

Relationship of exposure to UVR and Burden of Disease

- Skin cancer is caused primarily by exposure to UV radiation such as sunbeds.
- Globally in 2000, over 2,00,000 cases of melanoma were diagnosed and 65 000 melanoma-associated deaths.
- Worldwide approximately 18 million people are blind as a result of cataracts, of these 5% of all cataract related disease burden is directly attributable to UV radiation exposure.

Skin Cancer And Uvradiation:

Skin Cancer and UV Radiation Peter Altmeyer, Klaus Hoffmann, Markus Stücker, 2012-12-06 UV radiation is recognized as the major risk factor for skin cancer. For the last three decades the incidence and mortality of skin cancer have been increasing steadily in almost all parts of the world. Unfortunately there have been very few advances in the management and treatment of skin cancer. In comparison to other malignant tumors skin cancer offers the unique opportunity to identify this tumor at an early stage. Thus there is strong interest in preventing death by early diagnosis and prompt treatment. The proceedings of the International Congress on Skin Cancer and UV Radiation which was held in Bochum Germany in October 1996 reflect the newest scientific standards in the field of skin cancer. The conference in Bochum was a platform for leading scientists from all over the world to discuss the complexity and diversity of UV radiation in its interaction with the skin. Starting with basic science like physiology, immunology and molecular biochemistry of the skin as influenced by UV radiation, the book presents a profound survey into the field of skin cancer by focusing on the latest scientific results in prevention, early detection, treatment and epidemiology. The congress in Bochum in 1996 was organized to provide a starting point for coordinated European strategies against skin cancer with internationally renowned scientists.

Skin Aging & Cancer Ashish Dwivedi, Neeraj Agarwal, Lipika Ray, Amit Kumar Tripathi, 2019-11-17 This book summarizes the potent effect of ultraviolet radiation (UVR) on the photoaging and cancer formation. Skin is the largest human organ which continually reconstructs itself to ensure its viability, integrity and ability to provide protection for the body This protection can be compromised by the aging of the skin which ultimately promotes skin inflammation impaired wound repair and increased risk of skin cancer The book entails mechanistic insights into the UVR induced immunomodulation and DNA damage in the skin to delineate the pathogenesis and develop novel ways for prevention of photoaging of the skin cells It also elucidates the potential of nanotechnology in the treatment of skin cancer Further it discusses the bioinformatics approaches to understand the molecular mechanism of photoaging and cancer formation

English,J. Mark Elwood,2013-03-14 Our series Cancer Prevention Cancer Control continues to address the causes and prevention of cancer In this volume Hill Elwood and English bring together a rich resource summarizing the state of science underpinning the primary prevention of skin cancer While skin cancer causes an increasing burden particularly in populations of European origin our understanding of the role of sun exposure together with the genetic components of skin cancer continues to grow Given the emphasis on evidence based medicine and public health prevention efforts it is noteworthy that although we can all access the same evidence base countries around the world have had remarkably different responses to the application of this knowledge to prevent skin cancer The outstanding contribution of the Australian public health community to the scientific understanding of skin cancer etiology and the translation of this knowledge into national prevention efforts uniquely positions the editors to compile this volume focused on the primary prevention of skin cancer In so doing they draw on an international team of authors to present a state of the science summary of skin cancer prevention and to identify those areas where uncertainty remains To achieve successful prevention of cancer we must translate our scientific knowledge base into effective prevention programs This book offers the reader keen insights into the depth of our understanding of etiologic pathways for skin cancer This etiologic science base is complemented by rigorous prevention science placing emphasis on the social context for effective and sustained prevention efforts Measurements of Ultraviolet Radiation in the United States and Comparisons with Skin Cancer Data National Cancer Institute (U.S.),Joseph Scotto,1975 Measurements of Ultraviolet Radiation in the United States and Comparison with Skin Cancer Data Joseph Scotto,Thomas R.
