Artificial Gravity Gilles Clément,Angeli Bukley,2007-05-28 William H Paloski Ph D Human Adaptation and Countermeasures Office NASA Johnson Space Center Artificial gravity is an old concept having gotten its start in the late in the 19th century when Konstantin Tsiolkovsky considered by many to be the father of the Russian space program realized that the human body might not respond well to the free fall of orbital space flight To solve this problem he proposed that space stations be rotated to create centripetal accelerations that might provide inertial loading similar to terrestrial gravitational loading Einstein later showed in his equivalence principle that acceleration is indeed indistinguishable from gravity Subsequently other individuals of note including scientists like Werner von Braun as well as artists like Arthur C Clarke and Stanley Kubrick devised elaborate solutions for spinning vehicles to provide artificial gravity that would offset the untoward physiological consequences of spaceflight By 1959 concerns about the then unknown human responses to spaceflight drove NASA to consider the necessity of incorporating artificial gravity in its earliest human space vehicles Of course owing in part to the relatively short durations of the planned missions artificial gravity was not used in the early NASA programs

Scientific Mythologies James A. Herrick,2008-01-01 What does science have to do with science fiction What does science fiction have to do with scientists What does religion have to do with science and science fiction In the spiritual vacuum of our post Christian West new mythologies continually arise The sources of much religious speculation however may be surprising Author James Herrick directs our attention to a wide range of scientists filmmakers science fiction writers and religious philosophers and discovers there the role that science and science fiction have played in such mythmaking From scientists such as Francis Bacon Francis Crick Carl Sagan and Freeman Dyson to filmmakers such as George Lucas and Steven Spielberg to science fiction writers such as Olaf Stapledon Sir Arthur C Clarke Robert Heinlein and Isaac Asimov Herrick finds a curious collusion of science with science fiction for promoting and justifying alternative spiritualities The rise of these new mythologies he argues is no longer a curiosity at the edge of Western culture This alchemy is catalyzing a religious vision of new gods a new humanity and alien races with superior intelligence and secret knowledge This new mythology overshadows the realms of politics science and religion Should we follow such visions Does science endorse these mythologies Are we being offered a spirituality superior to the Judeo Christian tradition This book will help you decide
