Spatial Context Of Technological Development:

The Spatial Context of Technological Development Riccardo Cappellin, Peter Nijkamp, 1990      Technological Change in a Spatial Context Enrico Ciciotti, Neil Alderman, Alfred Thwaites, 2012-12-06 This book represents a selection of contributions to the Regional Science Association European Summer Institute held at Arco Lake of Garda Italy from 17th to 23rd July 1988 on the theme of Theories and policies of technological development at the local level As such it forms a complementary volume to the collection of invited papers entitled The Spatial Context of Technological Development edited by Professors Riccardo Cappellin and Peter Nijkamp and published by Avebury Gower The Summer Institute covered a broad range of themes and contributions from over 100 researchers It has therefore not been our intention to represent or replicate these themes directly but to provide as wide an international coverage of current research in regional science in the field of technological change as possible The papers to be found in this book are drawn from the European Community Eastern Europe Scandinavia North America and elsewhere Inevitably as the book was to be published in English most of the editorial work has been undertaken at the Centre for Urban and Regional Development Studies at Newcastle University In so doing we have attempted to standardize the English as far as possible whilst trying not to lose the characteristics of the styles of the individual authors      Technological Change in a Spatial Context Enrico Ciciotti, Neil Alderman, Alfred

Development and Space Cristoforo S. Bertuglia, Manfred M. Fischer, Giorgio Preto, 2012-12-06 The pressures of global competition are affecting regions throughout the world and making it increasingly necessary to understand the complex underlying mechanisms and the potential for innovation offered by new technology Success in economic restructuring depends not only on the technology itself but the professional and entrepreneurial skills available and the support of provided by institutions and information networks The very local nature these phenomena which are critical to the innovative propensity of firms operating within the region introduces an inevitable spatial dimension The time therefore seems ripe to bring together contributions from scholars working in different but related disciplines with the aim of investigating the triangular relationship between technological change economic development and space The present volume offers a compact review of current theoretical developments and valuable insights deriving from recent empirical studies carried out both within Europe and elsewhere All those contributing to this volume are actively involved in research in the field Without their intellectual contribution and willingness to participate in this joint project the book would not have been possible We should like in addition to thank Angela Spence for her capable assistance in coordinating the various stages of preparation of the book as well as her translation work and careful linguistic editing Thanks also go to Paola Stasi for her meticulous copy editing and help in preparing the indices Their work has been invaluable in moulding together in a single volume contributions from so many different sources

Technological Change and Regional Development in Europe Ludwig Schätzl, Javier Revilla Diez, 2012-12-06 This book presents the findings of the extensive research programme funded by the Deutsche Forschungsgemeinschaft German Research Council and entitled Technological Change and Regional Development in Europe The goal of this programme was to carry out research by means of empirical surveys into the relationship between technological change and regional development Over a period of six years a total of 50 research projects have been undertaken in three phases each lasting two years This research programme has succeeded in actively involving leading German regional scientists from many universities as well as non university research institutions In addition numerous research projects were carried out in close co operation with internationally renowned partners We should like to express our gratitude for the support provided by the Deutsche Forschungsgemeinschaft Without their financial backing of the research programme it would not have been possible to undertake such an ambitious project Thanks also go to the contributors of this volume for their willingness to participate in our joint project We wish in addition to acknowledge the contribution of Prof Dr Philip Cooke whose refereeing of the chapters has enhanced the quality of the work presented here Finally our thanks go to Angela Spence for her expert editorial assistance linguistic editing and the preparation of the Index and also Franco Vaio for taking care of the technical aspects and production of the final copy Their combined efforts have been crucial for successfully bringing together contributions from so many different authors in a single volume

Frontiers in Regional Development Y. Gradus, Harvey Lithwick, 1996 In fifteen insightful new essays noted scholars in geography economics and public policy provide a comparative examination of the problems and prospects for development in frontier areas Blending theory with case studies the essays challenge the widely held notion that peripheral areas are marginal or backward

Diffusion of Technologies and Social Behavior Nebojsa Nakicenovic, Arnulf Grübler, 2013-03-14 Wee felt it before in sense but now we know it by science Edward Misselden 1623 The collective effort reported in this volume is the outcome of the diffusion of the idea of diffusion as a fundamental process in society The considerable number of disciplines represented here indicates the weight of the problem area The editors are to be congratulated for their initiative in drawing together present thinking at a vivid meeting now also in print An old timer in the business has not much to add But maybe some things bearing in mind that a Preface is a celebration and not a review As always with ideas it is hard to identify those who first gave shape to the idea of diffusion In a general sense it is probably an observation as old as human self reflection that groups of populations exchange ideas and copy habits and implements from each other Sometimes it has even been recommended as a Chinese proverb suggested millenia ago If you want to become a good farmer look at your neighbor

