Bernhardt, Leah H. Hinds, Katina P. Strauch, 2012-10-15 The theme of the 2011 Charleston Conference the annual event that explores issues in book and serial acquisition was Something's Gotta Give The conference held November 2 5 2011 in Charleston SC included 9 pre meetings more than 10 plenaries and over 120 concurrent sessions The theme reflected the increasing sense of strain felt by both libraries and publishers as troubling economic trends and rapid technological change challenge the information supply chain What part of the system will buckle under this pressure Who will be the winners and who will be the losers in this stressful environment The Charleston Conference continues to be a major event for information exchange among librarians vendors and publishers As it begins its fourth decade the Conference is one of the most popular international meetings for information professionals with almost 1 500 delegates Conference attendees continue to remark on the informative and thought provoking sessions. The Conference provides a collegial atmosphere where librarians vendors and publishers talk freely and directly about issues facing libraries and information providers In this volume the organizers of the meeting are pleased to share some of the learning experiences that they and other attendees had at the conference Critical Pedagogy and the Everyday Classroom Tony Monchinski, 2008-06-28 Critical Pedagogy addresses the shortcomings of mainstream educational theory and practice and promotes the humanization of teacher and student Where Critical Pedagogy is often treated as a discourse of academics in universities this book explores the applications of Critical Pedagogy to actual classroom situations Written in a straight forward concise and lucid form by an American high school teacher drawing examples from literature film and above all the everyday classroom this book is meant to provoke thought in teachers students and education activists as we transform our classrooms into democratic sites From grading to testing from content area disciplines to curriculum planning and instruction from the social construction of knowledge to embodied cognition this book takes the theories behind Critical Pedagogy and illustrates them at work in common classroom environments Bringing the Neuroscience of Learning to Online Teaching Tracey Tokuhama-Espinosa, 2021 This book draws on the best of neuroscience to inform decision making about digital learning to help teachers and administrators see the many advantages of online instruction Knowing Other Minds Anita Avramides, Matthew Parrott, 2019-09-05 We all take it for granted that we are typically in a position to know about the thoughts and feelings of other people But we might naturally wonder how we acquire this kind of knowledge Knowing Other Minds brings together ten original chapters written by internationally renowned researchers on questions that arise from our everyday social interaction with others Can we have direct perceptual knowledge of another person s thoughts How do we acquire general conceptions of mental states What lessons can be drawn from experimental work in developmental psychology Are there fundamental differences between the ways in which we acquire knowledge of our own minds and the ways in which we acquire knowledge of someone else s mind What sort of cognitive processing underlies our everyday social understanding How should we best think of the relationship between our complex social life and moral value The chapters in this volume convey a variety of different perspectives and make a number of novel contributions to the existing literature on these questions thereby opening up new avenues of inquiry Furthermore they illustrate how questions in philosophy and questions from empirical cognitive science overlap and mutually inform one another Literature and the Brain Norman Norwood Holland, 2009 LITERATURE AND THE BRAIN goes straight to the human core of literature when it explains the different ways our brains convert stories poems plays and films into pleasure When we are deep into a film or book we find ourselves absorbed unaware of our bodies or our surroundings We don't doubt the existence of Spider Man or Harry Potter and we have real feelings about these purely imaginary beings Our brains are behaving oddly because we know we cannot act to change what we are seeing This is only one of the special ways our brains behave to with literature ways that LITERATURE AND THE BRAIN reveals 474 pp 13 ill Policies for Diversity in Education Tony Booth, Mary Masterson, Patricia Potts, Will Swann, 2013-09-27 The emphasis in this book shifts to the coordination of practice into schools regional and national policies and the power and interest groups concerned with educational difficulties and disability In the opening section the authors review the location of power in the systems the impact of Local Management of Schools case studies of Union policy the National Curriculum Council and voluntary societies They then look at one threatened element of the power structure the local education authorities They examine the features of local authority policy and attempt to systematise local policy The experience of families is examined in their relationships with professionals particularly during the preparation of Statements of Special Educational Need This is followed by sections on services for under fives integrating education and the authors provide examples of changing school policies and the practices that have arisen from them supporting the learning of all pupils in primary and secondary schools changing the role of special schools ensuring that girls and boys are provided with equal opportunities writing a development plan and the experience of a teacher with a disability They then examine policies and practices in education after school and finish with theories of integration and disability

Black British Cultural Studies Houston A. Baker (Jr.), Manthia Diawara, Ruth H. Lindeborg, 1996-09 Black British Cultural Studies has attracted significant attention recently in the American academy both as a model for cultural studies generally and as a corrective to reigning constructions of Blackness within African American studies This anthology offers the first book length selection of writings by key figures in this field From Stuart Hall's classic study of racially structured societies to an interview by Manthia Diawara with Sonia Boyce a leading figure in the Black British arts movement the papers included here have transformed cultural studies through their sustained focus on the issue of race Much of the book centers on Black British arts especially film ranging from a historical overview of Black British cinema to a weighing of the costly burden on Black artists of representing their communities Other essays consider such topics as race and representation and colonial and postcolonial discourse This anthology will be an invaluable and timely resource for everyone interested in cultural studies It also has much to offer students of anthropology sociology media and film studies and literary criticism
