Spaces Of Capital:

Spaces of Capital David Harvey, 2001 First Published in 2002 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company Spaces of Capital David Harvey, 2019-07-30 David Harvey is unquestionably the most influential as well as the most cited geographer of his generation His reputation extends well beyond geography to sociology planning architecture anthropology literary studies and political science This book brings together for the first time seminal articles published over three decades on the tensions between geographical knowledges and political power and on the capitalist production of space Classic essays reprinted here include On the history and present condition of geography The geography of capitalist accumulation and The spatial fix Hegel von Thunen and Marx Two new chapters represent the author s most recent thinking on cartographic identities and social movements David Harvey s persistent challenge to the claims of ethical neutrality on behalf of science and geography runs like a thread throughout the book He seeks to explain the geopolitics of capitalism and to ground spatial theory in social justice In the process he engages with overlooked or misrepresented figures in the history of geography placing them in the context of intellectual history The presence here of Kant Von Thunen Humboldt Lattimore Leopold alongside Marx Hegel Heidegger Darwin Malthus Foucault and many others shows the deep roots and significance of geographical thought At the same time David Harvey s telling observations of current social environmental and political trends show just how vital that thought is to the understanding of the world as it is and as it might be Spaces of Capital/Spaces of Resistance Chris Hesketh, 2017-12-15 Based on original fieldwork in Chiapas and Oaxaca Mexico this book offers a bridge between geography and historical sociology Chris Hesketh examines the production of space within the global political economy Drawing on multiple disciplines Hesketh s discussion of state formation in Mexico takes us beyond the national level to explore the interplay between global regional national and sub national articulations of power These are linked through the novel deployment of Antonio Gramsci s concept of passive revolution understood as the state led institution or expansion of capitalism that prevents the meaningful participation of the subaltern classes Furthermore the author brings attention to the conflicts involved in the production of space placing particular emphasis on indigenous communities and movements and their creation of counterspaces of resistance Hesketh argues that indigenous movements are now the leading social force of popular mobilization in Latin America The author reveals how the wider global context of uneven and combined development frames these specific indigenous struggles and he explores the scales at which they must now seek to articulate themselves Capital Spaces Matthew Carmona, Filipa Matos Wunderlich, 2013-05-02 In recent years it has become common place to hear claims that public space in cities across the globe has become the exclusive preserve of the wealthy and privileged at the expense of the needs of wider society Whether it is the privatization of public space through commerical developments like shopping malls and business parks the gentrification of existing spaces by campaigns against perceived anti social behaviour or the increasing domination of public areas by private transport in the form of the car the urban public space is seen as under threat But are things really that bad Has the market really become the sole factor that influences the treatment of public space Have the financial and personal interests of the few really come to dominate those of the many To answer these questions Matthew Carmona and Filipa Wunderlich have carried out a detailed investigation of the modern public spaces of London that most global of cities They have developed a new typology of public spaces applicable to all cities a typology that demonstrates that to properly assess contemporary urban places means challenging the oversimplification of current critiques Global cities are made up of many overlapping public spaces good and bad this book shows how to analyze this complexity and to understand it

Spaces of Global Capitalism David Harvey, 2019-03-12 Fiscal crises have cascaded across much of the developing world with devastating results from Mexico to Indonesia Russia and Argentina The extreme volatility in contemporary political economic fortunes seems to mock our best efforts to understand the forces that drive development in the world economy David Harvey is the single most important geographer writing today and a leading social theorist of our age offering a comprehensive critique of contemporary capitalism In this fascinating book he shows the way forward for just such an understanding enlarging upon the key themes in his recent work the development of neoliberalism the spread of inequalities across the globe and space as a key theoretical concept Both a major declaration of a new research programme and a concise introduction to David Harvey's central concerns this book will be essential reading for scholars and students across the humanities and social sciences

Uneven Development Neil Smith, 2020-05-05 In Uneven Development a classic in its field Neil Smith offers the first full theory of uneven geographical development entwining theories of space and nature with a critique of capitalism Featuring groundbreaking analyses of the production of nature and the politics of scale Smith's work anticipated many of the uneven contours that now mark neoliberal globalization This third edition features an afterword examining the impact of Neil's argument in a contemporary context

Performing Capital R. Aitken, 2007-10-01 This book reviews forms of capital popular finance and argues that it is important as a site at which capital is visible not as a macro structural reality but as a category itself which needs to be made and performed in the spaces where it does not already exist Culture is used to intervene into everyday spaces to develop capital there

