Don Browning and Psychology Terry D. Cooper, 2011 Psychologist of religion ethicist theological psychologist cultural critic philosophical anthropologist marriage and family expert practical theologian and religion and law scholar these are some of the many labels one could use to describe the history of Don Browning's work Yet in spite of the multi-faceted nature of Browning's work abiding themes and central concerns consistently emerge Perhaps the title which best describes Browning's noteworthy contributions is that of horizon analyst Browning is always at his best when he is helping us see the world of implicit assumptions and normative images which govern various perspectives He has an eye for metaphors which as his mentor Ricoeur famously said give rise to thought Perhaps Browning's greatest academic asset has been his ability to explore the philosophical underpinnings of various psychological theories This book focuses on Browning's rich investigative journey into Freud's dual instinct model the relationship between human biology and culture evolutionary psychology William James' instinctual pluralism Erik Erickson's notion of generativity the ethical implications of self-actualization in the humanistic psychologies of Rogers and Maslow evil and self-realization in Carl Jung the place of self-injury in the thought of Heinz Kohut as well as other issues Beginning with a discussion of Browning's critical hermeneutical approach heavily influenced by Gadamer Ricoeur and David Tracy this book then systematically explores Browning's critical assessments of the most significant contemporary psychological movements

The Ethics of Interpersonal Relationships Joyce Catlett, Robert W. Firestone, 2018-03-28 Writing this book springs from a deep feeling for people and a grave concern that without a proper understanding of the reasons for their inhumanity in relation to one another and the development of a compassionate world view it is likely that human beings may eventually destroy themselves and life on the planet This work is an attempt to explain the source of destructive behaviour and how it manifests itself in personal relationships between men women couples and families and in the social arena The author presents a position that offers a hope of altering the destiny of humankind's unethical behavior through better psychological understanding and education Understanding the source of a person's aggressiveness in defending the fantasy bond and learning to cope with the voice process have strong implications for child rearing and better mental health practices
