Speaking Of A Personal God An Essay In Philosophical Theology:

Speaking of a Personal God Vincent Brümmer,1992-11-05 This short work written by an influential philosopher of religion shows how systematic theology is itself largely a philosophical enterprise

Speaking of a Personal God Vincent Brümmer,1992-11-05 This short work shows how systematic theology is itself a philosophical enterprise After analyzing the nature of philosophical enquiry and its relation to systematic theology and after explaining how theology requires that we talk about God Vincent Brümmer illustrates how philosophical analysis can help in dealing with various conceptual problems involved in the fundamental Christian claim that God is a personal being with whom we may live in a personal relationship

Philosophical Theologies in South Africa: Genealogies,

Traditions, and Speculations Khegan M. Delport,2024-10-22 The relationship between philosophy and theology has been a live question since the origins of Christianity Attending to a genealogy of how theology and philosophy have been related is important for conceiving their ongoing engagement However the question of context of where they are so related and practiced has only recently begun to be reflected upon The current volume aims to make a contribution to this recounting by focusing on some of the ways theology and philosophy have been and are being interfaced in the Global South and more specifically in South Africa

The Doctrine of God in Reformed Orthodoxy, Karl Barth, and the Utrecht School R.T. te Velde,2013-06-27 In The Doctrine of God Dolf te Velde examines the interaction of method and content in three historically important accounts of the doctrine of God Does the method of a systematic theology affect the belief content expressed by it Can substantial insights be detected that have a regulative function for the method of a doctrine of God This two way connection of method and content is investigated in three phases of Reformed theology The first seeks to discover inner dynamics of Reformed scholastic theology The second part treats Karl Barth's doctrine of God as a contrast model for scholasticism understood in the framework of Barth's theological method The third part offers a first published comprehensive description and analysis of the so called Utrecht School The closing chapter draws some lines for developing a Reformed doctrine of God in the 21st century

Conjunctive Explanations in Science and Religion Diarmid A. Finnegan,David H. Glass,Mikael Leidenhag,David N. Livingstone,2023-02-28 This book investigates the nature and relevance of conjunctive explanations in the context of science and religion It explores questions concerning how scientific and religious explanations for features of the world or phenomena within it relate to each other and whether they might work together in mutually enriching ways The chapters address topics including the relationship between Darwinian and teleological explanations non reductive explanations of mind and consciousness and explanations of Christian faith and religious experience while others explore theological and philosophical issues concerning the nature and feasibility of conjunctive explanations Overall the contributions help to provide conceptual clarity on how scientific and religious explanations might or might not work together conjunctively as well as exploring how these ideas relate to specific topics in

Happiness, Well-being and the Meaning of Life Vincent Brümmer, 1996 The rapid cultural changes which are so characteristic for our time have had a far reaching effect not only on the universal human research for happiness well being and a meaningful existence in our world but also on the way in which these concepts are understood and misunderstood in contemporary culture For religious believers their faith determines the ideals of happiness well being and meaningfulness which they strive to attain in their lives But are these ideals timelessly the same for all time and for all people or are they too subject to historical change and cultural variation Social scientists examine the way in which these ideals are culturally pluriform and subject to empirical change in religious and cultural communities and traditions But what do these concepts mean for social scientists Do they use them in the same way as religious believers and theologians do In December 1992 the Center for Theological Exploration Inc sponsored its fourth and final Consultation on Science and Religion at the University of Aarhus in Denmark For that occasion a distinguished international group of theologians and social scientists were invited to discuss these issues Most of the contributions to this volume were originally presented as papers at that consultation

