Student Perceptions In The Classroom:

Student Perceptions in the Classroom Dale H. Schunk, Judith L. Meece, 1992 First Published in 1992 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company Student Perceptions in the Classroom Dale H. Schunk, Judith L. Meece, 2012-10-12 This book's two primary objectives are to present theory and research on the role of learners' achievement-related perceptions in educational contexts and to discuss the implications of this research for educational practices. Although contributors share the view that students' perceptions exert important effects in achievement settings, they differ in diverse ways including their theoretical orientation, their choice of research methodology, the perceptions they believe are of primary importance, and the antecedents and consequences of these perceptions. They discuss the current status of their ideas and provide a forward look at research and practice.

Student Feedback on Teaching in Schools Wolfram Rollett, Hannah Bijlsma, Sebastian Röhl, 2021-08-12 This open access book provides a comprehensive and informative overview of the current state of research about student perceptions of and student feedback on teaching. After presentation of a new student feedback process model, evidence concerning the validity and reliability of student perceptions of teaching quality is discussed. This is followed by an overview of empirical research on the effects of student feedback on teachers and instruction in different contexts as well as on factors promoting the successful implementation of feedback in schools. In summary, the findings emphasize that student perceptions of teaching quality can be a valid and reliable source of feedback for teachers. The effectiveness of student feedback on teaching is significantly related to its use in formative settings and to a positive feedback culture within schools. In addition, it is argued that the effectiveness of student feedback depends very much on the support for teachers when making use of the feedback. As this literature review impressively documents, teachers in their work and ultimately students in their learning can benefit substantially from student feedback on teaching in schools. This book reviews what we know about student feedback to teachers. It is detailed and it is a pleasure to read. To have these chapters in one place and from those most up to date with the research literature and doing the research is a gift.

John Hattie The Effects of Student Feedback on Student Perceptions of the Classroom Behavior of Secondary School Teachers David Anthony Masucci, 1973 Teacher and Student Perceptions John M. Levine, Margaret C. Wang, 1983 Student Perceptions of Rules for Classroom Interaction H. Paul LeBlanc, 3rd, 1997-08 Burgoon's expectancy violation model posits that nonverbal rule violations will be evaluated according to the perceptions toward the violator and the behavior itself. However, the violator may have perceptions regarding the appropriateness of the rule. This study measured the perceptions of high school students regarding the rules for classroom interaction. It is believed that the rules for classroom interaction are rules which have been learned through the process of socialization and enculturation into the classroom setting throughout students' careers. These rules should be well known by all students by the time they reach tenth grade, the grade being investigated. A survey questionnaire was developed through a pilot study and was distributed to 244 students through the English classes of three East Baton Rouge parish high schools The high schools were chosen by relative drop out rate Students were grouped by sex race and age to measure differences in attitude by characteristics of potential dropouts The study found that males have more negative attitudes toward compliance with laziness rules and the importance of those laziness rules than females The study also found that Black students have a more positive attitudes regarding the importance of distraction laziness and respectfulness rules than non Black students Implications regarding the attitudes toward classroom rules are discussed Students' Perceptions of Their Feelings as Classroom Participants Ray O.

Posey,2003 Student Perceptions of Engagement and the Relationship to Student Perceptions of Teacher in the Visual Art Classroom Kirby Brooks Meng,2020 Lack of student engagement in high schools is a concerning factor in education low levels of engagement can lead to student apathy academic challenges disruptive behavior and a higher dropout rate The purpose of this research was to examine the relationship between high school students perceptions of engagement and students perceptions of the teacher in the visual art classroom The researcher used social constructivism as a lens through which to explore this topic The theory of constructivism focuses on active exploration and learning about ideas of personal significance where the teacher plays an essential supportive and guiding role in student learning The sample for this research was 68 high school students in a large metropolitan school district in Georgia who were enrolled in Comprehensive Art I The researcher used a survey to collect students perceptions of their cognitive emotional and behavioral engagement in the art classroom as well as perceptions of their teacher Data from this nonexperimental cross sectional predictive study was analyzed using multiple linear regression where the dependent variable is teacher perception and the independent variables are cognitive emotional and behavioral engagement Key findings include insight on the relationship of student levels of engagement to perceptions of the teacher in the art classroom Secondary Student Perceptions of Science Classroom Environment and Attitudes towards Sciences Leona A.