Church Space and the Capital in Prewar Japan Garrett L. Washington, 2022-01-31 Christians have never constituted one percent of Japan's population yet Christianity had a disproportionately large influence on Japan's social intellectual and political development This happened despite the Tokugawa shogunate's successful efforts to criminalize Christianity and even after the Meiji government took measures to limit its influence From journalism and literature to medicine education and politics the mark of Protestant Japanese is indelible Herein lies the conundrum that has interested scholars for decades How did Christianity overcome the ideological legacies of its past in Japan How did Protestantism distinguish itself from the other options in the religious landscape like Buddhism and New Religions And how did the religious movement's social relevance and activism persist despite the government's measures to weaken the relationship between private religion and secular social life in Japan In Church Space and the Capital in Prewar Japan Garrett L Washington responds to these questions with a spatially explicit study on the influence of the Protestant church in imperial Japan He examines the physical and social spaces that Tokyo s largest Japanese led congregations cultivated between 1879 and 1923 and their broader social ties These churches developed alongside and competed with the locational architectural and social spaces of Buddhism Shinto and New Religions Their success depended on their pastors decisions about location and relocation those men s conceptualizations of the new imperial capital and aspirations for Japan and the Western style buildings they commissioned Japanese pastors and laypersons grappled with Christianity s relationships to national identity political ideology women s rights Japanese imperialism and modernity church based group activities aimed to raise social awareness and improve society Further it was largely through attendees externalized ideals and networks developed at church but expressed in their public lives outside the church that Protestant Christianity exerted such a visible influence on modern Japanese society Church Space offers answers to longstanding questions about Protestant Christianity s reputation and influence by using a new space centered perspective to focus on Japanese agency in the religion s metamorphosis and social impact adding a fresh narrative of cultural imperialism

The City of the Senses K. DeFazio,2011-10-24 Offers an innovative interdisciplinary approach which opens up new ways of understanding urban culture and space The author approaches the city as essentially a material place where people live work and participate in social practices within historical limits set not by sensory experience or cultural meanings but material social conditions

The Limits to Capital David Harvey,2018-11-06 A major rereading of Marx s critique of political economy Now a classic of Marxian economics The Limits to Capital provides one of the best theoretical guides to the history and geography of capitalist development In this edition Harvey updates his seminal text with a substantial discussion of the turmoil in world markets today Delving into concepts such as fictitious capital and uneven geographical development Harvey takes the reader step by step through layers of crisis formation beginning with Marx s controversial argument concerning the falling rate of profit and closing with a timely foray into the geopolitical and geographical implications of Marx s work

Urbanization and Production of Space Chao Ye,Liang Zhuang,2023-05-18 This book studies China s urbanization with the theory of production of space The authors redefine the production of space and build a new theoretical framework for understanding the evolving relations between urbanization and spatial production Since the reform and opening up especially in the last twenty years the logic of spatial production has dominated China s urbanization The authors choose the most representative cases such as the Yangtze River Delta Urban Agglomeration Jiangsu Province National High tech Industrial Development Zone New Urban District State Level New Area University Town and some villages to conduct a series of empirical studies on production of space at the macro meso and micro scales Through an in depth analysis of the interaction between social spaces and urbanization influenced by power capital and class the book reveals that the essence of China's urbanization is dominated by the logic of spatial production. The authors finally propose that an important shift toward humanism should be made in the future development of China's new type urbanization, emphasizing more even and adequate development between different regions and between urban and rural areas, which also provides new ideas for the theory and practice of urbanization worldwide. This book can be read and referenced by researchers in the fields of urban and regional studies, geography, sociology, urban and rural planning, management, etc. It can also be used as a teaching reference book for teachers, researchers, and students of scientific research institutions in related fields.

Pseudo-Public Spaces in Chinese Shopping Malls Yiming Wang, 2019-06-07 Shopping malls in China create a new pseudo public urban space which is under the control of private or quasi public power structure. As they are open for public use, mediated by the co-mingling of private property rights and public meanings of urban space, the rise, publicness, and consequences of the boom in the construction of shopping malls raises major questions in spatial political economy and magnifies existing theoretical debates between the natural and conventional schools of property rights. In examining these issues, this book develops a theoretical framework starting with a critique of the socio-spatial debate between two influential bodies of work represented by the work of Henri Lefebvre and David Harvey. Drawing on the framework, the book examines why pseudo public spaces have been growing so rapidly in China since the 1980s, assesses to what degree pseudo public spaces are public, and how they affect the publicness of Chinese cities, and explores the consequences of their rise. Findings of this book provide insights that can help to better understand Chinese urbanism and also have the potential to inform urban policy in China. This book will be of interest to academics and researchers in both Chinese studies and urban studies.

Communication and Capitalism Christian Fuchs, 2020-05-19 An authoritative analysis of the role of communication in contemporary capitalism and an important contribution to debates about the forms of domination and potentials for liberation in today's capitalist society. Professor Michael Hardt, Duke University, co-author of the tetralogy Empire, Commonwealth, Multitude, and Assembly. A comprehensive approach to understanding and transcending the deepening crisis of communicative capitalism. It is a major work of synthesis and essential reading for anyone wanting to know what critical analysis is and why we need it now more than ever. Professor Graham Murdock, Emeritus Professor, University of Loughborough, and co-editor of The Handbook of Political Economy of Communications. Communication and Capitalism outlines foundations of a critical theory of communication. Going beyond Jürgen Habermas's theory of communicative action, Christian Fuchs outlines a communicative materialism that is a critical dialectical humanist approach to theorising communication in society and in capitalism. The book renews Marxist Humanism as a critical theory perspective on communication and society. The author theorises communication and society by engaging with the dialectic materialism, society, work, labour, technology, the means of communication as means of production, capitalism, class, the public sphere, alienation, ideology, nationalism, racism, authoritarianism, fascism, patriarchy, globalisation, the new imperialism, the commons.
