

4. Social Foundations of Education.

Schools exist within the social context. Societal culture affects and shapes schools and their curricula.

The relationship of curriculum and society is mutual and encompassing. Hence, to be relevant, the curricula should reflect and preserve the culture of society and its aspirations. At the same time, society should also imbibe the changes brought about by the formal institutions called schools.

(Question: A school has been using the same old curriculum it has had for the past ten years. Do you think this is a good practice? Why? Why not?)

The Societal Foundations of National Competitiveness Michael J. Mazarr, 2022-06-21 Nations rise and fall succeed or fail in rivalries and enjoy stability or descend into chaos because of a complex web of factors that affect competitive advantage One critical component is the package of essential social characteristics of a nation The ultimate story of the Cold War is that the United States was simply a more competitive society than the Soviet Union more energetic more vibrant more innovative more productive more legitimate Through analysis of comparative studies of historical eras and trends historical case studies and the findings of issue specific empirical research the report explores how seven characteristics of a society determine its competitive standing and distinguish dynamic and competitively successful nations If the history surveyed in this report provides an accurate guide to the future the fate of the United States in today's rivalries will not be determined solely or even in significant degree by the numbers of its weapons or amounts of defense spending or how many proxy wars it wins but by the basic characteristics of its society The author applies the seven leading characteristics that affect national standing to the United States to create a snapshot of where the country stands That application provides some reason for optimism The United States continues to reflect many of these characteristics and the overall synergistic engine more than any other large country in the world However multiple trends are working to weaken traditional U S advantages Several such as the corruption of the national information space pose acute risks to the long term dynamism and competitiveness of the nation raising the worrying prospect that the United States has begun to display classic patterns of a major power on the far side of its dynamic and vital curve Societal Foundations of Education National Learning Corporation, 1989 Societal

Immigration and Perceptions of National Political Systems in Europe Lauren McLaren,2015-09-10 Immigration has become one of the most pressing political issues of the modern day and public opinion polls indicate that it has been of public concern for some time This book analyses the impact of immigration on perceptions of national political systems in Europe and contends that public concern about immigration is undermining trust in national political institutions and elites as well as satisfaction with the way democracy is working Immigration and Perceptions of National Political Systems in Europe contends that immigration presents more substantial challenges to some national identity constructions and that while national identity in general can help to bolster support for national political systems those who emphasize lengthy ties to the country are likely to be less positive about their national political systems particularly when these allow for relatively easy immigrant incorporation This book also includes an analysis of the impact of concern about immigration on the British political system and shows that while concern about immigration appears to have been fairly high since the 1960s it is only in since 1997 that such concern has come to translate into negative perceptions of the British political system 1975 National Science Foundation Authorization, Hearings Before the Subcommittee on Science, Research, and Development of ..., 93-2, March 12, 13, 14, 15, 19, 1974 United States. Congress. Senate. Committee on the Judiciary,1974 Education and Social Dynamics Arnd-Michael Nohl,R. Nazlı Somel,2015-08-27 Education and Social Dynamics offers a new approach to analyzing curriculum change by investigating the entanglement of education and society in markedly heterogeneous Turkey which has recently witnessed nation wide curriculum reforms While the new curriculum has attempted to homogenize all Turkish primary schools since 2005 Nohl and Somel drawing on a theoretical differentiation of social entities reveal how subsequent curricular practices have had to account for the diversity of milieus and organizations in the nation s educational sector and how inequality and competition run rampant in the standardization efforts Using expert interviews group discussions and other empirical data that compare instructional practices within five distinct schools the book represents a breakthrough in our understanding of developments in Turkey and their significance for extant theories of curriculum development and reform worldwide By linking specific case study material from Turkey to intensifying international concerns it provides an important and relevant global commentary

Education and Social Cohesion in a Post-conflict and Divided Nation Taro Komatsu, 2024-01-22 This book discusses education's role of developing social cohesion in a post conflict environment where tensions continue to exist between the three constituent ethnic groups It offers fresh insights into the relationship between education and social cohesion in a specific context of Bosnia Herzegovina where the need to rebuild social trust is acutely felt This book first elaborates the concept of social cohesion and illustrates possible mechanisms through which education can develop or further erode social cohesion in already divided societies Then it carefully examines such mechanisms using a case study of a Bosnia Herzegovina which witnessed violent conflict instigated by ethno identity politics during 1992-1995 and has been struggling to reconstruct its broken social fabric since then
