Society Without Fathers Or Husbands:

A Society Without Fathers Or Husbands Cai Hua, 2001-01-05 A fascinating account of the Na society which functions without the institution of marriage

Quest for Harmony Chuan-kang Shih, 2009-12-07 In this long awaited ethnography Chuan kang Shih details the traditional social and cultural conditions of the Moso a matrilineal group living on the border of Yunnan and Sichuan Provinces in southwest China Among the Moso a majority of the adult population practice a visiting system called tise instead of marriage as the normal sexual and reproductive institution Until recently tise was noncontractual nonobligatory and nonexclusive Partners lived and worked in separate households The only prerequisite for a tise relationship was a mutual agreement between the man and the woman to allow sexual access to each other In a comprehensive account Quest for Harmony explores this unique practice specifically and offers thorough documentation fine grained analysis and an engaging discussion of the people history and structure of Moso society Drawing on the author's extensive fieldwork conducted from 1987 to 2006 this is the first ethnography of the Moso written in English

Unhitched Judith Stacey, 2011-05-02 Judith Stacey 2012 winner of the Simon and Gagnon Lifetime Achievement Award presented by the American Sociological Association A leading expert on the family explores varieties of love and counters the one size fits all vision of family values A leading expert on the family Judith Stacey is known for her provocative research on mainstream issues Finding herself impatient with increasingly calcified positions taken in the interminable wars over same sex marriage divorce fatherlessness marital fidelity and the like she struck out to profile unfamiliar cultures of contemporary love marriage and family values from around the world Built on bracing original research that spans gay men's intimacies and parenting in America to plural and non marital forms of family in South Africa and China Unhitched decouples the taken for granted relationships between love marriage and parenthood Countering the one size fits all vision of family values Stacey offers readers a lively in person introduction to these less familiar varieties of intimacy and family and to the social political and economic conditions that buttress and batter them Through compelling stories of real families navigating inescapable personal and political trade offs between desire and domesticity the book undermines popular convictions about family gender and sexuality held on the left right and center Taking on prejudices of both conservatives and feminists Unhitched poses a powerful empirical challenge to the belief that the nuclear family whether straight or gay is the single best way to meet our needs for intimacy and care Stacey calls on citizens and policy makers to make their peace with the fact that family diversity is here to stay

On Our Minds Eric M. Gander, 2004-12-01 There is no question more fundamental to human existence than that posed by the nature versus nurture debate For much of the past century it was widely believed that there was no essential human nature and that people could be educated or socialized to thrive in almost any imaginable culture Today that orthodoxy is being directly and forcefully challenged by a new science of the mind evolutionary psychology Like the theory of evolution itself the implications of evolutionary psychology are provocative and unsettling Rather than viewing the human mind as a mysterious black box or a blank slate evolutionary psychologists see it as a physical organ that has evolved to process certain types of information in certain ways that enables us to thrive only in certain types of cultures In On Our Minds Eric M Gander examines all sides of the public debate between evolutionary psychologists and their critics Paying particularly close attention to the popular science writings of Steven Pinker Edward O Wilson Richard Dawkins and Stephen Jay Gould Gander traces the history of the controversy succinctly summarizes the claims and theories of the evolutionary psychologists dissects the various arguments deployed by each side and considers in detail the far reaching ramifications social cultural and political of this debate Gander's lucid and highly readable account concludes that evolutionary psychology now holds the potential to answer our oldest and most profound moral and philosophical questions fundamentally changing our self perception as a species

The Double Goddess Vicki Noble, 2003-06-19 A study of the double goddess iconography prominent in Neolithic and Bronze Age cultures that expands our understanding of female sovereignty Celebrates this archetype of sacred female bonding and depicts a vast array of relationships women may form with themselves and each other to explore a sense of self and empowerment and to share power with each other

Tone in Yongning Na Alexis Michaud, 2025-05-20 Yongning Na also known as Mosuo is a Sino Tibetan language spoken in Southwest China This book provides a description and analysis of its tone system progressing from lexical tones towards morphotonology Tonal changes permeate numerous aspects of the morphosyntax of Yongning Na They are not the product of a small set of phonological rules but of a host of rules that are restricted to specific morphosyntactic contexts Rich morphotonological systems have been reported in this area of Sino Tibetan but book length descriptions remain few This study of an endangered language contributes to a better understanding of the diversity of prosodic systems in East Asia The analysis is based on original fieldwork data made available online collected over the course of ten years commencing in 2006 This book is a new edition of <https://langsci.press.org/catalog/book/109>

