

Parizhskaya Kommuna 1938

The first Russian dreadnoughts were designed using experience of the Russian-Japanese war that predetermined a number of unusual features of the ships of this class. The basic requirement was brought together to providing of the maximum protection against HE shells therefore the armor covered all freeboard, but its thickness appeared less, than on battleships of other countries. Main gun arrangement became the second characteristic line of Russian dreadnoughts: in four triple turrets at regular intervals distributed on the ship length: such arrangement in Russian Naval Staff considered optimal for squadron battle. The design assignment was formulated by the end of 1907 then the international competition was declared. The design of the Baltic Works became the winner, and under it in 1909 4 ships were laid down: Sevastopol and Petropavlovsk on Baltic Works, Gangut and Poltava on New Admiralty.

Battleships of Sevastopol class had flush-decked low-freeboard hull with an icebreaking stem and a minimum of superstructures. 5.1m-high main belt covered all the hull length. Amidships (between end barbettes) its thickness was 225 mm, at ship ends 125mm, and abreast an aft bulkhead 100mm. The upper belt above had thickness of 125mm amidships and 75mm in a bow; only upper part of the side aft of aft barbette was unprotected. The main belt was closed with 100-125mm transverse bulkheads. Armor decks were three: 38mm upper, connected to an upper edge of the main belt, 25mm medium and 12mm main/low with 50mm slopes. Turrets had 203mm faces and sides, 350mm rears and 76mm roofs. Machinery consisted of 10 Parson turbines, arranged in three engine rooms, and working on 4 shafts. At 32000hp ships should make 21.75kts, and when forced at 42000hp 23kts.

Building of the ships was slow, and they were completed already after the First World War beginning in which practically did not participate. Gangut and Poltava in March 1918 were stricken from the fleet list and were put on long-term storage. Gangut was returned to the fleet in 1925. Poltava (renamed France 7.1.1926) suffered a fire in 1919, the ship was never repaired and scrapped in 1941. Parizhskaya Kommuna in 1929 was transferred to Black Sea.

In 1928-1938 all three survived battleships passed modernizations, receiving larger superstructures with fore funnel gracefully curved aft, and superstructure for the bow for seaworthiness improvement. Thus, the type and the form of a foremast and superstructures of all ships in this or that slightly differed. Also, turbines were completely replaced by the new ones intended for Izmail class battlecruisers, and new oil-burning boilers were installed. These measures allowed to keep speed at former level, despite the increased displacement. On trials Marat showed 23.8kts; Oktyabrskaya Revolyutsiya 22.87kts. Parizhskaya Kommuna received

