Space Time And Man A Prehistorians View:

Space, Time and Man Grahame Clark, 1994-03-25 A remarkable account of man's understanding of his place in space and time from prehistory to the present      Space and Time in Mediterranean Prehistory Stella Souvatzi, Athena Hadji, 2013-10-15 Space and Time in Mediterranean Prehistory addresses these two concepts as interrelated rather than as separate categories and as a means for understanding past social relations at different scales The need for this volume was realised through four main observations the ever growing interest in space and spatiality across the social sciences the comparative theoretical and methodological neglect of time and temporality the lack in the existing literature of an explicit and balanced focus on both space and time and the large amount of new information coming from prehistoric Mediterranean It focuses on the active and interactive role of space and time in the production of any social environment drawing equally on contemporary theory and on case studies from Mediterranean prehistory Space and Time in Mediterranean Prehistory seeks to break down the space time continuum often assumed rather than inferred into space time units and to uncover the varying and variable interrelations of space and time in prehistoric societies across the Mediterranean The volume is a response to the dissatisfaction with traditional views of space and time in prehistory and revisits these concepts to develop a timely integrative conceptual and analytical framework for the study of space and time in archaeology      The Drake Equation

Douglas A. Vakoch, Matthew F. Dowd, 2015-07-02 In this compelling book leading scientists and historians explore the Drake Equation which guides modern astrobiology's search for life beyond Earth First used in 1961 as the organising framework for a conference in Green Bank West Virginia it uses seven factors to estimate the number of extraterrestrial civilisations in our galaxy Using the equation primarily as a heuristic device this engaging text examines the astronomical biological and cultural factors that determine the abundance or rarity of life beyond Earth and provides a thematic history of the search for extraterrestrial life Logically structured to analyse each of the factors in turn and offering commentary and critique of the equation as a whole contemporary astrobiological research is placed in a historical context Each factor is explored over two chapters discussing the pre conference thinking and a modern analysis to enable postgraduates and researchers to better assess the assumptions that guide their research      Foundations for Sociorhetorical Exploration Vernon K.

Robbins, Robert H. von Thaden Jr., Bart B. Bruehler, 2016-09-02 Engaging resources for understanding the importance of bodies and spaces in producing and interpreting persuasive language This volume collects essays that represent intellectual milestones that are informing sociorhetorical interpretation during the twenty first century The essays are arranged into five parts 1 Topos 2 Cultural Geography and Critical Spatiality 3 Rhetorolects and Conceptual Blending 4 Rhetography and 5 Rhetorical Force Features Tools for integrating multiple approaches to biblical interpretation Resources that emphasize the importance of language that prompts mental pictures in effective rhetoric Essays from classicists rhetoricians and biblical scholars      Social Identity Richard Jenkins, 2014-05-09 Social Identity explains how identification seen as a social process works individually interactionally and institutionally Building on the international success of previous editions this fourth edition offers a concise comprehensive and readable critical introduction to social science theories of identity for advanced undergraduates and postgraduates All the chapters have been updated and extra new material has been added where relevant integrating the most recent critical publications in the field As with the earlier editions the emphasis is on sociology anthropology and social psychology on the interplay between relationships of similarity and difference on interaction on the categorisation of others as well as self identification and on power institutions and organisations Written in clear accessible language and informed by relevant topical examples throughout this fully updated new edition will be useful for students interested in social identity throughout the social sciences and humanities

Social Identity , Bioregion and Indigeneity in Literary Imagination Aleena Manoharan,2023-06-16 This book highlights the representation of the interface between nature and culture in literary texts and argues that bioregional exegesis of indigenous literatures sensitizes us to place based cultural nuances and can contribute to alleviating the eco cultural apartheid of the modern era Though the bioregional concept has been in vogue since 1970s it has not been adequately adopted into the field of literary criticism This book is a comprehensive study on the concept of the bioregion and is distinctive in three ways Firstly it argues that the bioregional concept hitherto used as a socio political tool can be theorized as an ecocritical tool to employ when reading literary works Secondly it provides a detailed analysis of the concept of bioregion marking out its characteristic features Thirdly in choosing to deal with Aboriginal plays the book again exhibits its distinctiveness in demonstrating how ecocritical concepts which hitherto have focused primarily on prose fictional works can be extended to magnify the scope of plays and performances

The Torah and the Stoics on humankind and nature J.J. Boersema,2021-09-06 The environmental problematique is intimately bound up with deep seated human attitudes regarding our relationship with nature Here in the west those attitudes have been shaped to no small degree by the canonical texts of the Bible and the classical philosophers In this book the author re examines some of these seminal texts arguing that what we today know as Christian cosmology is in fact a grafting of classical Greek philosophy onto ancient Israelite thought with certain valuable traditions being all but lost in the process The dietary laws of Leviticus and Deuteronomy in particular still prove surprisingly relevant today Often misread on this point the creation narratives of Genesis can likewise serve as a rich point of departure for examining our attitudes towards the natural world A reappraisal of these sources is necessary and feasible There is no need for an appeal to cosmologies alien to our own culture nor for recourse to New Age beliefs in all their variety

