Placelessness Revisited Robert Freestone,Edgar Liu,2016-07-15 Since its publication in 1976 Ted Relph s Place and Placelessness has been an influential text in thinking about cities and city life across disciplines including human geography sociology architecture planning and urban design For four decades ideas put forward by this seminal work have continued to spark debates from the concept of placelessness itself through how it plays out in our societies to how city designers might respond to its challenge in practice Drawing on evidence from Australian British Japanese and North and South American urban settings Place and Placelessness Revisited is a collection of cutting edge empirical research and theoretical discussions of contemporary applications and interpretations of place and placelessness It takes a multi disciplinary approach including contributions from across the breadth of disciplines in the built environment architecture environmental psychology geography landscape architecture planning sociology and urban design in critically re visiting placelessness in theory and its relevance for twenty first century contexts The Geography of the Everyday Rob Sullivan, 2017-12-15 Anthropologists psychologists feminists and sociologists have long studied the everyday the quotidian the taken for granted however geographers have lagged behind in engaging with this slippery aspect of reality Now Rob Sullivan makes the case for geography as a powerful conceptual framework for seeing the everyday anew and for pushing back against its givenness its capacity to so fade into the background that it controls us in dangerously unexamined ways Drawing on a number of theorists Foucault Goffman Marx Lefebvre H gerstrand and others Sullivan unpacks the concepts and perceived realities that structure everyday life while grounding them in real world cases such as Nigeria s troubled oil network the working poor in the United States China s urban villages and ultra high end housing in London and Cairo In examining the everyday from a geographical perspective Sullivan ranges widely across time space history geography Marxian reproduction the body and the geographical mind The everyday Sullivan suggests is where change occurs and where resistance to change can begin By locating the everyday through geography we can help to make change possible Whatever the issue be it struggles over race LGBT rights class inequality or global warming the transformations required to achieve social justice all begin with transformation of the everyday order

The Killing of Cambodia: Geography, Genocide and the Unmaking of Space James A. Tyner, 2017-05-15 Between 1975 and 1978 the Khmer Rouge carried out genocide in Cambodia unparalleled in modern history Approximately 2 million died almost one quarter of the population Taking an explicitly geographical approach this book argues whether the Khmer Rouge s activities not only led to genocide but also terracide the erasure of space In the Cambodia of 1975 the landscape would reveal vestiges of an indigenous pre colonial Khmer society a French colonialism and American intervention The Khmer Rouge however were not content with retaining the past inscriptions of previous modes of production and spatial practices Instead they attempted to erase time and space to create their own utopian vision of a communal society The Khmer Rouge s erasing and reshaping of space was thus part of a consistent sacrifice of Cambodia and its people a brutal justification for the killing of a country and the birth of a new place Democratic Kampuchea While focusing on Cambodia the book provides a clearer geographic understanding to genocide in general and insights into the importance of spatial factors in geopolitical conflict

Muslim Spaces of Hope Richard Phillips,2013-07-04 Debates about contemporary Islam and Muslims in the West have taken some negative turns in the depressing atmosphere of the war on terror and its aftermath This book argues that we have been too preoccupied with problems not enough with solutions The increased mobilisation and scrutiny of Muslim identities has taken place in the context of a more general recasting of racial ideas and racism a shift from overtly racial to ostensibly ethnic and cultural including religious categories within discourses of social difference The targeting of Muslims has been associated with new forms of an older phenomenon imperialism New divisions between Muslims and others echo colonial binaries of black and white colonised and coloniser within practices of divide and rule This book speaks to others who have been marginalised and colonised and to wider debates about social difference oppression and liberation
