Reconstructing Postmodernism Jason L. Powell,Tim Owen,2007 There has been an array of literature on the notion of postmodernism in social science literature in recent years This exciting book focuses on three broad continuities one debunking the central theoretical tenets of postmodernism with reference to identity methodology governance and modernist theory two the book engages with current social issues and events in popular culture for example film professional power masculinity and terrorism three the book also rethinks postmodernism in light of under researched variables of analysis of time and ageing the body biology and choice Qualitative Methods in Migration Studies Dr Theodoros Iosifides, 2013-01-28

Recent years have witnessed growing interest in a series of issues related to migration including identity formation and change the role of social capital and social networks ethnic discrimination racism and xenophobia socio political participation and mobilisation and the complex nature of the causal mechanisms linked to migration issues that are better highlighted and investigated using qualitative methods Moving away from the quantitative and empiricist positivist approaches that have often characterised migration research Qualitative Methods in Migration Studies explores in a concise but comprehensive way the key issues involved in researching migratory phenomena in a qualitative manner It addresses themes including the basic characteristics of contemporary migration qualitative research into social processes related to migration and the relationship between theory research design and practice Drawing upon empirical case studies and a series of real and hypothetical examples the book develops a critical realist alternative both to empiricism and interpretivist social constructionist and post structuralist relativism in qualitative migration research With special emphasis on the meta theoretical dimensions of qualitative research practice this volume connects qualitative findings to policy formation and politics making exploring the multiple dimensions involved in researching migratory phenomena such as ontology epistemology methodology ethics and research practice As such it will be of interest to students and researchers in migration across the social sciences The Oxford Handbook Sport and Spectacle in the Ancient World Alison Futrell, Thomas F. Scanlon, 2021-09-09

Karlsson,2005-06-29 This book will be immensely valuable for students and researchers in social science sociology and philosophy in that it connects methodology theory and empirical research It provides an innovative picture of what society and social science is along with the methods used to study and explain social phenomena Handbook of Archaeological Theories R. Alexander Bentley,Herbert D. G. Maschner,Christopher Chippindale,2009-09-16 This handbook a companion to the authoritative Handbook of Archaeological Methods gathers original authoritative articles from leading archaeologists on all aspects of the latest thinking about archaeological theory It is the definitive resource for understanding how to think about archaeology Bridging the Divide Jason L. Powell,2025-02-24 In today s complex and rapidly changing globe understanding the link between social theory and social policy is crucial for addressing the diverse challenges that diverse societies face This book aims to provide a thorough critical analysis of how social theory shapes social policy and how effective policies can be informed by theoretical frameworks emanating from history and the present This book is both important and significant by bridging the gap between theory and policy this book seeks to contribute to the development of evidence based policies that promote social cohesion social justice and well being The book is one of the first to open up theoretical strategies and applicability to social policies Social Capital and Participation in Everyday Life Paul Dekker,Eric M. Uslander,2003-12-16 This timely volume puts emphasis on the effect of social capital on everyday life how the routines of daily life lead people to get involved in their communities Focussing on its micro level causes and consequences the book s international contributors argue that social capital is fundamentally concerned with the value of social networks and about how people interact with each other The book suggests that different modes of participation have different consequences for creating or destroying a sense of community or participation The diversity of countries institutions and groups dealt with from Indian castes to Dutch churches from highly competent everyday makers in Scandinavia to politics avoiding Belgian women and Irish villagers offers fascinating case studies and theoretical reflections for the present debates about civil society and democracy Reconstructing Development Theory E.A. Brett,2009-07-08 The book provides a systematic assessment of the evolution of development theory its relationship to orthodox social science analysis and the liberal pluralistic orthodoxy that now dominates the mainstream approach to international development showing how we can transcend its failure to address some key problems of late and uneven development There is No Such Thing as a Social Science Phil Hutchinson,Rupert Read,2016-02-17 The death of Peter Winch in 1997 sparked a revived interest in his work with this book arguing his work suffered misrepresentation in both recent literature and in contemporary critiques of his writing Debates in philosophy and sociology about foundational questions of social ontology and methodology often claim to have adequately incorporated and moved beyond Winch s concerns Re establishing a Winchian voice the authors examine how such contentions involve a failure to understand central themes in Winch's writings and that the issues which occupied him in his Idea of a Social Science and its Relation to Philosophy and later papers remain central to social studies. The volume offers a careful reading of the text in alliance with Wittgensteinian insights and alongside a focus on the nature and results of social thought and inquiry. It draws parallels with other movements in the social studies notably ethnomethodology to demonstrate how Winch's central claim is both more significant and more difficult to transcend than sociologists and philosophers have hitherto imagined.

Understanding Collective Decision Making Lasse Gerrits, Peter Marks, 2017-07-28 One of the main challenges facing contemporary society is to understand how people can make decisions together. Understanding Collective Decision Making builds on evolutionary theories and presents an analytical tool to analyse and visualise collective decision making. By combining theoretical research with real world case studies the authors provide a coherent and conclusive solution to the often fragmented and dispersed literature on the subject.

Working the Ruins Elizabeth St. Pierre, Wanda Pillow, 2002-05-03 From some of the leading feminist scholars in education comes a collection of writings discussing how they use feminist poststructural theory in their classrooms and research. Drawing on real life situations in their work they show how using this theory has transformed their work. Topics covered include theory in everyday life, ethnography, writing the body, emotions in the classroom, qualitative research and gossip as a counter discourse. The range of topics, processes and styles presented provides the reader with a variety of examples illustrating the diversity and power of the effects of poststructural theory as well as showing the possibilities of work still to be done.

New Perspectives on Health and Social Care Jason Powell, 2023-02-22 The relationship between health, social care and the teaching of disciplines such as sociology, social work and social policy are increasing in many regions worldwide. This book explores the relationship between wider social theory and social welfare through an understanding of how power and resistance impinge on how helping professions operate in health and social spaces in the twenty first century. The book presents a critical analysis of major Foucauldian theories and social issues in the construction and practice of health and social welfare. It discusses important theoretical and substantive contributions to current debates and presents an engaging, comprehensive and innovative perspective to address both how power and resistance shape the way we live and how the way we live shapes the way in which we understand social relations among professionals, policy makers and user groups in comparative contexts. The purpose of this book is to critically inform debates concerning the abstract and empirical features of health and social care examined through the lens of innovative theoretical perspectives emanating from Foucauldian theories.

Platform and Agency Mark Carrigan, 2025-12-31 This book examines how digital platforms are reconfiguring the parameters of agency and reflexivity in contemporary social life. Drawing on Margaret Archer's social realist framework it moves beyond treating platforms merely as tools or environments to conceptualize them as distinct sociotechnical structures with emergent properties and powers that shape human action without determining it. The book develops the concept of platform and agency to explore the temporal dimensions of sociotechnical change tracing how platforms condition personal and collective reflexivity through mechanisms of distraction cultural abundance and multiplying communication channels While affirming the analytical distinction between structure culture and agency it demonstrates how platforms constitute a fourth dimension necessary for understanding contemporary social morphogenesis Through the conceptual pairing of psychobiography and personal morphogenesis the book offers a nuanced account of how individuals become who they are within platformized lifeworlds Rather than announcing an epochal break with previous social forms the analysis illuminates the accumulating consequences of platform mediation across biographical timescales This book will interest researchers and graduate students in social theory philosophy of technology digital sociology platform studies media and communication studies critical data studies internet studies surveillance studies sociology of knowledge digital anthropology and social informatics
