Six Day Horror Movie A No Nonsense Guide To No Budget Filmmaking:

The Six Day Horror Movie Michael P. DiPaolo, 2004-11-18 When someone offered Michael DiPaolo 5 000 to help make a Digital Video horror film he jumped at the chance to test a theory an ultra low budget feature shot in less than a week with a paid cast and crew could be successful if meticulously planned Using one computer and one camcorder he produced and edited Daddy which had its theatrical premier in New York City in 2004 This book breaks down the production through a detailed daily diary emphasizing that the most important aspects of successful producing are careful planning and camaraderie in the group The work covers many points important for the low budget filmmaker including selecting a story budgeting scheduling picking cast and crew scouting locations finding wardrobe food and transportation and what to do if you run out of time or money Postproduction is also covered editing computer work and sound design as is the result of all this hard work screenings festivals and distributors One chapter covers the primacy of cinematic point of view and another profiles some role models for the aspiring low budget filmmaker Edgar Ulmer Val Lewton Roger Corman John Cassavetes Ed Wood Jr and Jean Luc Godard Later chapters explain strategy and tactics of guerrilla filmmaking and show the budding filmmaker how to recognize both his limitations and his strengths

The Cinematography of Roger Corman Pawel Aleksandrowicz, 2016-09-23 Roger Corman is an ambiguous artistic figure On the one hand he is notorious for shooting and producing his films quickly cheaply and with blatant disregard for safety measures which together with his ability to issue a dozen new films every year and his impressive filmography have earned him the titles of shlockmeister and the King of the B s among film journalists On the other hand he became the youngest American director to be given a film retrospective at the prestigious Cin mat que Fran aise in Paris one of his directorial efforts House of Usher was selected for preservation in the National Film Registry by the Library of Congress and the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences awarded him with an Academy Honorary Award for his rich engendering of films and filmmakers This book investigates this duality and explores whether Corman is indeed a shlockmeister or an artist whose works are worthy of the highest cinema awards The scope of analysis is limited to his directorial efforts only still encompassing 50 features excluding the 400 films he produced The methodology adopted here is based on the auteur theory in its structuralist version by Geoffrey Nowell Smith and Peter Wollen and focuses on three areas of interest work ethic personal elements in the films personal control over and commitment to the production process outside direction themes topics and concerns common for many of the films regardless of the genre and style recurring stylistic motifs and elements in the camerawork editing and framing
