The Sea-Craft of Prehistory Paul Johnstone,2013-11-12 The nautical dimension of prehistory has not so far received the attention it deserves It is also too often assumed that early man was land bound yet this is demonstrably not the case Recent research has shown that man travelled and tracked over greater distances and at a much earlier date than has previously been thought possible Some of these facts can be explained only by man s mastery of water transport from earliest times This book by an acknowledged expert on prehistoric sea craft examines these problems looking at the new archaeological information in the light of the author s nautical knowledge The result is a detailed account of man s use of inland and ocean going craft from earliest times until the dawn of recorded history All forms of evidence are critically assessed from the vessels of Ancient Egypt to the Chinese junk to present of comprehensive picture of the vessels men have built through the ages and of the variety of ways in which they have been used

sulla preistoria Ships of the Port of London Peter Marsden,2014-07-15 This report is the first full study of the remains of ships and boats used in the port of London from the first to the eleventh century AD Using evidence from the vessels from the waterfronts and from trade goods Peter Marsden has reconstructed the design and use of these ancient ships and brought together for the first time the accumulated evidence of over 30 years of archaeological research The remains of three substantial vessels are discussed Blackfriars ship 1 the earliest known seagoing sailing ship yet found in northern Europe the New Guy s House boat a river barge from the second century and the County Hall ship discovered in 1910 and dating from the fourth century Using these and fragments of different types of clinker built vessels found in the Thames the author examines the pattern of shipbuilding in northern Europe with the conclusion that London was the meeting point for several shipbuilding traditions of which the primary Roman tradition in northern Europe was Celtic The growth of trade from Roman times to the fifth and sixth centuries when London was deserted and from its renewal in the seventh century to the end of the eleventh century is examined through the evidence of the remains of imported goods together with the changing function of the port and the development of berthing practices Ships and the Development of Maritime Technology on the Indian Ocean Ruth Barnes,David Parkin,2015-12-22 Recognising the fundamental role both of shipping communities and the technologies crafted and shared by them this book explores the types of ships methods of navigation and modes of water borne trade in the Indian Ocean region and the way they affected the development of distinctive settlements against a changing but strong sense of regional consciousness and identity Texas Tales and Tall Ships, Vol. 1 Malcom Lee Johnson,2021-08-02 Texas Tales and Tall Ships Vol 1 Texas History from 1528 1945 the End of WW 2 By Malcom Lee Johnson Texas Tales Tall Ships is a well documented book on the history of the region of the United States now known as Texas covering the time period from 1528 when Cabeza de Vaca arrived to the end of World War II in 1945 This well referenced and educational look into the past is an important work for understanding the history of Texas and how it has evolved into the Lone Star State Ships on Maps Richard W. from improved undersea technologies This second edition of Archaeology and the Social History of Ships has been updated throughout to reflect new findings and new interpretations of old sites The new edition explores advances in undersea technology in archaeology especially remotely operated vehicles The book reviews many of the major recent shipwreck findings including the Vasa in Stockholm the Viking wrecks at Roskilde Fjord and the Titanic

The Use of Living Space in Prehistory European Association of Archaeologists. Meeting, 2004 Living space may be defined as the territory where a certain group lived and foraged throughout the time reflected in its social memory and which is comprehended by this group as the territorial unit necessary for survival regardless of its geographic boundaries This is the space that provided a base in which to live and which was influenced by its explorers and thus reflected in some way in their spiritual life ideology and specific notions of identity Taking into account the organizational peculiarities and activities of prehistoric populations it becomes possible to distinguish the territorial temporal and purposeful structuring of each separate group living space This volume of conference proceedings presents a set of case studies covering periods from the Late Mousterian to Early Sarmatian times which help to conceptualise this notion as an important instrument for researchers engaged in the comprehensive investigation and interpretation of prehistoric societies

Movement, Exchange and Identity in Europe in the 2nd and 1st Millennia BC Anne Lehoërff, Marc Talon, 2017-07-31 This collection of papers by an international chort of contributors explores the nature of the maritime connections that appear to have existed in the Transmanche English Channel Zone during later prehistory Organised into three themes Movement and Identity in the Transmanche Zone Travel and exchange Identity and Landscape the papers seek to articulate notions of frontier mobility and identity from the end of the 3rd to the beginning of the 1st millennium BC a time when the archaeological evidence suggests that the sea facilitated connections between peoples on both sides of the Channel rather than acting as a barrier as it is so often perceived today Recent decades have since a massive increase in large scale excavation programmes on either side of the Channel in advance of major infra structure and urban development resulting in the acqusition of huge complex new datasets enabling new insights into later prehistoric life in this crucially important region Papers consider the role of several key archaeologists in transforming our appreciation of the connectivity of the sea in prehistory consider the extent to which the Channel zone developed into a closely unified cultural zone during later Bronze Age in terms of communities that serviced the movement of artefacts across the Channel with both sides sharing widely in the same artefacts and social practices examine funerary practices and settlement evidence and consider the relationship between communities in social cultural and ideological terms and consider mechanisms for the transmission of ideas and how they may be reflected in the archaeological record Brings together leading scholars from the UK and northern Europe in a thought provoking and revealing new examination of the relationship between communities in the Transmanche Zone in the Bronze and Iron Ages The premise is that the English Channel was a conduit for connectivity and exchange of ideas artefacts and social practices and rather than a barrier or frontier that had to be overcome before such connections could be fostered Abandoned Shipwreck Act of 1987; preserving wetlands, historic, and prehistoric sites in the St. Johns River Valley, FL; and highway relocation affecting the Chickamauga and Chattanooga National Military Park, GA United States. Congress. Senate. Committee on Energy and Natural Resources. Subcommittee on Public Lands, National Parks, and Forests, 1988 Space Travelers and the Genesis of the Human Form Joan D'Arc, 2000 Can Darwinian evolution actually prove that we are alone in the Universe This book illustrates that Darwinian evolution is not an empirically predictable or testable scientific paradigm Also shows that ancient artifacts on Mars and the Moon are evidence of Game Wardens in our own solar system Could the Earth be a controlled DNA repository for the ongoing creation and dissemination of life forms including humans The author puts forth compelling evidence in this well researched work The Black Ships Jonathon Fairall, 2025-01-03 Three men three voyages one century This book is about the beginning of the modern global order which was created around 1500 in one of the most marginal countries in Europe The Black Ships were the engines of the voyages of discovery which linked Europe to Asia for the first time The brutal men who sailed these ships were excited by neither the search for unknown lands nor by scientific curiosity but by the deadly contest between Christian and Muslim that consumed Europe for nearly a thousand years The men of Portugal determined that they would engage in the greatest and final crusade to rid the world of Islam To do so they forged new technologies that enabled them to cross oceans They never quite achieved their aims But they changed the world
