"Martyr to the Truth" Charles J.T. Talar, 2012-10-18 In his autobiography Joseph Turmel 1859-1943 has left an intensely personal account of his struggles to reconcile his Catholic faith with the results of historical critical methods as those impacted biblical exegesis and the history of dogma Having lost his faith in 1886 he chose to remain as a priest in the Church even while he worked to undermine its teachings He did so initially in writings published under his own name and as his conclusions became increasingly radical under a veritable team of pseudonyms He was excommunicated in 1930 His account of his life is less a discussion and defense of his ideas than it is a moral justification of his conduct Turmel is associated with the left wing of Roman Catholic Modernism along with Albert Houtin Marcel Hebert and Felix Sartiaux

Self-Projection Linda Haverty Rugg,2014-03-01 In 1957 a decade before Roland Barthes announced the death of the author Fran ois Truffaut called for a new era in which films would resemble the person who made them and be even more personal than an autobiographical novel More than five decades on it seems that Barthes has won the argument when it comes to most film critics The cinematic author we are told has been dead for a long time Yet Linda Haverty Rugg contends not only that the art cinema auteur never died but that the films of some of the most important auteurs are intensely if complexly related to the lives and self images of their directors Self Projection explores how nondocumentary narrative art films create alternative forms of collaborative self representation and selfhood The book examines the work of celebrated directors who plant autobiographical traces in their films including Truffaut Bergman Fellini Tarkovsky Herzog Allen Almod var and von Trier It is not simply that these directors and many others like them make autobiographical references or occasionally appear in their films but that they tie their films to their life stories and communicate that link to their audiences Projecting a new kind of selfhood these directors encourage identifications between themselves and their work even as they disavow such connections And because of the collaborative and technological nature of filmmaking the director's self projection involves actors audience and the machines and institution of the cinema as well Lively and accessible Self Projection sheds new light on the films of these iconic directors and on art cinema in general ultimately showing how film can transform not only the autobiographical act but what it means to have a self

Kim,2024-10-08 Hannah Arendt s work inspires many to stand in solidarity against authoritarianism racial or gender based violence climate change and right wing populism But what if a careful analysis of her oeuvre reveals a darker side to this intellectual legacy What if solidarity as she conceives of it is not oriented toward equality freedom or justice for all but creates a barrier to intersectional coalition building In Arendt's Solidarity David D Kim illuminates Arendt s lifelong struggle with this deceptively straightforward yet divisive concept Drawing upon her publications unpublished documents private letters radio and television interviews newspaper clippings and archival marginalia Kim examines how Arendt refutes solidarity as an effective political force against anti Semitism racial injustice or social inequality As Kim reveals this conceptual conundrum follows the arc of Arendt

s forced migration across the Atlantic and is directly related to every major concern of hers Christian neighborly love friendship Jewish assimilation Zionism National Socialism the American republic Black Power revolution violence and the human world Kim places these thoughts in dialogue with dissenting voices such as Thomas Mann Gershom Scholem Jean Paul Sartre James Baldwin Frantz Fanon James Forman and Ralph Ellison The result is a full scale reinterpretation of Arendt's oeuvre

The Jewish Idea and Its Enemies Hadley Cantril, Edward Alexander, 2019-08-21 This volume deals with the modern fate of the traditional conception of Jews as a covenanted people chosen to receive the Law whose ultimate purpose is contributing to the universal salvation of mankind The author shows how under the influence of liberalism rationalism relativism and other Enlightenment ideologies this idea was distorted denied inverted yet never entirely obliterated In his discussions of modern Jewish thinkers and writers and the ideological and political struggles of Zionism and the state of Israel against enemies from without and from within Alexander shows that the ancient idea of covenant is still alive today if only in the assumption that Jewish life can lead somewhere so long as Jews remember that it began somewhere Ranging from literary criticism and the history of ideas to journalism and politics the book is unified by a point of view unabashedly espousing the Jewish idea and challenging its enemies