Handbook of Regional Growth and Development Theories Roberta Capello, Peter Nijkamp, 2019 Regional economics an established discipline for several decades has undergone a period of rapid change in the last ten years resulting in the emergence of several new perspectives At the same time the methodology of regional economics has also experienced some surprising developments This fully revised and updated Handbook brings together contributions looking at new pathways in regional economics written by many well known international scholars The aim is to present the most cutting edge theories explaining regional growth and local development The authors highlight the recent advances in theories the normative potentialities of these theories and the cross fertilization of ideas between regional and mainstream economists It will be an essential source of reference and information for both scholars and students in the field

Technology Transfer and Industrial Change in Europe H. Smith, E. Swyngedouw, 2000-03-23 This book critically examines the phenomenon and the consequences of the increasing inter dependence between industry universities and national laboratories It explores the contrasts and similarities between the patterns of formal and informal links in a technologically dynamic industry electronic components with those in a traditional industry flow measurement in the UK France and Belgium It uses evidence from interviews with firms academics and industry organisations in the three countries to identify the major factors which regulate links

The Dynamics of Innovative Regions Remigio Ratti, Alberto

Bramanti, Richard Gordon, 2019-01-04 First published in 1997 this volume originates from the fourth cycle of GREMI Groupe de Recherche Europ en sur les Milieux Innovateurs research focusing on territorial innovative processes and the competitive advantages of the complex socio economic fabric of milieu innovateurs The book is divided into three parts The first written by the editors deals specifically with the multi faced dimensions of local development placing particular emphasis on the role of territory in producing reproducing learning processes tacit codified knowledge storage and government structures The second part reports different case studies and their theoretical systematisation carried out with the same methodology by some ten quipes working in ten different European countries The last part is devoted to a more general view on the structural adjustment dynamics of innovative milieu raising useful questions of strategy and policy Territorial Patterns of Innovation Roberta Capello, Camilla Lenzi, 2013-07-18 This edited volume describes the spatial diffusion of knowledge and innovation using a large dataset at the regional level and presents scientific evidence on the role of knowledge and innovation on regional development The empirical results support a new design for innovation policies at the regional level which could help the European Union to achieve the targets set up in its 2020 Agenda Today financial capital general information consolidated technologies and codified knowledge are readily available virtually everywhere However the ability to organize these pervasive factors into continuously innovative production processes and products is by no means pervasive and generalized rather it exists selectively only in some places where tacit knowledge is continuously created exchanged and utilized and business ideas find their way to real markets Territorial Patterns of Innovation provides evidence that contrary to popular belief local knowledge intensity does not necessarily guarantee higher innovation performance Moreover the book shows that the growth benefits deriving from innovation do not necessarily match the strength of the formal local knowledge base and that regions innovating in the absence of a strong local knowledge base can be as successful as more knowledge intensive regions in turning innovation into a higher growth rate Together the contributions in this book offer a new understanding of the relationship between knowledge innovation and regional performance by delving beyond generally held beliefs It will be of value to regional scientists industrial economists and policymakers Innovative Behaviour in Space and Time Cristoforo S. Bertuglia, Silvana Lombardo, Peter Nijkamp, 2012-12-06 In the past decade there has been growing recognition that economic development is not mainly exogenously determined but to a large extent is a transformation process induced and governed by economic actors who respond to competitive institutional and political challenge This challenge and response model is increasingly accepted as a valid analytical framework in modern growth theory and also explains the popularity of endogenous growth approaches to technological innovation issues However a major and as yet largely under researched topic is the question of the diffusion and adoption of new technological changes in the context of space time dynamics This diffusion and adoption pattern has obviously clear spatial and temporal variations connected with behavioural responses which may vary over time and different locations This means that a closer analysis of spatio temporal opportunities and impediments is necessary in order to fully map the complex interactions of technology and economy in space and time This volume sets out to bring together a collection of original contributions commissioned by the editors to highlight the spatio temporal patterns and backgrounds of the diffusion and adoption of new technologies Some are in the nature of a survey others have a modelling background and again others are case studies The contributions originate from different countries and different disciplines This book is complementary to a previously published volume on technological innovation Technological Change Economic Development and Space edited by C S Bertuglia M M Fischer and G Preto and also published by Springer Verlag 1995 Elements D'analyse Des Systèmes Productifs Dans Le Bassin