The Metamorphoses of Kinship Maurice Godelier, 2012-03-03 With marriage in decline divorce on the rise the demise of the nuclear family and the increase in marriages and adoptions among same sex partners it is clear that the structures of kinship in the modern West are in a state of flux In The Metamorphoses of Kinship the world renowned anthropologist Maurice Godelier contextualizes these developments surveying the accumulated experience of humanity with regard to such phenomena as the organization of lines of descent sexuality and sexual prohibitions In parallel Godelier studies the evolution of Western conjugal and familial traditions from their roots in the nineteenth century to the present The conclusion he draws is that it is never the case that a man and a woman are sufficient on their own to raise a child and nowhere are relations of kinship or the family the keystone of society Godelier argues that the changes of the last thirty years do not herald the disappearance or death agony of kinship but rather its remarkable metamorphosis one that ironically is bringing us closer to the traditional societies studied by ethnologists

index Women After All Melvin Konner, 2015-03-02 A sparkling thought provoking account of sexual differences Whether you re a man or a woman you ll find his conclusions gripping Jared Diamond There is a human genetic fluke that is surprisingly common due to a change in a key pair of chromosomes In the normal condition the two look the same but in this disorder one is malformed and shrunk beyond recognition The result is a shortened life span higher mortality at all ages an inability to reproduce premature hair loss and brain defects variously resulting in attention deficit hyperactivity conduct disorder hypersexuality and an enormous excess of both outward and self directed aggression It is called maleness Melvin Konner traces the arc of evolution to explain the relationships between women and men With patience and wit he explores the knotty question of whether men are necessary in the biological destiny of the human race He draws on multiple colorful examples from the natural world such as the mating habits of the octopus black widow angler fish and jacana and argues that maleness in humans is hardly necessary to the survival of the species In characteristically humorous and engaging prose Konner sheds light on our biologically different identities while noting the poignant exceptions that challenge the male female divide We meet hunter gatherers such as those in Botswana whose culture gave women a prominent place invented the working mother and respected women s voices around the fire Recent human history has upset this balance as a dense world of war fostered extreme male dominance But our species has been recovering over the past two centuries and an unstoppable move toward equality is afoot It will not be the end of men but it will be the end of male supremacy and a better wiser world for women and men alike Mystifying China's Southwest Ethnic Borderlands Yuqing Yang, 2017-12-28

The Confucian notion of Harmony with difference he er bu tong has great political and cultural resonance in contemporary China which propagates the quest for a pluralist harmony between cultural and ethnic components of society In an attempt to examine a range of responses to this state envisioned ideal of accommodating ethnic differences this book analyzes the literary and cultural discourses that surround three minority regions in Southwest China Dali which was once the location of the ancient Nanzhao and Dali Kingdoms the homeland of the matrilineal Mosuo known as the Country of Women and the Tibetan areas associated with utopian Shangri La This book borrows Foucault s concept of heterotopia to address the contradictory and often simultaneously existing views of the minority region as rich treasure house of tradition and as intractable barrier to modern development which combine to give rise to productive tensions in scholastic and artistic creations Through reconstituting and performing the myths and legends of or about minority culture the representations of the three places turn into heterotopias which are posed between the mythical and the real in different ways Functioning as a self reflective mirror they simultaneously offer images of the actual habitats of the ethnic other which have been subject to socialist projects of modernity and become a viable means by which to exert material effects on the real landscape Products of a fascination with alternative social spaces the three mystified lands all contain conceptualizations of harmony be it spiritual gender based or ecological that are conceivably absent in the imperfect actuality of the Chinese heartland In conclusion these aesthetically constructed spaces of the other negotiate and enrich the discourse of Harmony with difference reacting to ethnic politics in PRC history and creating an audience that grows attentive to the traditions of minorities The Kingdom of Women Choo WaiHong, 2017-04-27 In a mist shrouded valley on China's invisible border with Tibet is a place known as the Kingdom of Women where a small tribe called the Mosuo lives in a cluster of villages that have changed little in centuries This is one of the last matrilineal societies on earth where power lies in the hands of women All decisions and rights related to money property land and the children born to them rest with the Mosuo women who live completely independently of husbands fathers and brothers with the grandmother as the head of each family A unique practice is also enshrined in Mosuo tradition that of walking marriage where women choose their own lovers from men within the tribe but are beholden to none Humanity on a Tightrope Paul R. Ehrlich, Robert E. Ornstein, 2010-12-16 When we think of family we most often think of our sisters and brothers our cousins and grandparents rather than our world family or even our community connections We still identify with our differences more than our similarities unless it's convenient to do otherwise Here two seasoned authors tackle the question of family and what it means to us now and how it might change to help us address the problems that affect us all Using specific examples throughout the work they present a unique approach to what it means to belong to one human family Beginning with a consideration of how the family unit has begun to be defined by allegiances by common ties and empathy the authors then discuss the evolution of the family unit and how the us vs them mentality gave way to a way of life that separated peoples rather than brought them together They consider family values how they arose developed were perverted or perfected to suit the family unit's needs and the confusion that followed Humanity on a Tightrope focuses on what families and family values are and how they often create an us versus them mentality that is at the root of many of today's most crucial problems from terrorism racism and war to the failure of humanity to come to grips with potentially lethal global environmental problems The book underlines a basic element for solving the human predicament quickly spreading the domain of empathy It takes a close look at how we can do that building on the findings of both social and natural science and using tools ranging from brain imaging to the internet It explains how civilization is unlikely to persist unless many more people learn to put themselves in the shoes of others to keep society balancing on the tightrope to sustainability a tightrope suspended over the collapse of civilization Ethnic China Xiaobing Li, Patrick Fuliang Shan, 2015-10-16 There are some serious concerns and critical questions about the on going minority protesting in China such as Tibetan monks self immolations Muslims suicide bombings and Uyghur large scale demonstrations Why are minorities such as the Uyghur dissatisfied when China is rising as a world power What kind of struggle must they go through to maintain their identity heritage and rights How does the government deal with this ethnic dissatisfaction and minority riots And what is ethnic China's future in the 21st century Ethnic China examines these issues from the perspective of Chinese American scholars from fields such as economics political science criminal justice law anthropology sociology and education The contributors introduce and explore the theory and practice of policy patterns political systems and social institutions by identifying key issues in Chinese government society and ethnic community contained within the larger framework of the international sphere Their endeavors move beyond the existing scholarship and seek to spark new debates and proposed solutions while reflecting on established schools of history religion linguistics and gender studies Takamure Itsue, Japanese Antiquity, and Matricultural Paradigms that Address the Crisis of Modernity

