autonomous theoretical disciplines in the 18th century enlightenment Throughout the 19th century the fields shared a common icon the primitive hut and a common concern with both routine needs and ceremonial behaviours Both could lay strong claims to a special knowledge of the everyday And yet in the 20th century notwithstanding genre classics such as Bernard Rudofsky's Architecture without Architects or Paul Oliver's Shelter and various attempts to make architecture anthropocentric such as Corbusier's Modulor disciplinary exchanges between architecture and anthropology were often disappointingly slight This book attempts to locate the various points of departure that might be taken in a contemporary discussion between architecture and anthropology The results are radical post colonial theory is here counterpoised to 19th century theories of primitivism archaeology is set against dentistry fieldwork is juxtaposed against indigenous critique and climate science is applied to questions of shelter This publication will be of interest to both architects and anthropologists The chapters in this book were originally published within two special issues of Architectural Theory Review The

International Conference on Harmonisation between Architecture and Nature Eco Architecture 2014 Eco Architecture implies a new approach to the design process intended to harmonise its products with nature This involves ideas such as minimum use of energy at each stage of the building process taking into account the amount required during the extraction and transportation of materials their fabrication assembly building erection maintenance and eventual future recycling Another important issue is the adaptation of the architectural design to the natural environment learning from nature and long time honoured samples of traditional constructions The papers in this book deal with topics such as building technologies design by passive systems design with nature cultural sensitivity life cycle assessment resources and rehabilitation and many others Also included are case studies from many different places around the world Eco Architecture by definition is a highly multi disciplinary subject Eco Architecture V Harmonisation between Architecture and Nature will therefore be of interest to in addition to architects many other professionals including engineers planners physical scientists sociologists and economists Topics covered include Design with nature Energy efficiency Building technologies Ecological impacts of materials Bioclimatic design Water quality Green facades Ecological and cultural sensitivity Education and training Case studies Design by passive systems Adapted reuse Life cycle assessment and durability Transformative design Sustainability indices in architecture

Sunlight and Shade in the First Cities Mary Shepperson,2017-01-16 The emergence of urbanism in Iraq occurred under the distinctive climatic conditions of the Mesopotamian plain rainy winters and extremely hot summers profoundly affected the formation and development of these early cities Sunlight and Shade in the First Cities explores the relationship between society culture and lived experience through the way in which sunlight was manipulated in the urban built environment Light is approached as both a physical phenomenon which affects comfort and the practical usability of space and as a symbolic phenomenon rich in social and religious meaning Through the reconstruction of ancient urban light environments to the extent possible from the archaeological remains the location timing and meaning of activities within early Mesopotamian cities become accessible Sunlight is shown to have influenced the formation and symbolism of urban architecture and shaped the sensory experience of urban life From cities as part of the sunlit landscape this work progresses to consider city forms as a whole and then to the examination of architectural types residential sacred and palatial Architectural analysis is complemented by analysis of contemporary textual sources along with iconographic and artefactual evidence The cities under detailed examination are limited to those on the Mesopotamian plain focusing on the Early Dynastic periods up to the end of the second millennium BC This volume demonstrates the utility of light as a tool with which to analyse not just ancient Mesopotamian settlements but the built environment of any past society especially where provision of or protection from sunlight critically affects life The active influence of sunlight is demonstrated within Mesopotamian cities at every scale of analysis Human Nature as Capacity Nigel Rapport,2010 What is it to be human What are our specifically human attributes our capacities and liabilities Such questions gave birth to anthropology as an Enlightenment science This book argues that it is again appropriate to bring the human to the fore to reclaim the singularity of the word as central to the anthropological endeavor not on the basis of the substance of a human nature To be human is to act like this and react like this to feel this and want this but in terms of species wide capacities capabilities for action and imagination liabilities for suffering and cruelty The contributors approach the human with an awareness of these complexities and particularities rendering this volume unique in its ability to build on anthropology s ethnographic expertise Bibliography of Art and Architecture in the Islamic World (2 Vol. Set) Susan Sinclair,C. H. Bleaney,Pablo García Suárez,2012 Following the tradition and style of the acclaimed Index Islamicus the editors have created this new Bibliography of Art and Architecture in the Islamic World The editors have surveyed and annotated a wide range of books and articles from collected volumes and journals published in all European languages except Turkish between 1906 and 2011 This comprehensive bibliography is an indispensable tool for everyone involved in the study of material culture in Muslim societies Advances in Environment, Behavior, and Design Erwin H.
