HERE SPOKE SIGN LANGUAGE Nora Ellen GROCE,2009-06-30 From the seventeenth century to the early years of the twentieth the population of Martha's Vineyard manifested an extremely high rate of profound hereditary deafness. In stark contrast to the experience of most deaf people in our own society the Vineyarders who were born deaf were so thoroughly integrated into the daily life of the community that they were not seen and did not see themselves as handicapped or as a group apart. Deaf people were included in all aspects of life such as town politics, jobs, church affairs and social life. How was this possible? On the Vineyard hearing and deaf islanders alike grew up speaking sign language. This unique sociolinguistic adaptation meant that the usual barriers to communication between the hearing and the deaf which so isolate many deaf people today did not exist.

The Judge, 1901 Fifty-two stories of pluck, peril and romance for girls, by L.T. Meade and other writers, ed. by A.H. Miles Alfred Henry Miles, 1896 Race, Language, and Subjectivation Liesa Rühlmann, 2023-10-28

Many school students in Germany are plurilingual and use German and further languages in their daily lives. This use is differently approached and valued. Not only languages spoken but race too plays a role in how language use is addressed in schools. Interviews that were conducted and analyzed with a Grounded Theory approach show that subject positions assigned to students concerning plurilingualism shape how they reflect on experiences in school from a retrospective focus. By turning to a raciolinguistic perspective and drawing on subjectivation theory the terms used to signify dominantly found re-positionings are raciolinguistic norm and raciolinguistic Other. The results highlight the necessity of focusing in more detail on how listening positionalities shape language use in society and in schools specifically.
