The Eye's Mind Karen Jacobs, 2018-09-05 The Eye's Mind significantly alters our understanding of modernist literature by showing how changing visual discourses techniques and technologies affected the novels of that period In readings that bring philosophies of vision into dialogue with photography and film as well as the methods of observation used by the social sciences Karen Jacobs identifies distinctly modernist kinds of observers and visual relationships This important reconception of modernism draws upon American British and French literary and extra literary materials from the period 1900 1955 These texts share a sense of crisis about vision's capacity for violence and its inability to deliver reliable knowledge Jacobs looks closely at the ways in which historical understandings of race and gender inflected visual relations in the modernist novel She shows how modernist writers increasingly aware of the body behind the neutral lens of the observer used diverse strategies to displace embodiment onto those others historically perceived as cultural bodies in order to reimagine for themselves or their characters a purified gaze The Eye's Mind addresses works by such high modernists as Vladimir Nabokov Virginia Woolf and more distantly Ralph Ellison and Maurice Blanchot as well as those by Henry James Zora Neale Hurston and Nathanael West which have been tentatively placed in the modernist canon although they forgo the full blown experimental techniques often seen as synonymous with literary modernism Jacobs reframes fundamental debates about modernist aesthetic practices by demonstrating how much those practices are indebted to the changing visual cultures of the twentieth century The Feminine Eye Tom Staicar, 1982 Sex satire feminism and beyond these are some of the themes examined here in provocative essays by experts in science fiction both men and women Writing especially for this volume they explore the special feminine approach to SF that has created an impressive body of work including the prize winning novels of recent years by such writers as Joan D Vinge and Suzy McKee Charnas Publisher's description LIFE, 1966-08-19 LIFE Magazine is the treasured photographic magazine that chronicled the 20th Century It now lives on at LIFE.com the largest most amazing collection of professional photography on the internet Users can browse search and view photos of today's people and events They have free access to share print and post images for personal use Kassandra and the Censors Karen Van Dyck, 2018-05-31 In this pioneering study of contemporary Greek poetry Karen Van Dyck investigates modernist and postmodernist poetics at the edge of Europe She traces the influential role of Greek women writers back to the sexual politics of censorship under the dictatorship 1967 1974 Reading the effects of censorship in cartoons the dictator's speeches the poetry of the Nobel Laureate George Seferis and the younger generation of poets she shows how women poets use strategies which although initiated in response to the regime's press law prove useful in articulating a feminist critique In poetry collections by Rhea Galanaki Jenny Mastoraki and Maria Laina among others she analyzes how the censors tactics for stabilizing signification are redeployed to disrupt fixed meanings and gender roles As much a literary analysis of culture as a cultural analysis of literature her book explores how censorship consumerism and feminism influence contemporary Greek women s poetry as well as how the resistance to clarity in this poetry trains readers to rethink these cultural practices Only with greater attention to the cultural and formal specificity of writing Van Dyck argues is it possible to theorize the lessons of censorship and women s writing

The Postcolonial Eye Alison Ravenscroft,2016-03-03 Informed by theories of the visual knowledge and desire The Postcolonial Eye is about the eye and the I in contemporary Australian scenes of race Specifically it is about seeing where vision is taken to be subjective and shaped by desire and about knowing one another across the cultural divide between white and Indigenous Australia Writing against current moves to erase this divide and to obscure difference Alison Ravenscroft stresses that modern Indigenous cultures can be profoundly even bewilderingly strange and at times unknowable within the terms of white cultural forms She argues for a different ethics of looking in particular for aesthetic practices that allow Indigenous cultural products especially in the literary arts to retain their strangeness in the eyes of a white subject The specificity of her subject matter allows Ravenscroft to deal with the broad issues of postcolonial theory and race and ethnicity without generalising This specificity is made visible in for example Ravenscroft s treatment of the figuring of white desire in Aboriginal fiction film and life stories and in her treatment of contemporary Indigenous cultural practices While it is located in Australian Studies Ravenscroft s book in its rigorous interrogation of the dynamics of race and whiteness and engagement with European and American literature and criticism has far reaching implications for understanding the important question of race and vision
