Creation, Nature and Hope in 4 Ezra Jonathan A. Moo, 2011-05-18 This exegetical study of creation and nature in 4 Ezra argues that this first century Jewish apocalypse's profound pessimism concerning humankind and the present age is matched by a surprisingly robust belief in the goodness of the created order 4 Ezra presents the natural world as standing with God over and against corrupt humankind envisions substantial elements of continuity between the ages and hints that those parts of the earth that remain unsullied by humankind still witness to God's sovereignty love and justice and even serve as material pointers to the new creation This study calls into question the persistent assumption that apocalypticism and the apocalyptic eschatology of the historical apocalypses in particular necessarily entails a profound dualism Emerging as it does from an experience of historical disaster and unresolved questions of theodicy 4 Ezra especially is often considered an apocalypse in which the doctrine of the two ages has been radicalised to the extent that creation history and life in this world have lost their meaning or significance The results of this study however indicate that while 4 Ezra considers the world of humankind to be corrupted and corrupting in the natural world the creator's sovereignty is not so obscured and there his original intentions for creation can still be perceived This study provides a fresh reading of 4 Ezra that takes seriously the book's unity and coherence. Its conclusions suggest that it may be best to abandon the label apocalyptic eschatology given its potential mask the interesting complexities and mix of continuity and discontinuity that attend the portrayal of creation nature and hope in an apocalypse like 4 Ezra.

Australian Poetry Paul Kane, 1996-01-01 This book offers a comprehensive and original reading of Australian poetry from the colonial period to the present through the dual lenses of Romanticism and negativity. Paul Kane argues that the absence of Romanticism functions as a crucial presence in the poetry of all the major Australian poets. This absence or negativity is both thematic and structural and Kane's scrupulous analyses uncover important relations between Romanticism and negativity. Chapters on nine individual poets explore and substantiate the theoretical claims informed by the work of contemporary critics of Romanticism and by various philosophers of negativity. These chapters can serve as a series of self-contained readings of Australian poets for the use of students, scholars, and informed general readers. Australian Poetry is unique in its sustained argument and theoretical sophistication.

Nature's Best Hope Douglas W. Tallamy, 2020-02-04 Tallamy lays out all you need to know to participate in one of the great conservation projects of our time. Read it and get started. Elizabeth Kolbert, Pulitzer Prize-winning author of The Sixth Extinction. Douglas W. Tallamy's first book Bringing Nature Home awakened thousands of readers to an urgent situation: wildlife populations are in decline because the native plants they depend on are fast disappearing. His solution: Plant more natives. In this new book, Tallamy takes the next step and outlines his vision for a grassroots approach to conservation. Nature's Best Hope shows how homeowners everywhere can turn their yards into conservation corridors that provide wildlife habitats. Because this approach relies on the initiatives of private individuals, it is immune from the whims of government policy. Even more important, it's practical, effective, and easy: you will walk away with specific suggestions you can incorporate into your own yard. If you're concerned about doing something good for the environment, Nature's Best Hope is the blueprint you need. By acting now, you can help preserve our precious wildlife and the planet for future generations.

Nature's Best Hope (Young Readers' Edition) Douglas W. Tallamy, 2023-04-04 This middle grade edition of the groundbreaking bestseller by Doug Tallamy will inspire kids to use their backyard to help save the planet. In Nature's Best Hope: Young Readers Edition, Tallamy empowers kids to use their own yards to help combat the negative effects of climate change. He does so by breaking down complex concepts into simple terms and real-world examples that kids can easily grasp. Black and white photographs help further clarify concepts. In addition to sharing the science, Tallamy encourages kids to take direct action. Some of these ideas include planting an oak tree at home. If that's too large of a task, he suggests they can plant asters, a beautiful flower whose pollen bees use to feed their young. By helping the next generation see that they have power and agency over our collective future, this empowering book will drive home the positive point that kids are truly nature's best hope.

The Nature of Philosophical Problems John Kekes, 2014 We must all make choices about how we want to live. We evaluate our possibilities by relying on historical moral personal political religious and scientific modes of evaluations but the values and reasons that follow from them conflict Philosophical problems are forced on us when we try to cope with such conflicts There are reasons for and against all proposed ways of coping with the conflicts but none of them has been generally accepted by reasonable thinkers The constructive aim of The Nature of Philosophical Problems is to propose a way of understanding the nature of such philosophical problems explain why they occur why they are perennial and propose a pluralist approach as the most reasonable way of coping with them This approach is practical context dependent and particular It follows from it that the recurrence of philosophical problems is not a defect but a welcome consequence of the richness of our modes of understanding that enlarges the range of possibilities by which we might choose to live The critical aim of the book is to give reasons against both the absolutist attempt to find an overriding value or principle for resolving philosophical problems and of the relativist claim that reasons unavoidably come to an end and how we want to live is ultimately a matter of personal preference not of reasons