Archives and Emotions Ilaria Scaglia,Valeria Vanesio,2024-11-14 Archives and Emotions argues at its most fundamental level that emotions matter and have always mattered to both the people whose histories are documented by archives and to those working with the documents these contain This is the first study to put archivists and historians scholars and practitioners from different settings geographical provenance and stages of career in conversation with one another to examine the interplay of a broad range of emotions and archives traditional and digital from the eighteenth to the twenty first centuries across national and disciplinary borders Drawing on methodologies from the history of emotions and critical archival studies this book provides an original analysis of two interconnected themes through a selected number of case studies the emotional dynamics affecting the construction and management of archives and the emotions and their effects on the people engaging with them such as archivists researchers and a broad range of communities Its main message is that critically investigating the history and mechanics of emotions including their suppression and exclusion also being conscious of their effects on people and societies is essential to understanding how archives came to hold deep civic and ethical implications for both present and future This study thus establishes a solid base for future scholarship and interdisciplinary collaborations and challenges academic and non academic readers to think work and train new generations differently fully aware that past and present choices have and might again hurt inspire empower or silence

Topographies of Power in the Early Middle Ages

The Future of Events & Festivals Ian Yeoman, Martin Robertson, Una McMahon - Beattie, Elisa Backer, Karen A. Smith, 2014-08-13 The growth of events and festivals has been significant over the last decade and a wide range of skills are essential to ensure those events are successful This requirement has been instrumental in stimulating the creation of more tertiary education opportunities to develop events management knowledge As the discipline develops knowledge requires direction in order to understand the changing advances in society This is the first book to take a futures approach to understanding event management A systematic and pattern based understanding is used to determine the likelihood of future events and trends Using blue skies scenarios to provide a vision of the future of events not only capturing how the events industry is changing but also important issues that will affect events now as well as the future Chapters include analysis of sustainability security impacts of social media design at both mega event and community level and review a good range of different types of events from varying geographical regions A final section captures the contributions of each chapter through the formation of a conceptual map for a future research agenda Written by leading academics in the field this ground breaking book will be a valuable reference point for educators researchers and industry professionals

Biotic Homogenization Julie L. Lockwood, Michael L. McKinney, 2001-05-31 Biological homogenization is the dominant process

shaping the future global biosphere As global transportation becomes faster and more frequent it is inevitable that biotic intermixing will increase Unique local biotas will become extinct only to be replaced by already widespread biotas that can tolerate human activities This process is affecting all aspects of our world language economies and ecosystems alike The ultimate outcome is the loss of uniqueness and the growth of uniformity In this way fast food restaurants exist in Moscow and Java Sparrows breed on Hawaii Biological homogenization qualifies as a global environmental catastrophe The Earth has never witnessed such a broad and complete reorganization of species distributions

Theory in Archaeology Peter J.

Ucko,2005-08-10 Theory in Archaeology tackles important questions about the diversity in archaeological theory and practice which face the discipline in the 1990s What is the relationship between theory and practice How does World archaeological theory differ from European Can one be a good practitioner without theory This unique book brings together contributors from many different countries and continents to provide the first truly global perspective on archaeological theory They examine the nature of material culture studies and look at problems of ethnicity regionalism and nationality They consider too another fundamental of archaeological inquiry can our research be objective or must the past always be a relativistic construction Theory in Archaeology is an important book whose authors bring together very different perceptions of the past Its wide scope and interest will attract an international readership among students and academics alike A Primer on

Human Impacts on the Environment Liam Heneghan,2023-03-14 An insightful and illuminating discussion of the impact humans have had on Earth In A Primer on Human Impacts on the Environment The Conceptual Approach distinguished environmental scientist Liam Heneghan explores the intricate relationships between humanity and Earth in an accessible and engaging style Replete with real world examples and drawing from classic and contemporary scholarship the author adapts the fundamental conceptual models of the environmental disciplines to assess the risks human beings are taking with their home planet The conceptual approach of this primer challenges readers to think across multiple disciplines to reveal the big picture that is all too often lost in the details of contemporary environmental studies Readers will also find A thorough introduction to conceptual modeling showing how systems models can be adapted and applied in a rapidly changing world Comprehensive explorations of the human impact on the Earth including an examination of possible ecological limits and planetary boundaries In depth evaluations of environmental risks especially though not limited to climate change and biodiversity loss A guide to contemplating catastrophic risk and the potential for societal collapse without inducing unnecessary anxiety An interdisciplinary focus emphasizing the role of the natural and social sciences as well as the arts and humanistic disciplines in safeguarding the future Perfect for students of environmental science and environmental studies A Primer on Human Impacts on the Environment will also earn a place in the libraries of graduate students working on environmental themes and practicing professionals in the environmental management community Grahame Clark Brian

