeper understanding He uses this personal pain to explore the African parenting culture that has traditionally made it difficult for sons to connect with their fathers The Chinese of Africa is not just a travel memoir or a personal grief narrative but a sophisticated sociopolitical exploration of a man who shows the problems affecting his nation and his continent and how historical forces like slavery and colonisation continue to shape African societies Stefan doesn't just describe problems affecting the Nigerian culture he tries to understand their roots and imagine workable solutions He explains how complicated social rules make it hard for fathers and sons to truly understand each other Growing up between two cultures gives him a unique view of Nigeria's challenges and leveraging his personal stories and careful observation he shows how family dynamics reflect larger social issues Through his grief hallucinations poems thoughts personal experiences and systemic analysis Stefan offers a unique perspective about himself his family his mother his nation and Nigeria's complex societal landscape He shows how personal stories can reveal larger truths about culture identity and growth This book will hook you from the very first page to the last with its breathtaking genre-defying exploration that shatters expectations It is perfect for readers who crave memoirs from authors like Chris Whitaker Alison Espach and Leigh Bardugo

Pentagon's

South Asia Defence and Strategic Year Book 2010 Col. Harjeet Singh (Retd), 2010 Pentagon's South Asia Defence and Strategic Yearbook is now in its fourth year of publication. It covers relevant issues of defence and security, military affairs and military technology written by experts and academicians themselves. These issues are important for defence services, foreign ministers and security experts spread among defence units, strategic think tanks, government organisations, public sector units, national and international technology manufacturers and diplomats and bureaucrats. The book has been extremely well received and its circulation has grown tremendously in the last three years. It has been regularly reviewed in the USI Journal and other reputed journals and magazines. As The Book Review has commented: 'In comparison to the other yearbooks, this book stands out due to the well documented opinion pieces by the experienced people from the armed forces, think tanks and academics. It creates a space for dialogue on important topics.' Dialogue and Rhetoric Edda Weigand, 2008-10-09. The volume deals with the relationship between dialogue and rhetoric. The actual state of the art in dialogue analysis is characterized by a tendency to overcome the distinction between competence and performance and to combine components from both sides of the dichotomy in a way which includes rules as well as inferences. The same is true of rhetoric: the guidelines proposed here no longer state that rationality and persuasion are mutually exclusive but suggest that they interact in what might be called the mixed game. The concept of a dialogic rhetoric thus poses the question of how to integrate the different voices. Part I of the volume assembles several rhetorical paradigms which are applied to real life performance. Part II on rhetoric in the mixed game contains a selection of papers which illustrate the interaction of various components. The Round Table discussion in Part III brings proponents of different paradigms face to face with each other and shows how they justify their own positions and present arguments against rival paradigms. City Voices Michael Ingham, Xu Xi, 2003-03-01. City Voices is the first showcase of postwar Hong Kong literature originating in English. Fiction, poetry, essays and memoirs from more than 70 authors are featured to demonstrate the rich variety and vitality of the city's literary production. Together with work from established authors, both bilingual writers who choose to write in English and expatriate authors who have made Hong Kong their home, a section of New Voices introduces the work of unknown and young writers who are part of today's surge of new creativity.
