The New Class An Analysis Of The Communist System By Ilas Milovan:

The New Class Milovan Djilas, 1957 This is a book on Communism by a man who until recently was one of its heroes It is a book that exemplifies and expresses the deep agonies the desperate yearning of the Soviet orbit's disillusioned intelligentsia for intellectual freedom for personal dignity for true social and economic progress for a way out of the morass of false theories bureaucratic ties and cruel exploitation One of the great political documents of our time perhaps the most important in its force and effectiveness this explosive indictment may be regarded as political dynamite in any Communist area or any country where Communism poses a threat to society and genuine progress Its impact far outweighs that of the ordinary anti Communist expos It does not concentrate on dry facts which mean nothing to doctrinaire Communists and it does not try to prove something the Communists do not wish to have proven It is a political theorist's manifesto the Anti Communist Manifesto revealing a fruitless succession of causes and effects Often using the dialectical method so much a part of Communist thinking Djilas presents his irrefutable argument proving why Communism developed the way it did and why it cannot under any circumstances reach any of its socialist goals why on the contrary it cannot escape its own contradictions between utopian theory and cruel reality between a theoretical workers paradise and an actual slave state where the ruling class devours itself while holding down the masses in abject material and intellectual poverty More important to non Communist readers is the magnificent expression of integrity and human aspirations this book reveals Djilas is not aggressive he is not fighting anybody He is struggling for truth in an earnest manner straining for every sentence that shatters what was once his entire way of life There are no polemics no accusations no facile arguments complete with shiny proofs only a slow determined advance from point to point on the road of theoretical compelling destruction of Communism This is the documentary record of a political soul in the agonies of intellectual liberation Parallel with his step by step indictment of Communism as a political social and economic system there emerges his positive affirmation of man's right to freedom In the end what this book provides is not only a denunciation of Communism but also stirring proof of the fact that anyone with intellectual honesty and personal integrity must turn away from it MILOVAN DJILAS A radical student leader when he was in his twenties a Partisan hero during the war and Vice President of Yugoslavia under the Tito regime this remarkable man was a Communist by conviction long before reading Marx and Lenin The impassioned highly personal pursuit of his convictions has thrust him into many roles soldier statesman political firebrand Marxist theoretician and hero of world Communism and now because these convictions are so basically moralistic not political so deeply rooted in man's freedom not his enslavement they have cost him his high office and even his liberty Expelled from the Yugoslav Communist Party in January 1954 after having appealed for democratization he later hailed the Hungarian revolution as the beginning of the end of Communism For this attack he was sentenced to three years at hard labor in Mitrovica prison where he is at present stoically enduring the courage of his convictions

The Shape of the Past John Warwick Montgomery, 2008-02-05 Dr Montgomery contends that no one can sit in a house by the side of the road and watch the world go by Everyone is caught up in the flux of human life and there is no naturalistic resting place within human history from which one can gain a universal absolute perspective on man's life Christianity is the only answer to this basic human predicament for it claims and by the resurrection backs up its claim that there is a God and that He entered human history and revealed its essential nature

Where Christ Is Present John Warwick Montgomery, Gene Edward Veith, 2015-06-01 Five hundred years ago the church of Jesus Christ underwent a Reformation A lot happened after Martin Luther posted his 95 theses on the castle church door in Wittenberg But the fallout was not simply the start of Protestantism The Roman Catholic Church also recast itself in response to Luther's call for reforms And contrary to common belief Martin Luther did not set out to start a new church Rather he was trying to reform the church that already existed by reemphasizing its essence namely the good news the gospel that Jesus forgives and saves sinners The unity of the church was broken when the pope rejected this call for reform and excommunicated Luther starting a chain of events that did lead to the institutional fracturing of Christendom and to a plethora of alternative Christian theologies But as many including conservative Catholics now admit the church did in fact need reforming Today the church including its Protestant branches also needs reforming Some of the issues in contemporary Christianity are very similar to those in the late Middle Ages though others are new But if Luther's theology can be blamed however unfairly for fragmenting Christianity perhaps today it can help us recover the wholeness of Christianity The religious climate in the early 21st century is simultaneously highly religious and highly secularized It is a time of extraordinary spiritual and theological diversity In the spirit of the anniversary we are observing this book will propose the kind of Christianity that is best suited for our day The remedies offered here are available by way of the same theology that was the catalyst for reforming the church five hundred years ago Where Is History Going? John Warwick

Montgomery, 2018-01-26 In a closely reasoned logical presentation Dr Montgomery examines such issues as Where is History Going What Does a Historian Know About Jesus Christ The Divinity of Jesus Christ Karl Barth and Contemporary Theology of History Tillich's Philosophy of History Gordon Clark's Historical Philosophy Toward a Christian Philosophy of History Dr Montgomery thoroughly documents his conclusions on the basis of a wide range of authorities and concludes that the only valid approach to history is from the Christian perspective the authority of God His Son and His Word Bibliographical