Fagan,2018-07-03 The British archaeologist Grahame Clark was a seminal figure in European and world archaeology for more than half of the twentieth century but at the same time one whose reputation has been outshone by other more visible luminaries His works were never aimed at a wide general public nor did he become a television or radio personality Clark was above all a scholar whose contributions to world archaeology were enormous He was also convinced that the study of prehistory was important for all humanity and spent his career saying so For this he was awarded the prestigious Erasmus Prize in 1990 an award only rarely given to archaeologists This intellectual biography describes Clark s remarkable career and assesses his seminal contributions to archaeology Clark became interested in archaeology while at school studied the subject at Cambridge University and completed a groundbreaking doctorate on the Mesolithic cultures of Britain in 1931. He followed this study with a magisterial survey The Mesolithic Settlement of Northern Europe 1936 which established him as an international authority on the period. At the same time he became interested in the interplay between changing ancient environment and ancient human societies. In a series of excavations and important papers he developed environmental archaeology and the notion of ecological systems as a foundation of scientific multidisciplinary archaeology culminating in his world famous excavations at Starr Carr, England in 1949 and his Prehistoric Europe: The Economic Basis 1952. Clark became Disney Professor of Public Archaeology at Cambridge in 1952 and influenced an entire generation of undergraduates to become archaeologists in all parts of the world. He was also the author of the first book on a global human prehistory World Prehistory 1961.

Inuit in Cyberspace Neil Blair Christensen, 2003. In this cyber ethnography Neil Blair Christensen explores the processes by which a wide selection of personal, local, cultural and national identities are expressed and understood on the Internet. The different Inuit peoples of the circumpolar Arctic have always taken active part in the world but their contemporary use of Internet has affected even more their relative isolation, one that comes from living in a peripheral region of the world. Yet Inuit and others are constructing web pages with social and physical references that sustain an imagined Arctic remoteness, a logic that seems to be a key aspect of Inuit identities and cultures. The book brings together in analysis and discussion the realities of contemporary Inuit, the myth of cyberspace and a selection of dynamic strategies for identification. It concludes that Inuit dynamically remain Inuit in all their diversity regardless of an imagined compression of time and space, their use of changing technologies or participation in enlarged social networks.

The Puzzle of the Western Zodiac: Its Wisdom and Evolutionary Leaps Alex A. Gurshtein, 2017-12-29. Though familiar to all, the twelve strong Western Zodiac remains an enigmatic artifice of the archaic past. To date no scholar has been able to determine who conjured up its constellations and when this might have happened. Nor do we know what the grand design behind this innovative endeavor might have been. This book however goes a long way towards answering those questions by combining together a variety of clues from multiple disciplines including astronomy, archaeology and linguistics. It provides a comprehensive framework that greatly expands our understanding of the genesis and purposes of this remarkable intellectual relic of our cultural heritage. The book's overarching outcome is that the zodiacal necklace in the sky appeared gradually over time in three different stages, with each reflecting the immanent social and spiritual concerns of its time. It provides a fundamental impact to reconsider our understanding of prehistory. No special knowledge is necessary to understand this captivating writing.

Landscapes of Neolithic Ireland Gabriel Cooney, 2012-12-06. Landscapes of Neolithic Ireland is the first volume to be devoted solely to the Irish Neolithic using an innovative landscape and anthropological perspective to provide significant new insights on the period. Gabriel Cooney argues that the archaeological evidence demonstrates a much more complex picture than the current orthodoxy on Neolithic Europe with its assumption of mobile lifestyles suggests He integrates the study of landscape settlement agriculture material culture and burial practice to offer a rounded realistic picture of the complexities and the realities of Neolithic lives and societies in Ireland

Archaeological Method and Theory Linda Ellis, 2003-12-16 This Encyclopedia brings together the most recent scientific information on a collection of subjects that are too often and inconveniently treated in separate publications It provides a survey of archaeological method and theory as well as the application of physical and biological sciences in archaeological research Every aspect of archaeological work is represented from the discovery process to the ultimate disposition of materials Thus the reader will find entries on subject matter covering disciplinary theory legislation affecting the work of archaeologists pre excavation surveying excavation methodology on site conservation techniques post excavation analysis The rapid evolution of analytical technology is often superficially treated or not covered at all in textbooks or other commonly available sources Here the latest refinements in techniques such as radiometric dating stable isotopic analysis and the PCR technique of DNA analysis are presented clearly and authoritatively The discussion of these techniques is amplified by including results of the work of professionals conducting interdisciplinary research and by covering the methodological enhancements provided by the physical and natural sciences Cultural property legislation regardless of its country of origin has affected how archaeologists conduct their work This encyclopedia covers all major U S legislation developed for the protection of cultural property including the recent Native American Graves Protection and Repatriation Act and offers a substantial article on worldwide legislation concerning the reburial of human remains and its effects on the present and future practice of archaeology Without some sort of conservation program at the point of excavation valuable materials may be inadvertently contaminated or destroyed Many simple and low cost techniques to promote both sample integrity and long term preservation for major classes of materials are described in this volume Traditional treatments of method and theory usually focus on prehistoric periods and are limited in their geographic range This volume includes discussions based on various historical periods on different continents as reflected in entries such as Historical Archaeology Industrial Archaeology Medieval Archaeology and Classical Archaeology
