Africa in Stereo Tsitsi Ella Jaji, 2014-01-10 Africa in Stereo analyzes how Africans have engaged with African American music and its representations in the long twentieth century 1890-2011 to offer a new cultural history attesting to pan-Africanism's ongoing and open theoretical potential Tsitsi Jaji argues that African American popular music appealed to continental Africans as a unit of cultural prestige a site of pleasure and most importantly an expressive form already encoded with strategies of creative resistance to racial hegemony Ghana Senegal and South Africa are considered as three distinctive sites where longstanding pan-African political and cultural affiliations gave expression to transnational black solidarity The book shows how such transnational ties fostered what Jaji terms stereomodernism Attending to the specificity of various media through which music was transmitted and interpreted poetry novels films recordings festivals live performances and websites

stereomodernism accounts for the role of cultural practice in the emergence of solidarity tapping music's capacity to refresh our understanding of twentieth century black transnational ties
