Arithmetic Fundamental Groups and Noncommutative Algebra Michael D. Fried, Yasutaka Ihara, 2002 The arithmetic and geometry of moduli spaces and their fundamental groups are a very active research area This book offers a complete overview of developments made over the last decade The papers in this volume examine the geometry of moduli spaces of curves with a function on them The main players in Part 1 are the absolute Galois group $G_{\mathbb{Q}}$ of the algebraic numbers and its close relatives By analyzing how $G_{\mathbb{Q}}$ acts on fundamental groups defined by Hurwitz moduli problems the authors achieve a grand generalization of Serre's program from the 1960s Papers in Part 2 apply theta functions and configuration spaces to the study of fundamental groups over positive characteristic fields In this section several authors use Grothendieck's famous lifting results to give extensions to wildly ramified covers Properties of the fundamental groups have brought collaborations between geometers and group theorists Several Part 3 papers investigate new versions of the genus 0 problem In particular this includes results severely limiting possible monodromy groups of sphere covers Finally Part 4 papers treat Deligne's theory of Tannakian categories and arithmetic versions of the Kodaira-Spencer map This volume is geared toward graduate students and research mathematicians interested in arithmetic algebraic geometry

Animal Bodies, Renaissance Culture Karen Raber, 2013-09-24 Animal Bodies Renaissance Culture examines how the shared embodied existence of early modern human and nonhuman animals challenged the establishment of species distinctions The material conditions of the early modern world brought humans and animals into complex interspecies relationships that have not been fully accounted for in critical readings of the period's philosophical scientific or literary representations of animals Where such prior readings have focused on the role of reason in debates about human exceptionalism this book turns instead to a series of cultural sites in which we find animal and human bodies sharing environments mutually transforming and defining one another's lives To uncover the animal body's role in anatomy eroticism architecture labor and consumption Karen Raber analyzes canonical works including More's Utopia Shakespeare's Hamlet and Romeo and Juliet and Sidney's poetry situating them among readings of human and equine anatomical texts medical recipes theories of architecture and urban design husbandry manuals and horsemanship treatises Raber reconsiders interactions between environment body and consciousness that we find in early modern human animal relations Scholars of the Renaissance period recognized animals' fundamental role in fashioning what we call culture she demonstrates providing historical narratives about embodiment and the cultural constructions of species difference that are often overlooked in ecocritical and posthumanist theory that attempts to address the question of the animal

Economies of Signs and Space Professor Scott M Lash, Scott Lash John Urry, Professor John Urry, 1993-12-09 This is a novel account of social change that supplants conventional understandings of society and presents a sociology that takes as its main unit of analysis flows through time and across space Developing a comparative analysis of the UK and US the new Germany and Japan Lash and Urry show how restructuration after organized capitalism has its basis in increasingly reflexive social actors and organizations The consequence is not only the much vaunted postmodern condition but also a growth in reflexivity In exploring this new reflexive world the authors argue that today's economies are increasingly ones of signs information symbols images desire and of space where both signs and social subjects refugees financiers tourists and financiers are mobile over ever greater distances at ever greater speeds

Segregated Species Jules Skotnes-Brown, 2024-07-30 A timely history of the connections between science segregation and species in twentieth century South Africa Throughout the twentieth century rural South Africa was dominated by systems of racial segregation and apartheid that brutally oppressed its Black population At the same time the countryside was defined by a related settler obsession the control of animals that farmers scientists and state officials considered pests Elephants rampaged on farmlands trampling fences crops and occasionally humans Grain eating birds flocked on plantations devouring harvests Bubonic plague crept across the veld in the bodies of burrowing and crop devouring rodents In Segregated Species Jules Skotnes Brown argues that racial segregation and pest control were closely connected in early twentieth century South Africa Strategies for the containment of pests were redeployed for the management of humans and vice versa Settlers blamed racialized populations for the abundance of pests and mobilized metaphors of pestilence to dehumanize them Even knowledge produced about pests was segregated into the binary categories of native and scientific Black South Africans critiqued such injustices and some circulated revolutionary rhetoric through images and metaphors of locusts Ultimately pest control practices played an important role in shaping colonial hierarchies of race and species and in mediating relationships among human groups Skotnes Brown demonstrates that the history of South Africa and colonial history generally cannot be fully understood without analyzing the treatment of both animals and humans

Making Places In The Prehistoric World Joanna Bruck, Melissa Goodman, 2023-04-28 First published in 1999 This groundbreaking volume addresses issues central to the study of prehistoric settlement including group memory the transmission of ideology and the impact of mobility and seasonality on the construction of social identity Building on these themes the contributors point to new ways of understanding the relationship between settlement and landscape by replacing Capitalist models of spatial relations with more intimate histories of place

Haunted Spaces in Twenty-First Century British Nature Writing Anneke Lubkowitz, 2020-06-08 This study investigates the figure of haunting in the New Nature Writing It begins with a historical survey of nature writing and traces how it came to represent an ideal of natural space as empty of human history and social conflict Building on a theoretical framework which combines insights from ecocriticism and spatial theory the author explores the spatial dimensions of haunting and hauntology and shows how 21st century writers draw on a Gothic repertoire of seemingly supernatural occurrences and spectral imagery to portray natural space as disturbed uncanny and socially contested Iain Sinclair and Robert Macfarlane are revealed to apply psychogeography's interest in hidden histories and haunted places to spaces associated with wilderness and the countryside Kathleen Jamie's allusions to the Gothic are put in relation to her feminist re-writing of the outdoors and John Burnside's use of haunting is shown to dismantle fictions of the far north This book provides not only a discussion of a wide range of factual and fictional narratives of the present but also an analysis of the intertextual dialogue with the Romantic tradition which enfolds in these texts Baseball Issue, 1971 Algorithms and Computation Ding-Zhu Du, Xiang-Sun Zhang, 1994-07-27 This volume is the proceedings of the fifth International Symposium on Algorithms and Computation ISAAC 94 held in Beijing China in August 1994 The 79 papers accepted for inclusion in the volume after a careful reviewing process were selected from a total of almost 200 submissions Besides many internationally renowned experts a number of excellent Chinese researchers present their results to the international scientific community for the first time here The volume covers all relevant theoretical and many applicational aspects of algorithms and computation The Eclectic Magazine John Holmes Agnew, Walter Hilliard Bidwell, 1874
