Maternal Impressions Cristina Mazzoni, 2002 In an unusual combination of reflection autobiography theory and criticism Cristina Mazzoni looks at childbirth and early maternity from the perspective of an academic mother with three young children Mazzoni draws upon examples ranging from contemporary advice manuals and novels to the work of turn of the century Italian scientists and women writers as well as fairy tales religious texts psychoanalytic accounts and feminist theory Throughout her investigations of the various forces that shape cultural views of pregnancy and childbirth Mazzoni strives to imagine and deploy maternity as a concept and a reality capable of challenging conventional representations of subjectivity The questions she addresses dwell on relationship and interdependence the inseparability of the personal and the political and the connections and interactions between bodies and power Maternal Impressions is far more than a book of literary criticism and theory It reveals the multiple bonds and continuities between the contradictory ways in which pregnancy and childbirth were represented a century ago and the manner in which they still haunt feminist experience today In her conclusion Mazzoni points toward a possible ethics of maternity

Near-Infrared SpRecent Advances in Infant Speech Perception and Language Acquisition Research Judit Gervain,2015-06-16 Near Infrared Spectroscopy NIRS is a novel and increasingly popular optical imaging technique that has revolutionarized brain research in the youngest developmental populations After nearly a decade of technological development NIRS has become a reliable easy to use and efficient tool to explore the linguistic and cognitive abilities of neonates and young infants opening new vistas for the investigation of language acquisition and cognitive development This Research Topic covers the latest advances in these areas brought about by NIRS imaging The main focus is to highlight innovative and foundational studies that go beyond methodological issues and advance our theoretical understanding of infant and child development Contributions from the pioneers of this method are selected illustrating how NIRS has allowed developmental researchers to ask theoretically relevant questions that more traditional methods couldn't address These works further our understanding of language and cognitive development and bring us closer to bridging the gap between brain mind and behavior at the very beginning of life Silence in Second Language Learning Colette A.

Granger, 2004-01-01 This text examines the under researched and often troubling phenomenon of silence in second language learning through a triangulation of SLA research memoirs and language learner diaries and psychoanalytic concepts of anxiety ambivalence conflict and loss It moves beyond the view of silence as the mere absence of speech inviting the reader to consider it as both a psychical event and a linguistic moment in the continuous process of identity formation
