Lockwood, 2017-11-27 Sink Em All by Vice Admiral Charles A Lockwood the U S Navy commander of the Pacific submarine fleet during World War 2 is the exhaustive and definitive account of submarine warfare between the US and Japanese 1942-45 Lockwood's intricate narrative is the breathless story of every submarine in the US fleet what they did during the war their misses near misses and hits He takes us into the cramped quarters of mess halls and control rooms and brings the chief actors in the grueling conflict to life

Sink 'Em All Vice-Adm. Charles A. Lockwood, 2017-07-19 Originally published in 1951 in Sink Em All Submarine Warfare in the Pacific Vice Admiral Charles A Lockwood who commanded the U S submarines in the Pacific during the greater part of World War II provides an official account of wartime successes and tragedies Writing with complete authority and authenticity he describes his efforts to improve the provisions and after patrol accommodations of the submariners and of his on going struggle to improve the effectiveness of torpedoes and other tools vital to the war effort It is to be hoped that this interesting narrative will be widely read and that the exploits of our Silent Service will take their proper place in the minds of our citizens Certainly no one is better qualified to tell this story than the author Vice Admiral Charles A Lockwood Foreword by Fleet Admiral Chester W Nimitz U S Navy Another fascinating read from Vice Admiral Lockwood and a valuable addition to your collection

Hellions of the Deep Robert Gannon, 1996-01-01 Ultimately World War II was the first war won by technology but within only a few weeks after the war began the U S Navy realized its torpedo program was a dismal failure Submarine skippers reported that most of their torpedoes were either missing the targets or failing to explode if they did hit The United States had to work fast if it expected to compete with the Japanese Long Lance the biggest and fastest torpedo in the world and Germany's electric and sonar models Hellions of the Deep tells the dramatic story of how Navy planners threw aside the careful procedures of peacetime science and initiated radical research gathering together the nation's best scientists and engineers in huge research centers and giving them freedom of experimentation to create sophisticated weaponry with a single goal winning the war The largest center for torpedo work was a requisitioned gymnasium at Harvard University where the most famous names in science worked with the best graduate students from all around the country at the business of war They had to produce tangible weapons to consider production and supply tactics to take orders from the military and in many cases also to teach the military how to use the weapons they developed World War II grew into a chess match played by scientists and physicists and it became the only war in history to be won by weapons invented during the conflict For this book Robert Gannon conducted numerous interviews over a twenty year period with scientists engineers physicists submarine skippers and Navy bureaucrats all involved in the development of the advanced weapons technology that won the war While the search for new weapons was deadly serious stretching imagination and resourcefulness to the limit each day the need was obvious American ships were being blown up daily just outside the Boston harbor These oral histories reveal that in retrospect surprising even to those who went through it the search for the hellions of the deep was for many the most exciting period of their lives

Mars Adapting Francis Hoffman, 2021-03-15 As Clausewitz observed In war more than anywhere else things do not turn out as we expect The essence of war is a competitive reciprocal relationship with an adversary Commanders and institutional leaders must recognize shortfalls and resolve gaps rapidly in the middle of the fog of war The side that reacts best and absorbs faster increases its chances of winning Mars Adapting examines what makes some military organizations better at this contest than others It explores the institutional characteristics or attributes at play in learning quickly Adaptation requires a dynamic process of acquiring knowledge the utilization of that knowledge to alter a unit's skills and the sharing of that learning to other units to integrate and institutionalize better operational practice Mars Adapting explores the internal institutional factors that promote and enable military adaptation It employs four cases drawing upon one from each of the U S armed services Each case was an extensive campaign with several cycles of action counteraction In each case the military institution entered the war with an existing mental model of the war they expected to fight For example the U S Navy prepared for decades to defeat the Japanese Imperial Navy and had developed carrier based aviation Other capabilities particularly the Fleet submarine were applied as a major adaptation The author establishes a theory called Organizational Learning Capacity that captures the transition of experience and knowledge from individuals into larger and higher levels of each military service through four major steps The learning change cycle is influenced he argues by four institutional attributes leadership organizational culture learning mechanisms and dissemination mechanisms The dynamic interplay of these institutional enablers shaped their ability to perceive and change appropriately

Surface and Destroy Michael Sturma, 2011-03-25 World War II submariners rarely experienced anything as exhilarating or horrifying as the surface gun attack Between the ocean floor and the rolling whitecaps above submarines patrolled a dark abyss in a fusion of silence shadows and steel firing around eleven thousand torpedoes sinking Japanese men of war and more than one thousand merchant ships But the anonymity and simplicity of the stealthy torpedo attack hid the savagery of warfare a stark difference from the brutality of the surface gun maneuver As the submarine shot through the surface of the water confined sailors scrambled through the hatches armed with large caliber guns and met the enemy face to face Surface and Destroy The Submarine Gun War in the Pacific reveals the nature of submarine warfare in the Pacific Ocean during World War II and investigates the challenges of facing the enemy on the surface The surface battle amplified the realities of war bringing submariners into close contact with survivors and potential prisoners of war As Japan s larger ships disappeared from the Pacific theater American submarines turned their attention to smaller craft such as patrol boats schooners sampans and junks Some officers refused to attack enemy vessels of questionable value while others attacked reluctantly and tried to minimize casualties Michael Sturma focuses on the submariners reactions and attitudes toward their victims exploring the sailors personal standards of morality and their ability to wage total war Surface and Destroy is a thorough analysis of the submariner experience and the effects of surface attacks on the war in the Pacific offering a compelling study of the battles that became intolerably personal

The War Below James Scott,2013-05-14 The riveting story of the submarine force that helped win World War II by ravaging Japan s merchant fleet and destroying its economy A dramatic account of extraordinary heroism ingenuity and perseverance and the vital role American submarines played in winning the Pacific war

Running Deep Tom Clavin,2025-10-21 The true story of the deadliest submarine in World War II and the courageous captain who survived torture and imprisonment at the hands of the enemy There was one submarine that outfought all other boats in the Silent Service in World War II the USS Tang Captain Richard Hetherington O Kane commanded the attack submarine that sunk more tonnage rescued more downed aviators and successfully completed more surface attacks than any other American submarine These undersea predators were the first to lead the offensive rebound against the Japanese but at great cost Submariners would have six times the mortality rate as the sailors who manned surface ships The Tang achieved its greatest success on October 24 1944 when it took on an entire Japanese convoy and destroyed it But its 24th and last torpedo boomeranged returning to strike the Tang Mortally wounded the boat sunk coming to rest on the bottom 180 feet down After hours of struggle nine of the 87 crewmen including O Kane made it to the surface Captured by the Japanese the Tang sailors joined other submariners and flyers including Louis Zamperini and Pappy Boyington at a torture camp whose purpose was to gain vital information from inmates and otherwise let them die from malnutrition disease and abuse A special target was Captain O Kane after the Japanese learned of the headlines about the Tang Against all odds when the camp was liberated in August 1945 O Kane at only 90 pounds still lived The following January Richard O Kane limped into the White House where President Truman bestowed him with the Medal of Honor This is the true story of death and survival in the high seas and of the submarine and her brave captain who would become legends