Ford, 2013-09-23 This popular text has been updated to ensure that it continues to provide a current and comprehensive overview of the main Christian theologies of the twentieth and twenty first centuries Each chapter is written by a leading theologian and gives a clear picture of a particular movement topic or individual New and updated treatments of topics covered in earlier editions with over half the chapters new to this edition or revised by new authors New section singling out six classic theologians of the twentieth century Expanded treatment of the natural sciences gender Roman Catholic theology since Vatican II and African Asian and Evangelical theologies Completely new chapters on spirituality pastoral theology philosophical theology postcolonial biblical interpretation Pentecostal theology Islam and Christian theology Buddhism and Christian theology and theology and film As in previous editions the text opens with a full introduction to modern theology Epilogue discussing the present situation and prospects of Christian theology in the twenty first century Creation, Catastrophe & Calvary John Templeton Baldwin, 2000 In this scientific age what difference does it make whether I believe the world was created in six literal days and that the world was destroyed by a global flood In answering these questions Creation Catastrophe and Calvary shows how these beliefs are related to key issues such as the forgiveness of our sins and Sabbath observance Foreword Introduction Meet the Authors An Angel's Worldview The Days of Creation in Genesis 1 A Second Creation Account Biblical Evidence for the Universality of the Genesis Flood The Grand Canyon and the Genesis Flood The Geologic Column and Calvary The Rainbow Connection Implications for an Evangelical Understanding of the Atonement Evolution A Theory in Crisis The Role of Creation in Seventh day Adventist Theology Science and Theology Focusing the Complementary Lights of Jesus Scripture and Nature Ordinary Christology Ann Christie, 2016-05-13 Ordinary Christology is defined as the account of who Jesus was is and what he did does that is given by Christian believers who have received no formal theological education In this fascinating study Ann Christie analyses and offers a theological appraisal of the main christologies and soteriologies operating in a sample of ordinary churchgoers Christie highlights the formal characteristics of ordinary Christology and raises questions about how we should respond to the beliefs about Jesus held by ordinary churchgoers Empirical findings have important pastoral theological and missiological implications and raise important questions about the importance or otherwise of right belief for being Christian This book presents a model for how the study of ordinary theology can be conducted with the in depth theological analysis and critique which it both requires and deserves Becoming Present Ingolf U. Dalferth, 2006 Safeguarding the distinction between God and world has always been a basic interest of negative theology But sometimes it has overemphasized divine transcendence in a way that made it difficult to account for the sense of God's present activity and experienced actuality Deconstructivist criticisms of the Western metaphysics of presence have made this even more difficult to conceive On the other hand there has been a widespread attempt in recent years to base all theology on religious experience the Christian church celebrates God's presence in its central sacraments of baptism and Eucharist and recent process thought has reconceptualised God's presence in panentheistic terms This is the background against which this book outlines a theology of the Christian sense of the presence of God The first chapter traces the rise and fall of rational religion in Modernity and argues that we should replace philosophical theism not by an unspecified religious sense of the whole but by a specific sense of the presence of God The second chapter analyses the notion of divine presence and outlines different ways of understanding the real presence of God The third chapter discusses the problem of whether and how God's presence can be discerned given the fact that there is no presence of God that is not tinged by God's absence Chapter four distinguishes various modes of divine presence with their corresponding modes of human apprehension Chapter five takes up the charge that presence is an impossibility in a critical discussion of the debate between Derrida and Marion about the impossibility of gift Chapter six asks how God's presence is conceived and communicated looking in particular to music as a means of representing and communicating the awareness of God's presence The final chapter outlines how the sense of the presence of God can be presented and defended in a world of many religions and cultures with their often conflicting religious convictions and representations

Theology of the Old Testament

Walter Brueggemann, 2012-06-01 In this powerful book Walter Brueggemann moves the discussion of Old Testament theology beyond the dominant models of previous generations Brueggemann focuses on the metaphor and imagery of the courtroom trial in order to regard the theological substance of the Old Testament as a series of claims asserted for Yahweh the God of Israel This provides a context that attends to pluralism in every dimension of the interpretive process and suggests links to the plurality of voices of our time

