Dying Earth and Living Cosmos Rudolf Steiner,2015-08-19 These authoritative lectures delivered during a period of deep crisis and conflict in world history present a comprehensive spiritual teaching for contemporary humanity Despite the raging world war Rudolf Steiner was still actively touring Central Europe whilst simultaneously completing work on his architectural masterpiece the first Goetheanum in neutral Switzerland The building of the Goetheanum undertaken by a community of people from seventeen nations at war forms a thematic backdrop to the lectures In speaking of the walls in the new building for example Rudolf Steiner describes how their forms are not confining but rather express an openness to the surrounding cosmos Likewise the carved motifs on the architraves of the wooden pillars are not fixed symbols but are alive and continually metamorphosing These observations are reflected in Steiner s broader discussions He speaks of extending and deepening our connection with the world and the cosmos going beyond our usual narrow limits and definitions to engage in community with the realities of existence We can do this for example with the so called dead who find it difficult to relate to sense bound thinking Rudolf Steiner explains how we can connect with them greatly enriching our lives and making an enormous difference to their souls The distinction between fixed symbols and living motifs takes us to the core of anthroposophy striving never to rest in inert forms of thought In the field of education Steiner thus warns about external measuring of pupils and linear models of cognitive learning Throughout the three lecture courses included here which together form a kind of compendium of anthroposophy at the time Steiner touches upon a wealth of absorbing themes including the discovery of America the contrast between East and West the qualities of European folk souls Valentin Andreae's Chymical Wedding and Darwinism Regardless of his topic however Steiner consistently makes the urgent appeal that we grasp reality looking further than abstract schemes of all kinds such as social and political programmes to participate in the cosmos as conscious and fully human co creators The Call of the Twentieth Century... Henry Harrison Brown, 1904
