Sri Lankas Tea Industry Succeeding In The Global Market:

Sri Lanka's Tea Industry Ridwan Ali,1997-01-01 World Bank Discussion Paper No 367 Many developing countries enforce seed regulations and other policies that obstruct private companies from operating and delivering new technology This volume presents recommendations and selected papers from an international workshop organized by the World Bank in 1995 to review seed policies and to develop recommendations on ways of easing entry barriers for certain varieties of seeds in developing countries The papers and discussions identified reforms to speed the flow of private seed technology to these countries with a particular focus on reforms and their impacts in Bangladesh India Peru and Turkey The Tea Industry Nick Hall,2000-06-02 In recent years the international tea industry has changed dramatically with the closure of the London Terminal Auction in 1998 in favour of auctions at source in both Africa and Asia and the evolution of a wide range of value added products This major new looseleaf provides a guide to the complex and multifaceted tea industry Never before has there been a single reference containing the entire range of industry information from history through to health The Tea Industry s comprehensive nature will promote better understanding of the industry for everyone involved throughout the supply chain as well as providing ideal material for those who are new to the industry The Tea Industry begins with a review of the history and origins of the trade from its Chinese origins The author goes on to look at the growing and processing of tea including a detailed country by country analysis of world production consumption exporting and importing There are detailed sections on markets marketing and quality control of tea including a look at auctions branding and blending of tea Finally there is a review of current thinking on tea and health which includes recent research in the area Overall The Tea Industry has been developed to provide the most thorough account ever produced of this fascinating industry The ultimate desktop reference source for all your information needs Comprehensive looseleaf resource and ideal training material Extensive commentary on the tea market and marketing A Guide to the World Bank ,2003 The World Bank Group works in more than 100 developing economies and is one of the world s largest sources of development assistance In 2002 the institution provided US 19 5 billion in loans to its client countries This guide reviews the organisation s history objectives and operations and looks at the five institutions that make up the World Bank Group the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development IBRD the International Development Association IDA the International Finance Corporation IFC the Multilateral Investment Guarantee Agency MIGA and the International Centre for Settlement of Investment Disputes ICSID Trade, Global Policy, and the Environment Per Fredriksson,1999-01-01 QUOTEWe live in an increasingly interconnected world Trade flows worldwide are growing rapidly and global production patterns are shifting as countries follow their comparative advantage in production via trade At the same time however there is growing concern about potential adverse environmental impacts from increasing trade QUOTE John A Dixon Lead Economist The Environment Department World BankInterest in the trade and environment debate has intensified as a result of international trade agreements and because many proposed solutions to the climate change problem have potential implications for the global trading system. Clearly more empirical work is needed to inform the debate guide policymakers toward solutions and help set priorities. This volume is an attempt to further our understanding of the empirical links between trade and the environment. Thirteen chapters which were presented as papers at a World Bank conference in April 1998 focus on three main themes: 1. Effects of trade liberalization and growth on the environment; 2. The QUOTEpollution havenQUOTE hypothesis; 3. Economic instruments for resolving global environmental problems. The papers address a number of different issues within each of the themes offering new data or new questions and approaches. They are devoted to deepening our understanding and empirical knowledge of the various effects of trade liberalization. Only through a firm understanding of the linkages involved can well founded policy advice be formulated.

Market-based Instruments for Environmental Policymaking in Latin America and the Caribbean Richard M. Huber, H. Jack Ruitenbeek, Ronaldo Seroa da Motta, 1998. To preserve the environment with the lowest possible cost to the social sector means that private costs should be aligned with social costs. Many governments in the Latin American and Caribbean Region are doing this now using market based instruments (MBIs). This publication investigates the use of MBIs in the Latin America and the Caribbean (LAC) context. The investigation covers a sample of eleven countries in the region and a cross section of environmental issues in an urban setting.

Ecological restoration of abandoned tea plantations Chetan H C, 2019-02-28. Globally millions of hectares of tropical forests have been cleared and replaced with commercial plantations. Many of these plantations are abandoned or put to alternative use. Abandoned plantations provide opportunities that compensate to an extent forest cover depletion in the tropics. However restoration of such abandoned land to natural forests involves a complex interplay of ecological, socio-economic and legal issues. Apart from ecological issues of colonisation, there are social issues of rehabilitating people once they lose their livelihood, legal rights of the landowner, economics of abandonment and finally legal issues such as protected areas (PAs) act and legislation that can lead to abandonment. In the Western Ghats tea plantations were established in the rainforest during the colonial rule and are owned by individuals or large companies. During the globalisation process the demand for tea decreased and many small owners could not maintain their plantations due to labour and other issues which led to the abandonment of many such plantations. In addition plantations established during the British rule are now inside PAs and they face closure once the lease on the land expires. In the Trivandrum division alone which has a large number of plantations almost 55% have been abandoned. In areas that lie within PAs forest managers are keen that the plantations should be annexed to the PA but such large scale abandonment of land provides a challenge to restoration of native species. This book addresses the ecological aspects of colonisation by native tree species in the abandoned plantations within a PA and suggests restoration activities from ecological and social perspectives helpful to forest and plantation managers.

World Bank HIV/AIDS Interventions Julia Dayton, 1998-01-01. The AIDS epidemic is one of the greatest development challenges of the 20th century. Since 1986 the World Bank has supported member countries efforts to fight the epidemic in many ways including committing over US 550 million to HIV AIDS prevention and mitigation efforts This paper the first comprehensive study of all World Bank HIV AIDS related activities assesses the appropriateness of Bank interventions from the perspective of public economies and reviews the economic evaluation and implementation of projects Fostering Competition in China's Power Markets Nouredine Berrah,Ranjit Lamech,Jianping Zhao,2001-01-01 This book compares the recent evolution of the structure of inputs and expenditure in Armenia s general education with international norms and practice In the context of the government s sectoral reform strategy it also outlines various proposals for restructuring the system The purpose of this study is to clarify what the inefficiencies might mean for future costs and performance of the system highlight the trade offs involved and identify measures needed to overcome constraints to rationalization

Gender-related Legal Reform and Access to Economic Resources in Eastern Africa Gita Gopal,1999 The impetus for change in African legal reform is coming primarily from African women themselves as they respond to their personal and practical experiences with the law Top down imposition of norms has not worked if legal reform is to lead to sustainable equity for women the voices of these women must be heard Given that previous efforts to ensure greater equity in personal laws have not been fully successful in eastern African countries any new legal initiatives must not repeat the mistakes of the past Law must not again remain merely on the books as a legitimizing tool that reinforces or supports gender discrimination but must actively protect and guard the interests of both men and women This paper attempts to draw out some possible lessons from past experience to inform new efforts at legal reform in these countries It examines the laws related to allocation of economic resources within households in the broader historical social and cultural context in some of these countries and examines the effectiveness of these laws in challenging gender relationships

Russian Trade Policy Reform for WTO Accession Harry G. Broadman,1998-01-01 Russia has manifested considerable interest in accession to the World Trade Organization WTO This volume contains four policy papers that focus on the most prominent topics during the ongoing WTO accession process 1 the dispersion of Russia s tariff structure 2 trade and investment in the service sectors 3 the treatment of state trading enterprises and 4 the policy regime governing foreign direct investment Bringing the Russian Federation into the rules based WTO system is an objective broadly shared by the world community Accession to the WTO comes at a critical juncture for the Russian government to focus on many important policy issues to stimulate growth As part of the process of making liberalization commitments as required by the existing members of the WTO accession provides an opportunity to lock in reforms
