The First To Fly Aviations Pioneer Days:

The First to Fly; Aviation's Pioneer Days Sherwood Harris, 1970

The 1910 Los Angeles International Air Meet

Kenneth E. Pauley, 2009 America's first international air meet was held January 10-20 1910 in Los Angeles on a mesa called Dominguez Hill situated 13.5 miles south of the plaza at the pueblo of Los Angeles. Enthusiasm for aviation grew after the first international air meet in 1909 in Rheims France where American aviator Glenn H. Curtiss won three prestigious speed prizes and 36,000 francs. An even more spectacular air meet which would also invigorate the local economy was promoted for Los Angeles. Businessman Dick Ferris, the Los Angeles Merchants and Manufacturers Association and the Los Angeles Examiner collaborated to make it possible. Most Americans had never seen the newfangled machines that soared in the skies. Initially skeptical, they soon were awed. So began America's love affair with aviation. The air meet influenced aviation in Southern California and transportation worldwide into the 21st century.

The American Aviation Experience Tim

Brady, 2000 This book is designed to be a primary text for courses in aviation history and development and aviation in America. The seventeen chapters in The American Aviation Experience: A History range chronologically from ancient times through the Wright brothers through both world wars culminating with the development of the U.S. space program. Contributors also cover balloons and dirigibles, African American pioneers in aviation and women in aviation. These essayists, leading scholars in the field, present the history of aviation mainly from an American perspective. The American Aviation Experience includes 335 black and white photographs, two maps, and an appendix on Leonardo da Vinci and the Science of Flight.

Master of Airpower David Mets, 2009-04-02 A valuable and long overdue biography of one of America's greatest soldiers. Parameters: The story of Gen. Carl Spaatz's life is more than a biography of one of America's great military leaders. It is a history of the development of airpower and a fascinating inside look at the long, difficult struggle to win autonomy for the U.S. Air Force. Spaatz earned his wings in 1918 when flying was a new and dangerous occupation; aviation school mortality rates were 18 percent. After gaining experience as a fighter pilot during the Great War, he became one of the Air Corps' top pursuit commanders during the 1920s. During the 1930s, he moved over to bombers just as modern long-range aircraft were coming into service. As a senior bomber commander, Spaatz significantly influenced the emerging strategic bomber doctrine. By the time of the outbreak of the Second World War, Spaatz was one of America's most experienced aviators. He was at the helm of the evolution of the new American military strategic airpower doctrine, which proved to be a decisive factor in World War II. After the Allied victory, planning and launching an independent Air Force would occupy Spaatz for the remainder of his career. Today's Air Force bears his indelible stamp. Tooey Spaatz was a low-profile leader who was known for his open mind and pragmatic approach and who was influential in a quiet, forceful way. Possessed of absolute integrity, even when his beliefs were unpopular, he pressed them at the risk of his career.
