Parliament. House of Representatives, 1919 Writing the Body Politic Mark Featherstone, Thomas Kemple, 2019-08-08 This book brings together key essays from the career of social theorist John O'Neill including his uncollected later writings focusing on embodiment to explore the different ways in which the body trope informs visions of familial economic personal and communal life Beginning with an exploration of O'Neill's work on the construction of the biobody and the ways in which corporeality is sutured into social systems through regimes of power and familial socialisation the book then moves to concentrate on O'Neill's career long studies of the productive body and the ways in which the working body is caught in and resists disciplinary systems that seek to rationalise natural functions and control social relations The third section considers O'Neill's concern with the ancient early modern and psychoanalytic sources of the post modern libidinal body and a final section on the civic body focuses specifically on the ways in which principles of reciprocity and generosity exceed the capitalist individualist body of neo liberal political theory The volume also includes an interview with O'Neill addressing many of the key themes of his work a biographical note with an autobiographical postscript a select bibliography of O'Neill's many publications and an extensive introduction by the editors A challenging and innovative collection Writing the Body Politic A John O'Neill Reader will appeal to critical social theorists and sociologists with interests in the work of one of sociology's great critical readers of classical and contemporary texts Consuming the Body Dawn Woolley, 2022-09-08 Consuming the Body examines contemporary consumerism and the commodified construction of ideal gendered bodies paying particular attention to the new forms of interaction produced by social networking sites Describing the behaviours of an ideal neoliberal subject Woolley identifies modes of discipline forms of pleasure and opportunities for subversion in an examination of how individuals are addressed and the ways in which they are expected to respond Key modes of address that compel the consumer to consume are sadistic commands communicated in adverts TV programmes and magazine articles a fetishistic gaze that dissects the body into parts to be improved through commodification and a hysterical insistent presence that compels the consumer to present their body for critique and appreciation that is exemplified in the selfie Woolley interprets the visual characteristics of different types of selfies including fitspiration thinspiration fatspiration and bodypositivity to understand how they relate to current body ideals Healthism and culture bound illnesses such as hysteria and eating disorders are examined to demonstrate the impact of commodified body ideals on consumers bodies An analysis of thinspiration images photographs of emaciated bodies shared on pro eating disorder blogs and websites suggests that the anorexic body represents the logical and fatal end point for the idealised body in consumer culture Fat acceptance selfies suggest there is a fourth mode of address empowering presence that has the potential to liberate consumers from the trap of visibleness produced by the other three modes of address In conclusion the book identifies some creative methods for producing selfies that evade commoditisation and discipline
