Tibbles, 2005-01-01 Between 1500 and 1870 European traders transported millions of Africans to the Americas to work as slaves yet despite the wealth of scholarship on this period many people remain uninformed about the history of the slave trade and its implications for the modern black experience Published to accompany a permanent gallery in the Merseyside Maritime Museum Transatlantic Slavery documents this era through essays on women in slavery the impact of slavery on West and Central Africa and the African view of the slave trade Richly illustrated it reveals how the slave trade shaped the history of three continents Africa the Americas and Europe and how all of us continue to live with its consequences The Struggle for Power in Colonial America, 1607-1776 William R. Nester, 2017-10-11 America's colonial era began and ended dramatically with the founding of the first enduring settlement at Jamestown on May 14 1607 and the Declaration of Independence in Philadelphia on July 4 1776 During those 169 years conflicts were endemic and often overlapping among the colonists between the colonists and the original inhabitants between the colonists and other imperial European peoples and between the colonists and the mother country As conflicts were endemic so too were struggles for power This study reveals the reasons for stages and results of these conflicts The dynamic driving this history are two inseparable transformations as English subjects morphed into American citizens and the core American cultural values morphed from communitarianism and theocracy into individualism and humanism. These developments in turn were shaped by the changing ways that the colonists governed, made money, waged war, worshipped, thought, wrote, and loved. Extraordinary individuals led that metamorphosis: explorers like John Smith and Daniel Boone; visionaries like John Winthrop and Thomas Jefferson; entrepreneurs like William Phips and John Hancock; dissidents like Rogers Williams and Anne Hutchinson; warriors like Miles Standish and Benjamin Church; free spirits like Thomas Morton and William Byrd; and creative writers like Anne Bradstreet and Robert Rogers. Then there was that quintessential man of America's Enlightenment, Benjamin Franklin. And finally George Washington, who more than anyone was responsible for winning American independence, when and how it happened.

Society and Economy in Early Modern Europe, 1450-1789 Barry Taylor, 1989

Slavery and African Life Patrick Manning, 1990-09-28

This book summarizes a wide range of recent literature on slavery for all of tropical Africa.

African Voices of the Atlantic Slave Trade Anne Caroline Bailey, 2005

The story of the Atlantic slave trade has largely been filtered through the records of white Europeans, but in this watershed book Anne C. Bailey focuses on memories of the trade from the African perspective. African chiefs and other elders in an area of southeastern Ghana, once famously called the Old Slave Coast, share stories that reveal that Africans were both traders and victims of the trade. Though Africans were not equal partners with Europeans, their involvement had devastating consequences on their history and sense of identity. Like trauma victims, many African societies experience a fragmented view of their past that partially explains the silence and shame around the slave trade. Capturing astonishing oral histories that were handed down through generations of storytellers, Bailey breaks this deafening silence and explores the delicate nature of historical memory. In this rare, unprecedented book, Bailey offers a noteworthy, carefully researched contribution to the study of the African slave trade and brings unheard historical voices to the fore.

Publishers Weekly: A remarkable effort to present the slave trade from a perspective very different from what we are used to: not that of slavery's liberal opponents or even of the slaves themselves, but of the Africans from whose midst the slaves were taken. Bailey is scrupulously objective in making her way through the resulting political minefield. People like Anne Bailey make us uncomfortable, which is all to the good.
