And So to Bed Patricia Pate Havlice, 1987 This book updates and expands on the bibliographies published by William Matthews: American Diaries 1959, British Diaries 1950, and Canadian Diaries and Autobiographies 1950. His cutoff date for American works was 1861 and for British ones 1942. Havlice annotates diaries by more than 2,500 people published in books and periodicals. The Eighteenth Century, 1970 The Emergence of Standard English John H. Fisher, 2021-11-21 Language scholars have traditionally agreed that the development of the English language was largely unplanned. John H. Fisher challenges this view, demonstrating that the standardization of writing and pronunciation was and still is made under the control of political and intellectual forces. In these essays, Fisher chronicles his gradual realization that Standard English was not a popular evolution at all but was the direct result of political decisions made by the Lancastrian administrations of Henry IV and Henry V. To achieve standardization and acceptance of the vernacular, these kings turned to their Chancery scribes, who were responsible for writing and copying legal and royal documents. Chaucer, a relative of the king, began to be labeled by the government as a master of the language, and it was Henry V who inspired the fifteenth-century tradition of citing Chaucer as the maker of English. An even more important link between language development and government practice is the fact that Chaucer himself composed in the English of the Chancery scribes. Fisher discusses the development of Chancery practices, royal involvement in promoting use of the vernacular, Chaucer's use of English, Caxton's use of Chancery Standard, and the nineteenth-century phenomenon of a standard or received pronunciation of English. This engaging and clearly written work will change the way scholars understand the development of English and think about the intentional shaping of our language. Library of Congress Subject Headings Lois Mai Chan, 1986 Previous Edition 9780763753283 Boswell's Correspondence with the Honourable Andrew Erskine James Boswell, Andrew Erskine, 1879