Yasuko Sato, 2023-06-30 This book explores Takamure Itsue's 1894-1964 intellectual odyssey as Japan's most notable pioneer in the study of women's history When she embarked on a series of scholarly projects that investigated marriage patterns and kinship systems in ancient Japan it was a response to crisis-ridden modernity Relentless in her quest to dismantle patriarchy this woman from the Land of Fire a nickname for her birthplace Kumamoto Prefecture locked herself away in 1931 and spent the rest of her life conducting research on female-friendly societies with matrilineal arrangements under kinship-based communal systems While dissecting the patriarchal norms undergirding the capitalist nation-state she embraced matricultural paradigms that embodied life-sustaining and life-enhancing values through communal childrearing and matrilineal inheritance Takamure a visionary thinker asked big picture questions and addressed multifarious issues of contemporary relevance including beauty standards human trafficking gross disparities in wealth war and imperialism science and religion and humanity's relationship with nature The Trouble with Human Nature Elizabeth D.

Ethnicity in China's Southwest Xiaolin Guo, 2008-06-30 Twentieth-century China has seen local societies undergo unprecedented transformations accompanied by a remarkable continuity in state practice In this path-breaking study of two ethnically different communities the matrilineal Mosuo and the patrilineal Han in northwest Yunnan province the author traces cultural change from a historical perspective in relation to the ecological environment and political systems The treatment of state penetration into local society challenges the conventional binary narratives of state-society and Han-non-Han relations With its interdisciplinary approach the book enriches the anthropology of China by framing ethnicity issues in terms of local politics and inter relationships between levels of government and at the same time extends the analytical perimeter of the study of the Chinese state to the national periphery

Love and War Tom Digby, 2014-10-28 Ideas of masculinity and femininity become sharply defined in war reliant societies resulting in a presumed enmity between men and women This so called battle of the sexes is intensified by the use of misogyny to encourage men and boys to conform to the demands of masculinity These are among Tom Digby s fascinating insights shared in Love and War which describes the making and manipulation of gender in militaristic societies and the sweeping consequences for men and women in their personal romantic sexual and professional lives Drawing on cross cultural comparisons and examples from popular media including sports culture the rise of gonzo and bangbus pornography and internet trolls Digby describes how the hatred of women and the suppression of empathy are used to define masculinity thereby undermining relations between women and men sometimes even to the extent of violence Employing diverse philosophical methodologies he identifies the cultural elements that contribute to heterosexual antagonism such as an enduring faith in male force to solve problems the glorification of violent men who suppress caring emotions the devaluation of men s physical and emotional lives an imaginary gender binary male privilege premised on the subordination of women and the use of misogyny to encourage masculine behavior Digby tracks the collateral damage of this disabling misogyny in the lives of both men and women but ends on a hopeful note He ultimately finds the link between war and gender to be dissolving in many societies war is becoming slowly de gendered and gender is becoming slowly de militarized

The Theft of History Jack Goody, 2012-03-29 Goody raises questions about theorists historians and methodology and proposes a new comparative approach to cross cultural analysis
