The Great Natural History Coloring:

A History of Color Robert A. Crone, 2012-12-06 This is the first comprehensive text on the history of color theories since Halbertsma's book of 1947. Color is discussed in close connection with the evolution of ideas of light and vision. The book has chapters on the ancient Greek ideas of vision and color, on the contributions of Arabic science, on the Scientific Revolution from Kepler to Newton, on the early history of the three color hypothesis, on the trichromatic theory and defective color vision, and on Goethe's, Schopenhauer's, and Hering's theories. New understanding of the structure and functions of the retina and the brain finally results in the modern science of color vision. A History of Color has been written for ophthalmologists, optometrists, and others who are interested in visual science and its history. The book requires no specialized knowledge.

The Great Natural History Coloring Book Roger Thornhill, 1981 The Color Line: a History Ethan Malveaux, 2015-01-09 My book The Color Line: A History is about how the ethnic biases of the European of Ancient Rome morphed into the racial prejudice of modern times through a process that was centuries in the making. From the collapse of Ancient Rome to the rise of Christendom, then to the discovery of the American continents, through to the landmark Supreme Court decision of Plessy v. Ferguson, I will take the reader on a journey that will shatter preconceived notions of European and African relations. The narrative strain of my comprehensive composition seeks to historically follow the advent of the color classifications of white and black by using primary and secondary sources to explain this social and psychological concept which still influences our world. Natural History of New York New York (State).
