Robert J. Levine, 1988-01-01 The use of human subjects in medical and scientific research has given rise to troubling ethical questions How should human subjects be selected for experiments What should they be told about the research in which they are involved How can their privacy be protected When is it permissible to deceive them How do we deal with subjects such as children fetuses and the mentally infirm for whom informed consent is impossible In this book Dr Robert J Levine reviews federal regulations ethical analysis and case studies in an attempt to answer these questions His book is an essential reference for everyone members of institutional review boards scientists philosophers lawyers addressing the ethical issues involved Levine s experience as a clinician IRB chairman writer and editor of a journal devoted exclusively to issues faced by IRBS makes him uniquely qualified to bring together the legal ethical and practical dimensions The book is sophisticated but readable and should be on every IRB administrator s desk and in every medical ethics library Norman Fost M D The New England Journal of Medicine Levine is one of the foremost historians of contemporary clinical science His book is at once a guide to primary sources for the history of clinical research in the late twentieth century and a pioneering secondary source about that history Daniel M Fox Bulletin of the History of Medicine You will be charmed by the book s elegance and lucidity and persuaded of its relevance to doctors in any country Alex Paton British Medical Journal Should be of wide interest to those keen to see advances in medical research brought into general medical practice Gilbert Omenn Issues in Science and Technology Interaction Patterns in Professional-client Relationships Edna Mavis Grexton, 1968 Librarianship and Bureaucratic Organisation Prem Kumar Jayaswal, 1990 Boundary Issues and Dual Relationships in the Human Services Frederic G. Reamer, 2020-11-24 Should a therapist disclose personal information to a client accept a client s gift or provide a former client with a job Is it appropriate to exchange e mail or text messages with clients or correspond with them on social networking websites Some acts such as initiating a sexual relationship with a client are clearly prohibited yet what about more subtle interactions such as hugging or accepting invitations to a social event Is maintaining a friendship with a former client or a client s relative a conflict of interest Frederic G Reamer offers a frank analysis of a range of boundary issues that human service practitioners may confront He confronts the ethics of intimate relationships with clients and former clients the healthy parameters of practitioners self disclosure the giving and receiving of gifts and favors and the unavoidable and unanticipated circumstances of social encounters and geographical proximity With case studies addressing challenges in the mental health field school contexts child welfare addiction programs home health care elder services and prison rural and military settings Reamer offers effective practical risk management models that prevent problems and help balance dual relationships Since the publication of the previous edition of Boundary Issues and Dual Relationships in the Human Services in 2012 digital technology has transformed how human service professionals deliver services to clients This third edition brings the book up to date adding discussion of the ways in which practitioners online communications and technology based relationships with clients can violate ethical standards and providing practical advice for how to resolve boundary issues

EBOOK: Supervision in the Helping Professions Peter Hawkins, Robin Shohet, 2012-07-16 Supervision in the Helping Professions remains a core text in our trainings and we welcome the updates including the increased focus on ethics and diversity the discussion of e enabled modes of supervision and the review of research What is so encouraging to students trainers and practitioners is the beginner s mind with which the authors continue to approach the subject their tireless enthusiasm for enquiry and their commitment to the learning edge The launch of this edition coincides with the launch of the first UKCP Professional Register for Supervisors The authors have done much to promote the development of supervision and all future professional trainings in supervision will rely on their wisdom and experience Key words for this edition are sustainability resourcing and deeper levels of self reflection mirroring the movement of our profession which increasingly turns outwards asking how we can effect societal as well as individual change Tree Staunton Director of Studies Bath Centre for Psychotherapy and Counselling and Chair of the Humanistic and Integrative College of UKCP This book remains a seminal text in supervision In the fourth edition the authors bring a contemporary perspective to bear on supervision with an emphasis on the wider contextual and cultural contexts of our work as supervisors I appreciate above all the fearless compassion with which the authors have addressed the challenges that face us as supervisors in a global culture and at the same time their ongoing stress on integrating the emotional and the rational the personal and the organizational in a very accessible model of supervision Professor Maria Gilbert Metanoia Institute West London This bestselling book provides a comprehensive guide to supervision for professionals across the social care and helping professions as well as those working in education coaching and human resources Thoroughly updated the book has a new introduction showing how the world context in which helping professions operate has fundamentally changed in the last 25 years and the implications of this for supervision The seven eyed supervision model at the core of the book has been expanded and developed to reflect its use in many professions and different parts of the world The authors also incorporate viewpoints from other academics and practitioners who have commented on the model New to this edition A new chapter on ethics and handling difficult situations in supervision A new chapter and new models of reflective practice New material on training supervisors including the important area of supervision of supervision Revised chapters on group and team supervision with new material on supervising team development and team coaching More case studies of supervision in a wide range of different professions Further practical advice for supervisees on how to recognize contribute to and ask for good supervision With contributions from Judy Ryde and Joan Wilmot Developing Moral Sensitivity Deborah Mower, Wade L.

Robison, Phyllis Vandenberg, 2015-05-15 Moral sensitivity affects whether and how we see others note moral concerns respond with delicacy and navigate complex social interactions Scholars from a variety of fields explore the concept of moral sensitivity and how it develops beginning with a natural moral capacity for sensitivity towards others that is shaped in a variety of ways through relationships forms of teaching and social institutions Each of these influences alters the capacity as well as one s responses in complex ways The concept of moral sensitivity deepens as progressive chapters demonstrate its increasing complexity through development within individuals over time as they mature and as their relationships and social contexts expand The chapters integrate research from philosophy psychology neuroscience literature education and media and technology studies with key chapters by Darcia Narv ez Nancy E Snow Michael S Pritchard and Stephen J Thoma and a Foreword by Owen Flanagan It is the only comprehensive presentation of interdisciplinary work on moral sensitivity that integrates a theoretical methodological and pedagogical analysis This highly interdisciplinary approach provides a new way of thinking about the relationship of individuals to society and moral sensitivity as a social phenomenon extending current research in ethics moral psychology and psychology toward situated embodied and contextual analyses Professional
