The Heart Has Its Reasons:

The Heart Has Its Reasons Beata Toth, 2016-05-26 The Heart Has Its Reasons explores a hitherto neglected area of theological anthropology the unity of human emotion and reason embodied in the Biblical concept of the heart While the theological contours of human rationality have long been clearly drawn and presented as the exclusive seat of the image of God affectivity has been relegated to a secondary position With the reintegration of the body into recent philosophical and theological discourses a number of questions have arisen if the image also resides in the body how does this change one's view of the theological significance of human affect In what way is our likeness to God realised in the whole of what we are Can one overcome the traditional dissociation between intellect and affect by a renewed theory of love In conversation with patristic and medieval authors like Irenaeus Tertullian Gregory of Nyssa Maximus and Thomas Aquinas and in dialogue with more recent interlocutors such as Blaise Pascal Ricoeur Marion Milbank and John Paul II Beata Toth pursues a novel theological vision of the essential unity of our humanity

The Reign and Abdication of Edward VIII Michael Bloch, 2012-05-28 Michael Bloch gives a new twist to the oft told story of King Edward s short reign Drawing on a decade long study of the King s personality and on privileged access to his papers he sees the King s abdication partly as the result of a plot to get rid of him by men who mistrusted his modernity and popular touch but also explainable by the fact that he did not really want to be king or fight for his throne

The Logic of Affect Paul Redding, 2019-04-15 Most attempts to trace the roots of current scientific approaches to the mind have ignored the contributions of post Kantian German idealism Paul Redding here shows the relevance of this philosophical tradition to an understanding of the mind and its embodiment as well as the relation of feeling to cognition Redding observes how Fichte Schelling and Hegel struggled with the problem of reconciling Kant s normative approach to experience and thought with the naturalistic stance of the emerging medical sciences A century later William James Freud and Jung also addressed the interconnection of thought and feeling reaching views similar to those of the post Kantian idealists In particular Redding argues the idealists conceived of a logic of affect that reemerged in Freud s concept of the primary process and in modern evolutionary ideas of subcortical processing This innovative book demonstrates how new insights can be brought to the study of mentality and consciousness by considering previously overlooked interpretations Redding shows that these early theorists of the unconscious can bring scholars to a better appreciation not only of classical thinkers like James and Freud but also of contemporary debates about the mind and
