Since the early 1980s Australian economic policy has been dominated by the ideology of neoliberalism also known as economic rationalism including policies of privatisation financial deregulation and micro economic reform Throughout this period John Quiggin has presented critical assessments of neoliberal policies and the claims about productivity growth made in support of those policies The credibility of neoliberalism was fatally wounded by the Global Financial Crisis and its aftermath Nevertheless market ideology has lumbered on in zombie form for want of a clear alternative It is only recently that we have begun to reverse the failed policies of privatisation and deregulation and to consider radical alternatives such as a shift to a four day week This book provides a historical perspective in the form of a series of articles written from the mid 1980s to the present day It concludes with some suggestions for the way forward after neoliberalism John Quiggin is the intellectual equivalent of a dazzling fireworks display I walk away from every encounter with a bright new insight and this book is no exception Agree or disagree Professor Quiggin is a veritable trove of fresh insights Spanning nearly four decades this volume brings together some of Professor Quiggin s most provocative contributions driven by a deep commitment to equity It will pique your curiosity and encourage you to work towards a better world Andrew Leigh Parliamentarian and author of The Shortest History of Economics Learning to make change Paul Kibwika,2023-08-28 Universities represent the highest level of education yet they are notoriously slow in responding to a rapidly changing world Deeply entrenched

elitism and routines a continued emphasis on reproductive learning and the continued dominance of disciplinary thinking have in many instances created bastions of educational conservatism unable to contribute meaningfully to the development of people businesses and communities within a finite global ecosystem This book focuses on an African university s efforts to become more innovative and responsive to community needs and the challenges posed by sustainability A central concept is innovation competence as a pre requisite for transforming learning research and consultancy Making change in society requires innovation competences over and above disciplinary expertise and these competences have to be learnt by both staff and students Kibwika not only shows that it is imperative that African universities re orient their programmes to produce graduates capable of enhancing innovation and social change in the community he also provides a number of solid stepping stones for capacity building and curriculum development that in time will result in an innovative university able to contribute to a world that is more sustainable than the one currently in prospect
