The People We Meet in Stories Robert McParland, 2020-10-20 Novels bring us into fictional worlds where we encounter the lives struggles and dreams of characters who speak to the underlying pulse of society and social change In this book post World War II America comes alive again as literary critic Robert McParland tilts the rearview mirror to see the characters that captured the imaginations of millions of readers in the most popular and influential novels of the 1950s This literary era introduced us to Holden Caulfield Augie March Lolita and other antiheroes Together with popular culture heroes such as Perry Mason and James Bond they entertained thousands of readers while revealing the underlying currents of ambition desire and concern that were central to the American Dream Ralph Ellison s Invisible Man and James Baldwin s Go Tell It on the Mountain and Giovanni sRoom explored racial issues and matters of identity that reverberate still today The works of Jack Kerouac the Beat poets Allen Ginsberg and Gregory Corso and the clever and creative William S Burroughs and his Naked Lunch challenged conventional perspectives The People We Meet in Stories will appeal to readers discovering these works for the first time and to those whose tattered paperbacks reveal a long relationship with these key works in American literary history

The Academic Marketplace Theodore Caplow, 2017-12-01 This volume is a must for anyone interested in academic problems and will produce the emotion of recognition in those concerned and the emotion of surprise in those outside the field Los Angeles Times Professors Caplow and McGee have given scholarly respectability to what many a professor has long suspected Competition in the academic marketplace is as severe as in the business world Their book might come to have the same function for the professor as Machiavelli s work had for ambitious princes Midwest Journal of Political Science The Academic Marketplace is a straightforward hard hitting exposé of the American university Caplow and McGee consider all the working parts of the system and assess their suitability to the professed purpose Their report on the actualities myths and consequences of routines thus amounts to an anatomy of an institution an anatomy that does not present a pretty picture We learn for example that the chief criteria used in making appointments are prestige and compatibility not teaching ability The authors describe the precipitous decline in teaching loads and then explain how this tendency is related to the new seller s market on the one hand and to the extravagantly indeterminate structure of the university as an institution on the other Not only is the temper judicious the facts well gathered and competently marshaled but the expression of results is invariably lucid In a new introduction the authors sort out fact from legend and discern trends they address the validity of their own research methods and the applicability of their original findings to today s academic marketplace They observe that the essential commodity offered in the academic marketplace is still the same the mysterious intangible called prestige by which universities colleges departments disciplines fields of inquiry journals and ultimately faculty candidates are ranked from high to low and raised up and cast down accordingly Groves of Academe?
