Medieval Spain, A.D. 500-1200 Metropolitan Museum of Art (New York, N.Y.), 1993 Apocalyptic Ecology Micah D. Kiel, 2017-08-03 The author of the book of Revelation struggled as we do today to live out a Christian faith in the context of an empire that trampled and destroyed the earth and its creatures In this book Micah D Kiel will look at how and why Revelation was written along with how it has been interpreted across the centuries to come to an understanding of its potential contribution to a modern environmental ethic While the book of Revelation is replete with images of destruction of the earth Kiel shows readers through Revelation's ancient context a message of hope that calls for the care of and respect for the environment The Miniatures and Meters of the Old English Genesis, MS Junius 11 Seiichi Suzuki, 2023-05-22 The Old English Genesis is the sole illustrated Anglo Saxon poem In full appreciation of this unique concurrent execution of visualization and versification in a single manuscript this multidisciplinary work explores the pictorial Vol 1 and the metrical Vol 2 organization from both synchronic structural and diachronic comparative perspectives Among the most significant findings of each volume are The first twenty two images in the Old English Genesis originated on the whole from the Touronian Bibles and the underlying classical Old English and Old Saxon meters were interactively reshaped through mutual adaptation and recomposition aimed at their firm integration into a synthesized Old English Genesis While each part is solidly embedded in the respective scholarly tradition and pursues its own disciplinary concerns and problematics vigorous formal and cognitive reasoning and theorizing run commonly through both. By way of mutual corroboration and integration the twin volumes eventually converge on the hypothesis that the earliest portion of the extant Old English Genesis lines 1-966 derived from the corresponding episodes of an illustrated Tournon Old Saxon Genesis in both pictorial and metrical terms. The Book of Revelation and Its Interpreters Ian Boxall, Richard Tresley, 2015-11-25. The Book of Revelation has fired the imaginations of theologians, preachers, artists, and ordinary Christians across the centuries. The resulting number of commentaries on the book is enormous and most studies can only touch upon at most a representative sample of this vast literature. As a consequence many focus largely on the interpretation of the Apocalypse only within specific periods such as the patristic period or during the Reformation. One result of this severe limitation given the vast literary corpus is how historical interpretations in critical commentaries of the Book of Revelations tend to prioritize authors from the modern period. In The Book of Revelation and Its Interpreters: Short Studies and an Annotated Bibliography editors Richard Tresley and Ian Boxall fill a significant gap in the scholarly literature. At its heart is an extensive annotated bibliography covering commentaries on the book up to 1700 including most of the early illuminated Apocalypses. Supporting the presentation of this survey of the historical interpretations of the Book of Revelation is an extended overview of Revelation's often colorful reception history by Christopher Rowland together with a number of short studies on various aspects of the book. These include discussions of specific commentators such as Sean Michael Ryan's look at Tyconius and Francis X. Gumerlock's exploration of Chromatius of Aquileia alongside a more general treatment of Revelation's impact on the figure of John of Patmos in an essay by Ian Boxall and the visual reception of Revelation in Natasha O'Hear's article. The Book of Revelation and Its Interpreters provides a valuable bibliographical resource for those working in the field of Biblical Studies, history of Christianity, eschatology, and apocalyptic studies. The accompanying essays orient the authors recorded in the bibliography within a larger context offering specific examples of the Apocalypse's capacity to speak in fresh and often surprising ways to diverse audiences throughout history. The Alchemical Virgin Mary in the Religious and Political Context of the Renaissance Urszula Szulakowska, 2017-05-11. This study explores the survival of Roman Catholic doctrine and visual imagery in the alchemical treatises composed by members of the Lutheran and Anglican confessions during the Renaissance and Early Modern periods. It discusses the reasons for such unexpected confessional survivals in a time of extreme Protestant iconoclasm and religious reform. The book presents an analysis of the manner in which Catholic doctrines concerning the Virgin Mary, the Holy Trinity, and the Eucharist were an essential factor in the development of alchemical theory and illustration from the medieval period to the seventeenth century. The role of the Joachimites, radical members of the Franciscan Order in the history of alchemy, is an important issue. The Apocalypse of St. John, the Book of Revelation, and other scriptural texts, and specifically Roman Catholic Marian devotions, are also considered regarding their influences on late medieval alchemy and on the sixteenth and seventeenth century alchemical literature composed by Protestants. Additional issues explored here include the role played by alchemy in strengthening the leaders of the European defence against the invading Ottoman Turks as well as the importance of the figure of the Virgin Mary as the Apocalyptic Woman in the same cause. Special consideration is given to the role played by the apocalyptic Mary within alchemical texts and pictures as an emblem of the mercurial quintessence and also in her form as the Bride of the scriptural Wisdom books which also entered alchemical discourse. Additional issues discussed in this book include the little regarded problem of confessional alchemy namely whether there were distinct Protestant and Roman Catholic types of alchemy. The treatises under consideration include the Buch der Heiligen Dreifaltigkeit 1419 1433 the Rosarium Philosophorum 1550 Reusner's Pandora 1582 1588 and the Pandora of Faustus 1706 as well as the work of Michael Maier Robert Fludd Johann Daniel Mylius Jacob Boehme and pseudo Nicolas Flamel among many others. Their works are contextualised within the religious reforms instigated by Martin Luther as well as within the unorthodox radical theology devised by Paracelsus and his alchemical followers. The Marian theology of Paracelsus is also of particular interest here.