Islamic Peoples Of The Soviet Union Shirin Akiner,2013-09-05 First published in 1987 The aim of this historical and statistical handbook is to answer three basic questions about the Islamic peoples of the USSR who they are where they are and how many of them there are It is convenient to speak of them as Soviet Muslims grouping them all together under a single collective heading but they are in fact quite disparate For this reason it was decided to treat each ethnic group individually here The Role of the Soviet Union in the Second World War Boris Sokolov,2013-04-24 This book investigates several controversial issues regarding the role of the Soviet Union and the performance of the Soviet government and Red Army to which the author provides some provocative answers The primary question explored by the author however regards the effectiveness of both the Red Army and of the Soviet military economy Dr Sokolov argues that the chief defect of the Soviet military economy was the disproportionate emphasis on the production of tanks and aircraft at the expense of transportation means and the means of command and control This leads the author to look at the role of Lend Lease during the war Through the delivery of radio sets trucks jeeps locomotives fuel explosives and so on the author concludes that Lend Lease was critical to the Red Army and that the Soviet Union would not have been able to wage a long war against Germany without the Lend Lease supplies a conclusion that defies decades of Soviet claims to the contrary Finally the author looks at the still very controversial and hot topic of Red Army losses in the war which was taboo for decades arguing that this is an effective measure of the Red Army s military performance He and other scholars have estimated that the Red Army s losses were on the scale of 27 million three times larger than the official estimates and approximately 10 times greater than the German losses on the Eastern Front He argues that such horrendous casualties and such an unfavorable ratio for the Red Army were the result of the relatively low value placed on human life in both the Russian Empire and the Soviet Union and the much more destructive nature of the Soviet totalitarian regime as compared with the Third Reich which cowed the Soviet generals and officers into total subservience Due to the elimination of all political opposition and the total control over people s lives soldiers and civilians could not protest against the crude tactics that resulted in such a very high rate of losses Dr Boris Sokolov is a prolific author and a member of the Russian branch of PEN International which celebrates literature and promotes freedom of expression In 2008 Dr Sokolov was forced to resign as Professor of Social Anthropology from his post at the Russian State Social University in Moscow at the demand of President Medvedev s administration after publishing an article about the 2008 Russian Georgian War The author of 69 books as of 2012 his work has focused on the history of the Second World War and has also written biographies of such prominent military and political leaders as Bulgakov Stalin Molotov Beria Tukhachevsky Rokossovsky and Zhukov In addition he has written numerous articles on history philology political science and economics A prominent specialist in the problems of military losses military economy and strategy he has given lectures in Russia Estonia Latvia and Denmark and his books and articles have been translated into numerous languages He currently resides in Moscow and is working on a biography of Marshal Rodion Malinovsky Stuart Britton is a freelance translator and editor residing in Cedar Rapids Iowa He has been responsible for making a growing number of Russian titles available to readers of the English language consisting primarily of memoirs by Red Army veterans and recent historical research concerning the Eastern Front of the Second World War and Soviet air operations in the Korean War Notable recent titles include Valeriy Zamulin s award winning Demolishing the Myth The Tank Battle at Prokhorovka Kursk July 1943 An Operational Narrative Helion 2011 Boris Gorbachevsky s Through the Maelstrom A Red Army Soldier s War on the Eastern Front 1942 45 University Press of Kansas 2008 and Yuri Sutiagin s and Igor Seidov s MiG Menace Over Korea The Story of Soviet Fighter Ace Nikolai Sutiagin Pen Sword Aviation 2009 Future books will include Svetlana Gerasimova s analysis of the prolonged and savage fighting against Army Group Center in 1942 43 to liberate the city of Rzhev and more of Igor Seidov s studies of the Soviet side of the air war in Korea 1951 1953 The Marcus Garvey and Universal Negro Improvement Association Papers, Vol. VII Marcus Garvey, 1983 Africa for the Africans was the name given in Africa to the extraordinary black social protest movement led by Jamaican Marcus Mosiah Garvey 1887 1940 Volumes I VII of the Marcus Garvey and Universal Negro Improvement Association Papers chronicled the Garvey movement that flourished in the United States during the 1920s Now the long awaited African volumes of this edition Volumes VIII and IX and a forthcoming Volume X demonstrate clearly the central role Africans played in the development of the Garvey phenomenon The African volumes provide the first authoritative account of how Africans transformed Garveyism from an external stimulus into an African social movement They also represent the most extensive collection of documents ever gathered on the early African nationalism of the inter war period Here is a detailed chronicle of the spread of Garvey s call for African redemption throughout Africa and the repressive colonial responses it engendered Volume VIII begins in 1917 with the little known story of the Pan African commercial schemes that preceded Garveyism and charts the early African reactions to the UNIA Volume IX continues the story documenting the establishment of UNIA chapters throughout Africa and presenting new evidence linking Garveyism and nascent Namibian nationalism

