The Hidden Image Photographs Of The Male Nude In The 19th And 20th Centuries:

The Hidden Image Peter Weiermair, 1988-01 The Hidden Image is both a stunning anthology of the male nude and a revealing history of how male sexuality has been portrayed photographically from the earliest daguerreotype self portrait of Hippolyte Bayard to the formalized fantasies of Robert Mapplethorpe The 142 photographs include many previously unpublished portraits from both public and private collections in Europe and the United States They include works by the historical luminaries Edward Weston May Ray Imogene Cunningham and Cecil Beaton and the modern innovators David Hockney Judy Dater Dino Pedriali and Joel Peter Witkin Because it is not limited to one photographer or even one genre of photography The Hidden Image is a record of the changing iconography of the male nude and of the repression the sublimation and the taboos surrounding the depiction of the body Some of the images such as those by Weston and Cunningham are romantic misty shots of Adonis like figures lounging in painterly landscapes others like those of Eadweard Muybridge and Etienne Jules Marey are multiframe studies of locomotion Still others are formal poses that treat the male body in abstract sculptural terms Some of the contemporary photographs depict erotic fantasies others such as those of Joel Peter Witkin confront us head on with our deepest primal terrors Peter Weiermair studied art history at the Universities of Innsbruck and Vienna was curator of the Innsbruck Art Institute and has been director of the German Photography Museum in Frankfurt since 1980 He has written widely on the history of photography and has published monographs on Wilhelm von Gloeden Robert Mapplethorpe Peter Hujar George Platt Lynes and Herbert Tobias He serves on the executive committee of the European Society for the History of Photography

The Queer Art of History Jennifer V. Evans, 2023-03-17 In The Queer Art of History Jennifer V Evans examines postwar and contemporary German history to broadly argue for a practice of queer history that moves beyond bounded concepts and narratives of identity Drawing on Black feminism queer of color critique and trans studies Evans points out that although many rights for LGBTQI people have been gained in Germany those rights have not been enjoyed equally There remain fundamental struggles around whose bodies behaviors and communities belong Evans uses kinship as an analytic category to identify the fraught and productive ways that Germans have confronted race gender nonconformity and sexuality in social movements art and everyday life Evans shows how kinship illuminates the work of solidarity and intersectional organizing across difference and offers an openness to forms of contemporary and historical queerness that may escape the archive s confines Through forms of kinship queer and trans people test out new possibilities for citizenship love and public and family life in postwar Germany in ways that question claims about liberal democracy the social contract and the place of identity in rights based discourses

Male Nudes by Women Peter Weiermair, 1995 The present anthology Male Nudes by Women edited by Peter Weiermair reflects the current efforts of a number of female photographers in dealing with the male body It reflects as well their critical approach to seemingly rigid gender roles and cliches developed over a period of centuries and to their own erotic imaginations