Religion and the Good Life

Marcel Sarot, W. Stoker, 2022-01-04 Studies in Theology and Religion 10 In this volume fourteen philosophers of religion reflect on religious views of the good life Some authors focus on positive religion and its specific religious representations of the good life while others abstract from these and focus on philosophical religion and its conceptual articulations of the good life The tension between positive religion and philosophical religion between representation and concept is itself also analyzed This volume is a result of the co-operation of the philosophers of religion who are senior members of the Netherlands School for Advanced Studies in Theology and Religion NOSTER Religion and the Good Life Religion and the Good Life Introduction Marcel Sarot Utrecht and Wessel Stoker Amsterdam PART I THE RELATIONSHIP BETWEEN REPRESENTATION AND CONCEPT The Tension between Representation and Concept as a Challenge for Philosophy of Religion Peter Jonkers Utrecht Beyond Representation and Concept The Language of Testimony R D N van Riessen Kampen PART II THE TENSION BETWEEN REPRESENTATION AND

Ostler,2006-03-01 In volume 2 of the series Exploring Mormon Thought The Problems of Theism and the Love of God Blake Ostler explores issues related to soteriology or the theory of salvation He argues that the commitment that God loves us and respects our dignity as persons entails that God must leave us free to choose whether to have a saving relationship with him He explores the logic of love and argues that the LDS doctrine of a war in heaven embodies the commitment that God leaves us free to choose whether to enter into relationship with God He explores the nature of inter personal prayer and the contributions of LDS beliefs to a robust prayer dialogue He offers a view consistent with LDS commitments that makes sense out of asking God to assist others to alter the natural environment and to grow in relationship with God He then turns to the concept of grace and argues that the traditional views lead to insurmountable problems He argues that though God does not owe any obligation to us to give us grace God does so out of love However because divinity arises from loving relationships he argues that God could not fail to give sufficient grace to all persons and remain a loving God Theology between

Church, University and Society N.F.M. Schreurs,Brinkman,Vroom,Wethmar,2021-11-22 STAR Studies in Theology and Religion 6 Theology between Church University and Society includes contributions to the international NOSTER conference Theology between Church University and Society held in the Netherlands in June 2000 In the current academic world theologians are often suspected of confessionalism bias and narrow mindedness They in turn try to regain respect by producing specialist historical empirical and analytical studies that are in line with other academic research This retreat into neutrality renders them suspect in the eyes of their religious communities Some churches react by reformulating their appointment policies and become more strict in order to secure the full loyalty of the theological staff of their institutions Therefore many theologians feel a conflict between loyalty to their tradition and loyalty to the academic world Student populations have also changed considerably during the last few decades Quite a number of students have a lively interest in religion but no religious affiliation at all University teachers have to adapt to these new audiences and faculties need to reorient themselves to reestablish their goals This volume is concerned with these three challenges academic religious and societal In all of the contributions the tension between descriptive research and normative theses or the relation between theology and society at large is discussed Not only are there descriptions of the structures of theological institutions in the Netherlands the USA and South Africa but also of the relations between churches and theological institutions and Vatican policy regarding theological faculties

Ordinary Theology Jeff Astley, 2017-07-05 Ordinary theology is Jeff Astley's phrase for the theology and theologising of Christians who have received little or no theological education of a scholarly academic or systematic kind Astley argues that an in depth study of ordinary theology which should involve both empirical research and theological reflection can help recover theology as a fundamental dimension of every Christian's vocation Ordinary Theology analyses the problems and possibilities of research and reflection in this area This book explores the philosophical theological and educational dimensions of the concept of ordinary theology its significance for the work of the theologian as well as for those engaged in the ministry of the church and the criticisms that it faces Ordinary theology Astley writes is the church's front line Statistically speaking it is the theology of God's church

Approaches to the Study of Religion Peter Connolly, 2001-11-30 It has been argued that religious studies is a polymethodic discipline and that the student of religion should be familiar with the approaches of the major disciplines concerned with understanding the nature of religion not least because the approach adopted has profound influence on the phenomena chosen for investigation and the conclusions reached This book is the first textbook specifically designed for undergraduate students that provides the essential background on methods of the major relevant disciplines Presenting each of the significant approaches to religion in an informed manner the book brings together experienced researchers from feminism anthropology sociology phenomenology psychology philosophy and theology It presents a consistent approach throughout with each chapter dealing with the same themes the historical development of the approach the characteristics of the approach and the surrounding issues and debates