Méditerranéen ,1992 New Technologies and the Firm Peter Swann,2018-04-09 Originally published in 1993 this book presents the findings of 14 teams involved in a research initiative to examine the initiation and response to innovation in firms It draws together the many strands which were discovered to influence the successful generation and adoption of new technologies The core issues in technology management are looked at including skills and expertise markets and marketing finance and the issue of technology collaboration both on a domestic and international basis Technology is shown to be at the very heart of corporate strategy and policy formation Theory of Urban Space Development Jin Duan,2024-08-29 This book is a systematic monograph on urban space development theory exploring the laws of urban space development and the basic principles of planning and design It clarifies the connotation and methods of urban space development research highlights the deep structure and four laws of urban space development expounds the obvious characteristics of urban and regional forms and discusses the interventional role of urban planning and the development mode of Chinese urban space It also discusses the methodological change of modern urban design and forms the principles and core content of China s national spatial planning Guided by the fundamental principles and methods of development theory this book follows logical progression from concept to method from deep structure to manifest form from macro to micro and from law to planning By providing readers with a comprehensive and systematic urban space development research system this book is a valuable read for both researchers and graduate students in urban studies and architectural design The translation was done with the help of artificial intelligence A subsequent human revision was done primarily in terms of content Spatially Variable Genes in Cancer: Development, Progression, and Treatment Response Raghavan, Ramya,2024-12-17 Spatial variable genes SVGs in cancer refer to genes that exhibit different expression levels or patterns across different regions or cells within a tumor Cancer associated fibroblasts CAFs are a crucial component of the tumor microenvironment TME playing a fundamental role in tumor progression metastasis and therapy response Identifying and characterizing SVGs can reveal novel targets for cancer treatment Combining spatial transcriptomics with other omics data can provide a more comprehensive picture of tumor biology Spatially Variable Genes in Cancer Development Progression and Treatment Response illuminates the heterogeneity within tumors challenging the traditional one size fits all approach The chapters examine how SVGs influence tumor biology and pave the way for novel diagnostic and therapeutic approaches Covering topics such as bioengineering gene expression and tumor initiation this book is an excellent resource for academicians researchers students oncologists medical professionals medical administrators scientists and more

Sacred Reality, Digital Simulation Enrico Beltramini, 2025-07-29 This study explores the relationship between the sacred and the virtual emphasizing the sacred as a divinely dependent consecrated space activated through ritual mediating between the profane and the holy The central argument is that the virtual is fundamentally incompatible with the ritual form a concept developed by Romano Guardini and others including Joseph Ratzinger which holds that the sacred is not merely acknowledged but made present through ritualized actions that require tangible participatory engagement Even if the virtual realm were acknowledged as real and retained both the bodily presence of the faithful and the Divine Presence the rite would still be ineffective Virtuality prevents the proper enactment of the rite rendering it ineffective At its core the ritual form is performative embodied and consecratory It requires physical presence material elements and a structured sequence of gestures symbols and words that together make the divine encounter possible Their absence in virtual spaces disrupts ritual form compromising its sacramental function

Manufacturing Culture Meric S. Gertler, 2004-02-19 Recent years have seen a lively debate over the role of tacit knowledge and interactive learning in privileging the local over the global Yet our continuing inability to answer questions such as when and why is the local important in production and innovation processes indicates that our understanding of the firm and the forces that shape its managers choices remains weak Such a theory ought to be able to answer fundamental questions like why do firms in particular places adopt particular production and innovation practices and not others What forces determine what a firm knows and when it is able to act upon this knowledge How easy is it to transfer this knowledge between places This book presents a new conception of industrial practice and firm behaviour It explains how the cultures that shape the practices of firms and the trajectories of regional and national economies are actually produced The analysis shows how the internal and inter firm organization of production use of technologies and the industrial knowledge underpinning these practices are strongly influenced by their social and institutional context Routine forms of behaviour are not simply inherited from past practice Instead they are shaped and constrained though not wholly determined by a set of institutions that govern how work is organized workers are deployed and technology is implemented Because of the slowly evolving nature of these institutions distinctive national models are not converging around a single global norm
