Congress. Senate. Committee on Labor and Public Welfare,1972 Military Review ,1969 International Relations in France Henrik Breitenbauch,2013-06-19 Why is the French International Relations IR discipline different from the transnational American discipline By analysing argument structures in research articles across time this book shows how the discipline in France is caught between the American character of the discipline and the French state as regulator of legitimate forms of expression Concretely French research arguments are less explicit about what their propositions are and what academic discussions they draw on and add to than their transnational American counterparts Based on a comparative case study of French and American IR research from 1950 to 2011 the book is a major contribution to the meta IR literature on global regional and national traditions of IR The challenge to the French discipline of whether and how to position itself in relation to the evolving American discipline is in many ways exemplary for other non American national IR disciplines and the choices as well as the structural conditions underlying the French case are relevant to all non Western disciplines The comparative analysis moreover reveals that the modern American discipline what is considered as recognisable social science takes shape only during the 1970s The book thus offers new knowledge about the discipline's international development as such Both case and methodology are interesting to larger audiences outside IR in the history and sociology of social science contrastive rhetoric as well as French and cultural studies Resources and Applied Methods in International Relations Guillaume Devin,2017-10-18 This book constitutes an up to date methodology reference work for International Relations IR scholars and students The study of IR calls for the use of multiple and various tools to try and describe international phenomena analyze and understand them compare them interpret them and try to offer theoretical approaches In a nutshell doing research in IR requires both tools and methods from the use of archives to the translation of results through mapping from conducting interviews to analyzing quantitative data from constituting a corpus to the always touchy interpretation of images and discourses This volume assembles twenty young researchers and professors in the field of IR and political science to discuss numerous rich and thoroughly explained case studies Merging traditional political science approaches with methods borrowed from sociology and history it offers a clear and instructive synthesis of the main resources and applied methods to study International Relations The Case Study Anthology Robert K. Science, Technology, and American Diplomacy Library of Congress. Legislative Reference Service, 1970 The Politics of Academic Autonomy in Latin America Fernanda Beigel, 2016-03-03 Academic autonomy has been a dominant issue among Latin American social studies given that the production of knowledge in the region has been mostly suspected for its lack of originality and the replication of Euro American models Politicization within the higher education system and recurrent military interventions in universities have been considered the main structural causes for this heteronomy and thus the main obstacles for scientific achievements This groundbreaking book analyses the struggle for academic autonomy taking into account the relevant differences between the itinerary of social and natural sciences the connection of institutionalization and prestige building professionalization and engagement From the perspective of the periphery academic dependence is not merely a vertical bond that ties active producers and passive reproducers Even though knowledge produced in peripheral communities has low rates of circulation within the international academic system this doesn't imply that their production is or always has been the result of a massive import of foreign concepts and resources This book intends to show that the main differences between mainstream academies and peripheral circuits are not precisely in the lack of indigenous thinking but in the historical structure of academic autonomy which changes according to a set of factors mainly the role of the state in the higher education system This historical structure explains the particular features of the process of professionalization in Latin American scientific fields