Pictorial Narrative in the Romanesque Cloister Pamela Anne Patton, 2004 Praised as paradisiacal or denounced as impious fantasy the sculpture of Romanesque cloisters played a powerful role in medieval monastic life. This book demonstrates how sculpture in the cloister the physical and spiritual heart of the religious foundation could be shrewdly configured to articulate the most influential ideals and experiences of its individual community. Taking as its focus the visually rich highly organized narrative programs of three twelfth century Spanish cloisters this book reveals the power of such imagery to reflect and reinforce the social and spiritual preoccupations of its age.

Meaning and Representation in History Jörn Rüsen, 2006-08-01 History has always been more than just the past. It involves a relationship between past and present perceived on the one hand as a temporal chain of events and on the other symbolically as an interpretation that gives meaning to these events through varying cultural orientations charging it with norms and values hopes and fears. And it is memory that links the present to the past and therefore has to be seen as the most fundamental procedure of the human mind that constitutes history. Memory and historical thinking are the door of the human mind to experience. At the same time it transforms the past into a meaningful and sense bearing part of the present and beyond. It is these complex interrelationships that are the focus of the contributors to this volume among them such distinguished scholars as Paul Ricoeur Johan Galtung Eberhard Lammert and James E. Young. Full of profound insights into human society past and present it is a book that not only historians but also philosophers and social scientists should engage with.

Meetings with Remarkable Manuscripts Christopher de Hamel, 2019-11-12 An extraordinary and beautifully illustrated exploration of the medieval world through twelve manuscripts from one of the world's leading experts. Winner of The Wolfson History Prize and The Duff Cooper Prize. A San Francisco Chronicle Holiday Book.

Gift Guide Pick Meetings with Remarkable Manuscripts is a captivating examination of twelve illuminated manuscripts from the medieval period. Noted authority Christopher de Hamel invites the reader into intimate conversations with these texts to explore what they tell us about nearly a thousand years of medieval history and about the modern world too. In so doing, de Hamel introduces us to kings, queens, saints, scribes, artists, librarians, thieves, dealers, and collectors. He traces the elaborate journeys that these exceptionally precious artifacts have made through time and shows us how they have been copied, how they have been embroiled in politics, how they have been regarded as objects of supreme beauty and as symbols of national identity, and who has owned them or lusted after them, and how we can tell. From the earliest book in medieval England to the incomparable Book of Kells to the oldest manuscript of the Canterbury Tales, these encounters tell a narrative of intellectual culture and art over the course of a millennium. Two of the manuscripts visited are now in libraries of North America: the Morgan Library in New York and the Getty Museum in Los Angeles. Part travel book, part detective story, part conversation with the reader, Meetings with Remarkable Manuscripts allows us to experience some of the greatest works of art in our culture to give us a different perspective on history and on how we come by knowledge.

The Medieval Iberian Treasury in the Context of Cultural Interchange (Expanded Edition), 2020-11-16. The Medieval Iberian Treasury in the Context of Cultural Interchange expanded beyond the special issue of Medieval Encounters from which it was drawn, centers on the magnificent treasury of San Isidoro de León to address wider questions about the meanings of cross-cultural luxury goods in royal ecclesiastical settings during the central Middle Ages. Now fully open access and with an updated introduction to ongoing research, an additional chapter, composite bibliographies, and indices, this multidisciplinary volume opens fresh ways into the investigation of medieval objects and textiles through historical art, historical and technical analyses. Carbon 14 dating, iconography, and social history are among the methods applied to material and textual evidence together, shining new light on the display of rulership in medieval Iberia. Contributors are Ana Cabrera Lafuente, María Judith Feliciano, Julie A. Harris, Jitske Jasperse, Therese Martin, Pamela A. Patton, Ana Rodríguez, and Nancy L. Wicker.

Patmos in the Reception History of the Apocalypse, Ian Boxall, 2013-04-18. This monograph explores the significance accorded to John's island of Patmos, Rev 1:9, within the wider reception history of the Apocalypse. In contrast to the relatively scant attention paid to John's island in modern commentaries, this reception historical survey reveals both the greater prominence accorded to Patmos by earlier interpreters and the richer diversity of readings the text has provoked. These include interest in the physical character of Patmos and its significance as an island, the date and reason for John's sojourn there, attempts to locate Patmos in a geography which is sometimes more mythical than literal, the meaning of the name Patmos in the context of a biblical book which treats other place names symbolically. This diversity is supported by a close reading of Rev 1:9 which highlights the extent to which even its literal sense is highly ambiguous. Ian Boxall brings together for the first time in a coherent narrative a wide range of interpretations of Patmos, reflecting different chronological periods, cultural contexts, and Christian traditions.

Boxall understands biblical interpretation broadly to include interpretations in biographical traditions about John sermons liturgy and visual art as well as biblical commentaries He also considers popular and marginal readings alongside magisterial and centrist ones and draws analogies between similar hermeneutical strategies across the centuries In the final chapter Boxall explores the wider implications of his study for biblical scholarship advocating an approach which encourages use of the imagination and reader participation and which works with a broader concept of meaning than traditional historical criticism

Fearful Hope Christopher Kleinhenz, Fannie LeMoine, 1999 From disaster movies to cult movements apocalyptic images surround us as we mark the end of the current millennium Fearful Hope Approaching the New Millennium provides a wide range of essays probing the meaning and significance of millennial expectations and apocalyptic visions From John J Collins's essay on the sense of ending in pre-Christian Judaism to Paul Boyer's discussion of apocalyptic fears and foreboding in the 20th century Fearful Hope explores the apocalyptic in both religion and secular culture discussing biblical prophets medieval manuscripts cult movements and even the current obsession with conspiracy in television shows like The X-Files Finally Archbishop Rembert Weakland and Bishop Johannes Hempel stress the importance of maintaining hope in our own age
