101 Outer Space Jokes, How to Make a Spaceship Julian Guthrie, 2017-09-05 A New York Times bestseller The historic race that reawakened the promise of manned spaceflight Winner of the 2016 Eugene E Emme Award for Astronautical Literature A Finalist for the PEN E O Wilson Literary Science Writing Award Alone in a Spartan black cockpit test pilot Mike Melvill rocketed toward space He had eighty seconds to exceed the speed of sound and begin the climb to a target no civilian pilot had ever reached He might not make it back alive If he did he would make history as the world's first commercial astronaut The spectacle defied reason the result of a competition dreamed up by entrepreneur Peter Diamandis whose vision for a new race to space required small teams to do what only the world's largest governments had done before Peter Diamandis was the son of hardworking immigrants who wanted their science prodigy to make the family proud and become a doctor But from the age of eight when he watched Apollo 11 land on the Moon his singular goal was to get to space When he realized NASA was winding down manned space flight Diamandis set out on one of the great entrepreneurial adventure stories of our time If the government wouldn't send him to space he would create a private space flight industry himself In the 1990s this idea was the stuff of science fiction Undaunted Diamandis found inspiration in an unlikely place the golden age of aviation He discovered that Charles Lindbergh made his transatlantic flight to win a 25 000 prize The flight made Lindbergh the most famous man on earth and galvanized the airline industry Why Diamandis thought couldn't the same be done for space flight The story of the bullet shaped SpaceShipOne and the other teams in the hunt is an extraordinary tale of making the impossible possible It is driven by outsized characters Burt Rutan Richard Branson John Carmack Paul Allen and obsessive pursuits In the end as Diamandis dreamed the result wasn't just a victory for one team it was the foundation for a new industry and a new age

Nineteenth-Century Magazines Maria Damkjær, 2024-11-25 What makes fiction recognizable as fiction Texts are shaped by their material print but this book argues that they can also be made in response to it that the needs of the magazine in the nineteenth century spurred writers to create hybrid entangled texts Using book history genre theory and literary close reading this book argues that narrative fiction in the nineteenth century popular periodical was a malleable substance By looking at typography and the attempts to squeeze in too much text or stretch out too little text the book asks what the relationship was between the page that needed filling and the short story that tried to fill it In the messy hybrids and outliers we explore what fiction might have become The book works with magazines like the Englishwoman's Domestic Magazine first series 1852-59 the Family Herald 1842-1945 the Home Circle 1849-54 and authors like Elizabeth Gaskell George Augustus Sala and Samuel Beeton It also includes a chapter on Charles Dickens's arguably least successful venture Master Humphrey's Clock 1840-1 where Dickens was noticeably straining to sell and fill a weekly magazine While the book is not attempting to destabilise the status of canonical fiction it does ask how the page makes fiction happen what kind of readers magazines imagined for themselves and what readers thought they were reading when they picked up an issue The book argues that magazines projected a print imaginary a symbolic realm where the magazine fits perfectly into the lives of happy active readers
