following the end of the Civil War The Fateful Lightning traces the sectional conflicts in a postwar nation and how region shaped the political agendas of these postwar editorials Diffley argues that the journals she examines present stories that give unpredictable results of sectional conflict and commemorate the Civil War differently from the northeastern publishing establishments She weaves this argument through her analysis of four literary journals Baltimore's Southern Magazine Charlotte's The Land We Love Chicago's Lakeside Monthly and San Francisco's Overland Monthly Diffley uses a method of literary analysis that looks at what is not only present in the text but also present throughout its historically informed context gleaning cultural meanings from what the stories also filter out Coupling this literary analysis with city studies Diffley's innovative approach demonstrates how these editorials offer varying gauges of continued political unrest rising social opportunity and conflicting commemorative investments as Reconstruction began to unfold
