While the Encyclopedia includes some technical topics related to educational psychology, for the most part it focuses on those topics that evoke the interest of the everyday reader. Key Features: Addresses topics that are of particular interest to the general public such as vouchers, Head Start, divorce, learning communities, and charter schools. Handbook of Reading Disability Research Anne McGill-Franzen, Richard Allington, 2010-09-17. Bringing together a wide range of research on reading disabilities, this comprehensive Handbook extends current discussion and thinking beyond a narrowly defined psychometric perspective. Emphasizing that learning to read proficiently is a long-term developmental process involving many interventions of various kinds, all keyed to individual developmental needs, it addresses traditional questions: What is the nature or causes of reading disabilities? How are reading disabilities assessed? How should reading disabilities be remediated? To what extent is remediation possible, but from multiple or alternative perspectives? Taking incursions into the broader research literature represented by linguistic and anthropological paradigms as well as psychological and educational research, the volume is on the front line in exploring the relation of reading disability to learning and language, to poverty and prejudice, and to instruction and schooling. The editors and authors are distinguished scholars with extensive research experience and publication records and numerous honors and awards from professional organizations, representing the range of disciplines in the field of reading disabilities. Throughout, their contributions are contextualized within the framework of educators struggling to develop concrete instructional practices that meet the learning needs of the lowest achieving readers.

Measuring Socioeconomic Status and Its Effects at Individual and Collective Levels Yang Yang, 2003

Handbook of International Research in Mathematics Education Lyn D. English, 2002-03. This state-of-the-art Handbook brings together important mathematics education research that makes a difference in both theory and practice: research that anticipates problems and needed knowledge before they become impediments to progress; interprets future oriented problems into researchable issues presents the implications of research and theory development in forms that are useful to practitioners and policymakers and facilitates the development of research communities to focus on neglected priorities or strategic opportunities. The volume represents a genuine attempt by contributors from around the world to advance the discipline rather than simply review what has been done and what exists. The Handbook was developed in response to a number of major global catalysts for change including the impact of national and international mathematics comparative assessment studies, the social cultural economic and political influences on mathematics education and research, the influence of progressively sophisticated and available technology and the increasing globalization of mathematics education and research. From these catalysts have emerged specific priority themes and issues for mathematics education research in the 21st century. Three key themes were identified for attention in this volume: life long democratic access to powerful mathematical ideas, advances in research methodologies and influences of advanced technologies. Each of these themes is examined in terms of learners, teachers and learning contexts with theory development as an important component of all these aspects. Dynamic and forward looking, the Handbook of International Research in Mathematics Education is distinguished by its focus on new and emerging theoretical models, perspectives and research methodologies, its uniformly high standard of scholarship and its emphasis on the international nature of mathematics education research. It is an essential volume for all researchers, professionals and students interested in mathematics education research, in particular and more generally in international developments and future directions in the broad field of educational research.

Serving Vulnerable and Marginalized Populations in Social and Educational Contexts Anies Al-Hroub, Sally Reis, Joseph Madaus, Itab Shuayb, 2024-04-26. There is evidence that the global COVID 19 crisis is exacerbating existing inequalities and marginalization of vulnerable groups including exceptional learners, stateless, street migrant and refugee children and youths and the limited use of frameworks of emergency planning with and for marginalized and at risk individuals. These challenges are multi sectoral and intersecting and they require multi and interdisciplinary interventions to inform inclusive responses. These issues include being at a greater risk of excluding vulnerable learners from gaining access to equitable education, online, remote and blended education. Intersecting forms of discrimination such as gender, socioeconomic and legal status further exacerbate the problem. This has alerted us to examine the living conditions of marginalized and vulnerable populations around the globe and to reveal their experiences, problems and needs from an educational perspective, thus bringing insights into their vulnerabilities during the pandemic.
