Sowing And Reaping A Temperance Story:

Sowing and Reaping Frances Ellen Watkins Harper, 2021-01-26 Sowing and Reaping 1876 is a novel by Frances Ellen Watkins Harper. One of the first novels published by an African American woman, Sowing and Reaping is a story of friendship, romance, and tragedy that advocates for temperance nationwide. Originally published in serial format in the Christian Recorder, an important and historical periodical connected to the African Methodist Episcopal Church, Sowing and Reaping was rediscovered in the late twentieth century and has since been recognized as a groundbreaking work of fiction by the first African American woman to publish a novel. Discussing the recent closure of John Andrews' saloon, Paul Clifford and John Anderson reveal the starkly opposing natures which collide within their friendship. Although both consider themselves businessmen, Paul, whose father died young from alcoholism, always places morality ahead of opportunity, while John, a pragmatist at heart, places his personal interests ahead of everything. Scolding his friend for not capitalizing on the bankruptcy of a local man, John presages the tragic events to come. As Paul falls in love with Belle through their mutual advocacy of temperance, John tries his hand as a saloon owner himself, indulging in and selling alcohol while turning a blind eye to his son's increasing dependence on drinking. Written in straightforward prose, Sowing and Reaping is a politically conscious novel concerned with the cause of temperance in a time when families and communities were frequently torn apart by alcoholism. With a beautifully designed cover and professionally typeset manuscript, this edition of Frances Ellen Watkins Harper's Sowing and Reaping is a classic of African American literature reimagined for modern readers.

Sowing and Reaping Frances E. W. Harper, 2020-12-17 Large format. I hear that John Andrews has given up his saloon and a foolish thing it was. He was doing a splendid business. What could have induced him? They say that his wife was bitterly opposed to the business. I don't know, but I think it quite likely. She has never seemed happy since John has kept saloon Well I would never let any woman lead me by the nose I would let her know that as the living comes by me the way of getting it is my affair not hers as long as she is well provided for All men are not alike and I confess that I value the peace and happiness of my home more than anything else and I would not like to engage in any business which I knew was a source of constant pain to my wife But what right has a woman to complain if she has every thing she wants I would let her know pretty soon who holds the reins if I had such an unreasonable creature to deal with I think as much of my wife as any man but I want her to know her place and I know mine What do you call her place I call her place staying at home and attending to her own affairs Were I a laboring man I would never want my wife to take in work When a woman has too much on hand something has to be neglected Now I always furnish my wife with sufficient help and supply every want but how I get the living and where I go and what company I keep is my own business and I would not allow the best woman in the world to interfere I have often heard women say that they did not care what their husbands did so that they provided for them and I think such conclusions are very sensible Well John I do not think so I think a woman must be very selfish if all she cares for her husband is to have a good provider I think her husband s honor and welfare should be as dear to her as her own and no true woman and wife can be indifferent to the moral welfare of her husband

Drugs, Alcohol and Addiction in the Long Nineteenth Century Daniel Malleck,2021-06-23 This collection captures key themes and issues in the broad history of addiction and vice in the Anglo American world Focusing on the long nineteenth century the volumes consider how scientific social and cultural experiences with drugs alcohol addiction gambling and prostitution varied around the world What might be considered vice or addiction could be interpreted in various ways through various lenses and such activities were interpreted differently depending upon the observer the medical practitioner the evangelical missionary the thrill seeking bon vivant and the concerned government commissioner to name but a few For example opium addiction in middle class households resulting from medical treatment was judged much differently than Chinese opium smoking by those in poverty or poor living conditions in North American work camps on the west coast or on the streets of East London This collection will assemble key documents representing both the official and general view of these various activities providing readers with a cross section of interpretations and a solid grounding in the material that shaped policy change cultural interpretation and social action Loopholes and Retreats John Cullen Gruesser, Hanna Wallinger, 2009 The essays in this volume explore the loopholes and retreats employed and exploited by African American polemicists poets novelists slave narrators playwrights short story writers essayists editors educators historians clubwomen and autobiographers during the nineteenth century These exciting contributions use historicist comparative transnational literary historical cultural studies and Foucauldian perspectives to examine how apparent weakness was turned into strength defensiveness into offensiveness and the machinery of oppression into the keys to liberation The Lever of Riches Joel Mokyr, 1992-04-09 In a world of supercomputers genetic engineering and fiber optics technological creativity is ever more the key to economic success But why are some nations more creative than others and why do some highly innovative societies such as ancient China or Britain in the industrial revolution pass into stagnation Beginning with a fascinating concise history of technological progress Mokyr sets the background for his analysis by tracing the major inventions and innovations that have transformed society since ancient Greece and Rome What emerges from this survey is often surprising the classical world for instance was largely barren of new technology the relatively backward society of medieval Europe bristled with inventions and the period between the Reformation and the Industrial Revolution was one of slow and unspectacular progress in technology despite the tumultuous developments associated with the Voyages of Discovery and the Scientific Revolution What were the causes of technological creativity Mokyr distinguishes between the relationship of inventors and their physical environment which determined their willingness to challenge nature and the social environment which determined the openness to new ideas He discusses a long list of such factors showing how they interact to help or hinder a nation's creativity and then illustrates them by a number of detailed comparative studies examining the differences between Europe and China between classical antiquity and medieval Europe and between Britain and the rest of Europe during the industrial revolution He examines such aspects as the role of the state the Chinese gave up a millennium wide lead in shipping to the Europeans for example when an Emperor banned large ocean going vessels the impact of science as well as religion politics and even nutrition He questions the importance of such commonly cited factors as the spill over benefits of war the abundance of natural resources life expectancy and labor costs Today an ever greater number of industrial economies are competing in the global market locked in a struggle that revolves around technological ingenuity The Lever of Riches with its keen analysis derived from a sweeping survey of creativity throughout history offers telling insights into the question of how Western economies can maintain and developing nations can unlock their creative potential A History of the African American Novel Valerie Babb, 2017-07-31 This History is intended for a broad audience

Literature Jacqueline K. Bryant, 2018-10-29 Originally published in 1999 The Foremother Figure in Early Black Women's Literature looks at how stereotypical foremother figure exists in nineteenth century American literature The book argues that older black woman portrayed in early black women's works differs significantly from the older black women portrayed in early white women's works The foremother figure then emerging in early black women's fiction revises the stereotypical mother figure in early white women's fiction In the context of the mulatta heroine the foremother produces minimal language that through an Afrocentric rhetoric distinguishes her from the stereotypical mother and thus links her peripheral role and unusual behaviour to cultural continuity and radical uplift Women in American History Peg A.
