Entrepreneurial Ecosystems Sophie Boutillier, Denis Carré, Nadine Levratto, 2016-03-03 In today's rapidly changing business landscape entrepreneurship is growing and actively promoted by policy makers Several reports explore the influence of entrepreneurship on the economy and put some emphasis on its positive influence GDP per capita unemployment and exports However entrepreneurship does not go per se and it is now broadly admitted that the decision of the entrepreneur is narrowly connected with its environment the so called entrepreneurial ecosystem This book shows why policymakers entrepreneurship supporters and entrepreneurs themselves should keep in mind the locally structured nature of entrepreneurial networks Even if the notion of Entrepreneurial Ecosystem has become quite popular among the international organization development agencies and public administrations this concept is often considered as a new one having its origins in very recent publications This books aims at showing that entrepreneurial ecosystems have their roots in the history of economic thought and that scholars have long been conscious of their importance Instead of insisting upon the diversity of agents involved in these organizations it also put some emphasis on the importance of the linkages and sharing between them and suggests some orientations in view of a performing evaluation system Indo-Pacific Core and Peripheral Digital Economic Communities T. ODAM Ergonomic Work Analysis and Training EWAT Systems HF E HF E Education and Professional Certification Development     Economic analysis of nature policy ,2005     The Political Economy of Rare Earth Elements Ryan David Kiggins,2015-07-28 The contributors argue that rare earths are essential to the information technology revolution on which humans have come to depend for communication commerce and increasingly engage in conflict They demonstrate that rare earths are a strategic commodity over which political actors will and do struggle for control     Indo-Pacific Smart Megacity System T. M. Vinod Kumar,2023-12-18 This book is an in depth study of the Indo Pacific region for effective interventions in the megacities system First based on several criteria the region is identified as homogeneous country groupings of diversity a multi polar spatial system and as program regions of QUAD and I2U2 for action programs and investment transcending many nations but mostly the ocean space of the Indo Pacific connecting all megacities sub regions spatially and functionally Then the megacities with problems and prospects for economic integration are studied from the point of view of regional economics and international trade and finally the rural urban interface with case studies of selected countries is presented Prospects of systems of megacities and individual megacities for regional economies are designed Existing interconnections through rail air and ocean of megacity systems their capacity performance and potential are analyzed for emerging issues International trade among the megacity systems countries with emerging issues and barriers are presented The mobility of money goods and services among the systems of megacities is analyzed Rule based diplomacy and other emerging options are discussed to sustain the above calls for a study of the Security of the Indo Pacific region Finally the emerging architecture for megacity system governance is also presented Out of 21 megacities in the Indo Pacific an in depth study of a few in India and Japan in the Indo Pacific region for effective economic interventions in the megacities system at the city level was studied COVID 19 has affected most of the countries in the Indo Pacific With a contraction of GDP and a GDP growth rate negative the number below the poverty level increased Foreign Direct Investment is not forthcoming in any of these countries Job creation becomes a priority in addition to public health concerns connected with COVID 19     Multicriteria Evaluation in a Fuzzy Environment Giuseppe Munda,2012-12-06 This book is the result of some years of research carried out at the Vrije Universiteit of Amsterdam and at the Joint Research Centre of the European Commission The awareness of actual and potential conflicts between economic progress in production consumption and technology and the environment has led to the concept of sustainable development implying that economic and ecological values are well balanced in evaluation and decision making The linkages between ecosystems and economic systems are the focus of ecological economics In ecological economics a multidimensional approach to economic and policy making is emphasised In this book the introduction of multicriteria decision aid techniques in the framework of ecological economics is widely discussed Since such techniques are based on a constructive rationality and allow one to take into account conflictual multidimensional incommensurable and uncertain effects of decisions they can be considered perfectly consistent with the methodological foundations of ecological economics Since here the assumption is accepted that efficiency equity and sustainability are the three conflictual values of economics a mathematical procedure able to deal with these issues in an operational framework is developed with a particular view on imprecise information in a practical environmental planning context Given the problem of the differences in the measurement levels of the variables used for economic ecological modelling multicriteria methods able to deal with mixed information both qualitative and quantitative measurements can be considered particularly useful Another problem related to the available information concerns the uncertainty stochastic and or fuzzy contained in this information
