Creating the Third Force Maureen P. Flaherty, Hamdesa Tusso, 2016-11-21 The profession of peacemaking has been practiced by indigenous communities around the world for many centuries however the ethnocentric world view of the West which dominated the world of ideas for the last five centuries dismissed indigenous forms of peacemaking as irrelevant and backward tribal rituals Neither did indigenous forms of peacemaking fit the conception of modernization and development of the new ruling elites who inherited the postcolonial state The new profession of Alternative Dispute Resolution ADR which emerged in the West as a new profession during the 1970s neglected the tradition and practice of indigenous forms of peacemaking The scant literature which has appeared on this critical subject tends to focus on the ritual aspect of the indigenous practices of peacemaking The goal of this book is to fill this lacuna in scholarship More specifically this work focuses on the process of peacemaking exploring the major steps of process of peacemaking which the peacemakers follow in dislodging antagonists from the stage of hostile confrontation to peaceful resolution of disputes and eventual reconciliation The book commences with a critique of ADR for neglecting indigenous processes of peacemaking and then utilizes case studies from different communities around the world to focus on the following major themes the basic structure of peacemaking process change and continuity in the traditions of peacemaking the role of indigenous women in peacemaking the nature of the tools peacemakers deploy common features found in indigenous processes of peacemaking and the overarching goals of peacemaking activities in indigenous communities

Strategic Dilemmas and the Evolution of German Foreign Policy since Unification Jeffrey Lantis, 2002-09-30 Lantis examines continuity and change in German foreign policy in the decade since unification Between 1949 and 1990 the Federal Republic of Germany pursued one of the most consistent foreign policy patterns of any Western power Restrictions on an assertive German military posture became deeply rooted in the public psyche in foreign policy tradition and in the Basic Law However the end of the Cold War the collapse of the Soviet Union and the unification of Germany have fundamentally changed the international and domestic parameters of German foreign policy A review of contemporary developments shows that a dramatic evolution of German foreign policy is currently underway from checkbook diplomacy in the Gulf War to the humanitarian relief mission in the Horn of Africa and from Contact Group diplomacy to airstrikes in Kosovo To explore this evolution of German foreign policy since unification Lantis presents an innovative model of external internal linkages derived from two important areas of scholarship on the role of international crises as catalysts for foreign policy change and the importance of domestic political conditions that ultimately determine the scope and pace of such change Five original case studies place German political debates about how best to respond to challenges of the post Cold War era in social and historical context by drawing on discursive analyses of government documents parliamentary debates and elite interviews These cases illustrate the rise of a new consensus on the political left for engagement in global affairs reinterpretations of historical lessons for contemporary German policy and the constitutional challenges of global activism since unification Of particular interest to scholars students and researchers involved with German politics international security policy and comparative foreign policy Routledge Handbook of African Security James Hentz, 2013-08-22 This new Handbook examines the issues challenges and debates surrounding the problem of security in Africa Africa is home to most of the world s current conflicts and security is a key issue However African security can only be understood by employing different levels of analysis the individual human security the state national state security and the region regional international security Each of these levels provides analytical tools for understanding what could be called the African security predicament and these debates are animated by the new security issues immigration small arms transfers gangs and domestic crime HIV AIDS transnational crime poverty and environmental degradation African security therefore not only presents concrete challenges for international security but provides a real world context for challenging

International Organizations and Military Affairs Hylke Dijkstra,2016-02-05 From the UN Department of Peacekeeping Operations to the NATO International Staff and the European External Action Service international bureaucrats make decisions that affect life and death In carrying out their functions these officials not only facilitate the work of the member states but also pursue their own distinct agendas This book analyzes how states seek to control secretariats when it comes to military operations by international organizations It introduces an innovative theoretical framework that identifies different types of control mechanisms The book presents six empirical chapters on the UN NATO and EU secretariats It provides new data from a unique dataset and in depth interviews It shows that member states employ a wide range of control mechanisms to reduce the potential loss of influence They frequently forfeit the gains of delegation to avoid becoming dependent on the work of secretariats Yet while states invest heavily in control this book also argues that they cannot benefit from the services of secretariats and keep full control over outcomes in international organizations In their delegation and control decisions states face trade offs and have to weigh different cost categories the costs of policy administrative capacity and agency loss This book will be of interest to scholars postgraduates and officials in international organizations and national governments dealing with questions of international political economy security studies and military affairs

German government but at the same time fully state funded The objectives of this dissertation are to understand the work and strategies of the German political foundations as actors in the context of democracy assistance abroad research their partner spectrums on selected countries to identify their short comings and to give an outlook of the foundations work in the future in the fast changing global political environment The Ideology of Failed States Susan L. Contests to reorganize the international system after the Cold War agree on the security threat of failed states this book asks why Peace Maintenance Jarat Chopra,2012-10-12 This book is invaluable in identifying the necessary ingredients for long term legitimate and effective peace maintenance at a time when it is needed most Voting for Peace Terrence Lyons,2010-12-01 Elections have been used as a mechanism to institutionalize a new political order following internal conflict in Cambodia El Salvador Angola Mozambique Bosnia and now Liberia This book analyzes the Liberian transition and the July 1997 elections in order to better understand the relationship between war termination and transitions to democracy and the role post conflict elections play in promoting both of these goals The Liberian elections represented the final stage of a seven year West African led peace process An overwhelming majority voted for former factional leader Charles Taylor in the belief that if Taylor did not win war would erupt again The Liberian transition demonstrates that post conflict elections may play an important role in a process of war termination In many cases it may be necessary to move forward with war termination and imperfect elections in the short run and pursue goals relating to democratization after the new government has been put in place This study uses a detailed examination of the difficult Liberian case to highlight the more general challenges of helping countries make the transition from civil conflict and authoritarian rule to peace and democracy Studies in Foreign Policy Economic Development, Inequality and War E. Nafziger,J. Auvinen,2003-09-15 Economic Development Inequality and War shows how economic decline income inequality pervasive rent seeking by ruling elites political authoritarianism military centrality and competition for mineral exports contribute to war and humanitarian emergencies Economic regress and political decay bring about relative deprivation perception by social groups of injustice arising from a growing discrepancy between what they expect and get Nafziger and Auvinen indicate that both economic greed and social grievances drive contemporary civil wars Finally the authors also identify policies for preventing humanitarian emergencies What is a Refugee? William Maley,2016-12-01 Refugee is a commonplace term that obscures myriad personal stories many contradictions and a more complex history than most people imagine as William Maley demonstrates Territorial Status in International Law Jure Vidmar,2024-01-11 This book develops a new theory of territorialism and international legal status of territories It i defines the concept of territory explaining how territories are created ii redefines the concept of statehood illustrating that statehood rather than the statehood criteria is territorial legal status established in the formal sources of international law and iii grounds non state territorial entities in the sources of international law to explain their international legal status This fresh new theoretical perspective has both scholarly and practical importance providing a tool helping decision makers and judges in the practical application of international law both internationally and domestically
