Curriculum Studies: Boundaries : subjects, assessment, and evaluation David Scott,2003 Literacy in Colonial New England Kenneth A. Lockridge,1974 International Handbook of Educational Policy Nina Bascia,Alister Cumming,Amanda Datnow,Kenneth Leithwood,David Livingstone,2008-05-14 Nina Bascia Alister Cumming Amanda Datnow Kenneth Leithwood and David Livingstone This Handbook presents contemporary and emergent trends in educational policy research in over fty chapters written by nearly ninety leading researchers from a number of countries It is organized into ve broad sections which capture many of the current dominant educational policy foci and at the same time situate current understandings

historically in terms of both how they are conceptualized and in terms of past policy practice The chapters themselves are empirically grounded providing illustrations of the conceptual implications contained within them as well as allowing for comparisons across them The serendipity within chapters with respect to jurisdictional particularities and contrasts allows readers to consider not only a range of approaches to policy analysis but also the ways in which policies and policy ideas play out in different times and places The sections move from a focus on prevailing policy tendencies through increasingly critical and outsider perspectives on policy They address in turn the contemporary strategic emphasis on large scale reform substantive emphases at several levels on leadership and governance improving teacher quality and conceptualizing learning in various domains around the notion of literacies and concluding finally with a contrasting topic workplace learning which has had less policy attention and thus allows readers to consider both the advantages and disadvantages of learning and teaching under the bright gaze of policy

Writing and Identity Roz Ivani?, 1998-03-15 Writing is not just about conveying content but also about the representation of self One of the reasons people find writing difficult is that they do not feel comfortable with the me they are portraying in their writing Academic writing in particular often poses a conflict of identity for students in higher education because the self which is inscribed in academic discourse feels alien to them The main claim of this book is that writing is an act of identity in which people align themselves with socio culturally shaped subject positions and thereby play their part in reproducing or challenging dominant practices and discourses and the values beliefs and interests which they embody The first part of the book reviews recent understandings of social identity of the discursive construction of identity of literacy and identity and of issues of identity in research on academic writing The main part of the book is based on a collaborative research project about writing and identity with mature age students providing a case study of one writer's dilemmas over the presentation of self a discussion of the way in which writers' life histories shape their presentation of self in writing an interview based study of issues of ownership and of accommodation and resistance to conventions for the presentation of self linguistic analysis of the ways in which multiple often contradictory interests values beliefs and practices are inscribed in discourse conventions which set up a range of possibilities for selfhood for writers The book ends with implications of the study for research on writing and identity and for the learning and teaching of academic writing The book will be of interest to students and researchers in the fields of social identity literacy discourse analysis rhetoric and composition studies and to all those concerned to understand what is involved in academic writing in order to provide wider access to higher education

Communicating Science in Social Contexts Donghong Cheng, Michel Claessens, Nicholas R. J. Gascoigne, Jenni Metcalfe, Bernard Schiele, Shunke Shi, 2008-07-15 Science communication as a multidisciplinary field has developed remarkably in recent years It is now a distinct and exceedingly dynamic science that melds theoretical approaches with practical experience Formerly well established theoretical models now seem out of step with the social reality of the sciences and the previously clear cut delineations and interacting domains between cultural fields have blurred

Communicating Science in Social Contexts examines that shift which itself depicts a profound recomposition of knowledge fields activities and dissemination practices and the value accorded to science and technology Communicating Science in Social Contexts is the product of long term effort that would not have been possible without the research and expertise of the Public Communication of Science and Technology PCST Network and the editors For nearly 20 years this informal international network has been organizing events and forums for discussion of the public communication of science

Teaching Adult Immigrants with Limited Formal Education Joy Kreeft Peyton, Martha Young-Scholten, 2020-07-07 Adult migrants who received little or no formal education in their home countries face a unique set of challenges when attempting to learn the languages of their new countries Few adult migrants with limited or no literacy in their native languages successfully attain higher levels of literacy in their additional languages even if they attain high levels of oral proficiency This book the result of a European and United States wide collaborative research project aims to assist teachers working with adult migrants to address this attainment gap and help students reach the highest possible levels of literacy in their new languages The chapters provide the latest research informed evidence on the acquisition of linguistic competence and the development of reading in a new language by adults The book concludes with a chapter that addresses the challenges and opportunities faced by this group of learners and their teachers with specific instructional strategies that can be used The book will be an invaluable resource for teachers tutors and training providers as well as volunteers who work with adult migrants
