Stripes In The Sky:

Stripes in the Sky G. L. Durlacher, 1991 How did we live and survive what was our liberation like what kind of homecoming did we have And why was the world blind and deaf in the darkest hours of the war and after The prisoners in the concentration camp Auschwitz Birkenau saw stripes in the sky in August 1944 as allied bombers flew over their camp After having destroyed a nearby industrial target the bombers returned home leaving the prisoners to wonder why the camp's gas chambers and crematoria had not been bombed and the factory of death destroyed Gerhard Durlacher was one of Auschwitz's prisoners and one of its few survivors Stripes in the Sky his first book reflects his personal quest to discover the reasons for the passive silence in the face of the mass destruction of European Jewry A touching memoir of survival from a prisoner held in the Auschwitz Birkenau concentration camp Reckonings Mary Fulbrook, 2018-09-04 Mary Fulbrook's award winning book uses reckoning in the widest possible sense to reveal the disparity between the extent of inhumanity perpetrated during the Nazi era and post war attempts to interpret and rectify wrongs as the consequences of violence reverberated through time Reckonings exposes the disjuncture between official myths about dealing with the past and the fact that the vast majority of Nazi perpetrators were never held accountable Infrared Astronomical Satellite (IRAS)