The American Nuclear Disarmament Dilemma, 1945-1963 David Tal,2008-09-25 the atomic bombs dropped on Hiroshima and Nagasaki in 1945 quickly ushered in a popular and political movement toward nuclear disarmament Across the globe heads of state high ranking ministers and bureaucrats led intense efforts to achieve effective disarmament agreements Ultimately these efforts failed In The American Nuclear Disarmament Dilemma David Tal offers a detailed analysis of U S policy from 1945 to the summer of 1963 exploring the reasons for failure and revealing the complex motivations that eventually led to the Limited Test Ban Treaty While previous books have focused on the policies of specific administrations Tal s is the first to consider negotiations as an evolving phenomenon that preoccupied three presidents from Truman to Kennedy Drawing on extensive archival research the author examines the profound dilemma faced by leaders on all sides forced by political pressure to engage in negotiations whose success they saw as injurious to national interests Far from believing that the nuclear arms race would inevitably lead to war the United States regarded nuclear weapons as the greatest guarantee that war would not happen

The International Politics of Eurasia: v. 10: The International Dimension of Post-communist Transitions in Russia and the New States of Eurasia S. Frederick Starr, Karen Dawisha, 2015-05-20 First Published in 2015 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an Informa company Molotov: A Biography D. Watson, 2005-08-16 This is the first comprehensive biography of Molotov and reflects the range of sources that have become available to historians since the fall of the USSR It is a commentary on Soviet history Molotov played his part in revolution Civil War Lenin's Russia Stalin's struggle with the oppositions collectivization industrialization the Terror the Great Patriotic War the beginnings of the Cold War and in the Khrushchev era The Cold War in the 1950s Nicolas Lewkowicz, 2024-03-12 The book claims that the United States and the Soviet Union attained the mastery of the international order by projecting universalist values that responded to the particularist markers of the domestic order that was generated in the 1950s The geopolitical orientation adopted by the superpowers in the 1950s was shaped by the way in which their societies developed politically socially and economically in the 1950s The main argument of this book is that the quest for the mastery of the international order that informed superpower relations in the 1950s was guided by the need to respond to the local circumstances that emerged in the United States and the Soviet Union The particularist markers that arose in the 1950s led to the establishment of a geopolitical project underpinned by certain universalist values that could be applied in order to build the superpowers sphere of influence

The Trade Union Movement in Soviet Russia International Labour Office, 1927 Finnish Yearbook of International Law, Volume 7 (1996) Martti Koskenniemi, Kari Takamaa, 2023-09-14 As of Volume VII 1996 The Finnish Yearbook will be published by Martinus Nijhoff Publishers Kluwer Law International Despite its Finnish initiative and pedigrees The Finnish Yearbook of International Law does not restrict itself to purely Finnish topics On the contrary it reflects the many connections in law between the national and the international The Finnish Yearbook of International Law annually publishes in both English and French articles of high quality dealing with all aspects of international law including international law aspects of European law with close attention to developments that affect Finland Its offerings include longer articles of a theoretical nature exploring new avenues and approaches shorter polemics commentaries on current international law developments book reviews and documentation of relevance to Finland's foreign relations not easily available elsewhere The Finnish Yearbook offers a fertile ground for the expression of and reflection on the connections between Finnish law and international law as a whole and insight into the richness of this interaction Once and Future Partners William C. Potter, Sarah Bidgood, 2018-10-09 Despite their Cold War rivalry the United States and the Soviet Union frequently engaged in joint efforts to prevent the spread of nuclear weapons Leaders in Washington and Moscow recognized that nuclear proliferation would serve neither country's interests even when they did not see eye to eye in many other areas They likewise understood why collaboration in mitigating this nuclear danger would serve both their own interests and those of the international community This volume examines seven little known examples of US Soviet cooperation for non proliferation including preventing South Africa from conducting a nuclear test developing international safeguards and export control guidelines and negotiating a draft convention banning radiological weapons It uses declassified and recently digitized archival material to explore in depth the motivations for and modalities for cooperation under often adverse political circumstances Given the current disintegration of Russian and US relations including in the nuclear sphere this history is especially worthy of review Accordingly the volume's final chapter is devoted to discussing how non proliferation lessons from the past can be applied today in areas most in need of US Russian cooperation
